Brevet Brigadier-General, Dec. 22, 1898.

Brevet Major-General, Jan. 2, 1905.

The life of General Phisterer during a long career of public service has been characterized by loyalty to country and unswerving devotion to duty. Few officers have done as much as he to promote the efficiency of the State Military forces and he is entitled to be called the Father of the National Guard of this State. An officer of undaunted courage and of eminent ability, his career is a shining example to every citizen. In his death the State mourns the loss of a born soldier, and a man of unquestioned integrity who discharged the duties of every position he was called upon to fill ably, efficiently and conscientiously.

In respect to his memory the National flag will be displayed at half staff at all headquarters, armories and state arsenals, until retreat of Friday, July 16, 1909, the day of his funeral.

THIS — the third edition of " New York in the War of the Rebellion "— is published as part of the annual report of the Adjutant-General of the State of New York for the year 1908 in accordance with the provisions of chapter 433 of the Laws of the State of New York for the year 1909, by

NELSON H. HENRY,
The Adjutant-General, S. N. Y.

Introductory

THE compilation here submitted is the result of devoting for twenty-five years almost all hours not demanded by official duties to the collection of the data contained herein. The work was commenced in 1883; after the most strenuous labor the first edition was published in 1890; followed the same year by the second edition, which corrected unavoidable typographical errors; this — the third — edition contains some corrections, changes and additions.

The data were obtained from official or equally reliable sources; in many instances estimates became necessary and these were invariably based on the most conservative foundations.

This is not a work of fiction, it is composed of bare facts; it is not a work of comparisons; it is a record of the State of New York during a time which weighed heavily on her sons and daughters, made as complete, correct and concise as it was practicable to make it and its existence is due in a large measure to the Adjutants-General of the State from 1883 to date, to Colonel J. W. Kirkley, statistician of the War Department, and to many officers of New York Volunteers and other gentlemen too many in number to mention by name, whose information proved valuable.

The work consists of six parts; each part and division is preceded by remarks, which explain its scope and intent.

In the State—In 1861

IT is aimed here to place on permanent record as concisely as practicable, the stand and action taken by the citizens — sons and daughters — of the State of New York during the War; to recite or to attempt to set forth the causes which led to the secession movement of the Southern States would be foreign to this aim.

The people of this State accepted the result of the political canvass of 1860 in their usual patriotic spirit and, notwithstanding all that had passed, were not willing to believe that war might not be averted.

When the Legislature met on the first day of the new year, 1861, the Governor in his annual message discoursed the attempt at disunion with firmness, but also in a conciliatory tone, stating that the State of New York was ready, in all honorable ways, to aid in reconciling estrangements, and as willing to guarantee the rights of the slave States, as to defend her own. In opening the Assembly the Speaker referred to the perils which environed the country, to the duty of the representatives of the people in the existing crisis, and to the importance of united councils. In the Senate, a leading member of the party which had opposed Abraham Lincoln's election submitted a series of resolutions, asserting it to be the religious as well as the patriotic duty of each State and citizen to preserve the Union, and requesting the Governor to tender to the President, in the name of the people, the militia of the State, to be employed in his discretion, in enforcing the laws and maintaining the Constitution. On the following day there were introduced in the Legislature resolutions which received large support from both parties, and recognized slavery as a disturbing element in the National councils, and, to the end that this impediment to harmony be forever removed, proposed, after the admission of Kansas, then not yet a State, to divide the remaining territories into two States, to be admitted as soon as the inhabitants thereof should adopt a constitution republican in form.

Pacification in sentiment and preparation in act were the order of the day. Select committees on federal relations were formed. Bills were brought forward for the more complete enrollment of the militia; to prohibit the sale of munitions of war or the loan of money to States in rebellion; for defining treason; for providing arms; indeed for giving form in every way to the sentiment of the people. These measures were but a prelude to many others of like character recorded on almost every page in the legislative journals of that session. The members of both branches were united in action as to the duty of the hour, and the State officials were in harmony with them.

The united, firm and dignified stand of the State of New York, coupled with changes in the President's Cabinet, and a disposition on the part of the General Government to stand by the Union, reanimated public confidence and strengthened the hopes of many, but to be disappointed, for adverse forces were still at work.

On the 9th of January the Star of the West, a swift merchant steamer chartered by the General Government in New York city, and sent from there on the night of the 5th, loaded with needed supplies and men for the relief of Major Anderson, was fired upon in Charleston harbor and fire was continued after the captain had displayed the flag of the country — of the United States.

The news of this act aroused the people of this State and of the whole country. Joint resolutions were promptly introduced in, and speedily adopted with but three dissenting votes, by the Legislature, referring to the outrage upon the Star of the West; to the seizures of National property by Southern States; to the treasonable avowals of southern Senators; to the value of the Union and the necessity of its perpetuity; hailing with joy the special message of the President, in which he declared his intention to use the military power against all who resisted the Federal authority, and tendering him whatever aid in men and money he might require to uphold the authority of the government; they also expressed gratitude for the courage and patriotism of those representatives and citizens of and in the South, who labored to save their States from the vortex of secession. These resolutions truthfully reflected the sentiment of the people of the Empire State, and copies of them were transmitted to the President, the Governors of the States, and to the United States Senators from this State.

In the South these resolutions did not meet with favor. The Governor of Virginia understood them to be a declaration of the readiness of New York to coerce the slave-holding States into submission to Federal authority. By one or two of the Southern States the resolutions were returned without comment. The Convention of Georgia, then in session, as a response to them, adopted resolutions approving the seizure by troops of the State, of Fort Pulaski, and requested the Governor to hold the fort until the relations of Georgia to the United States should be determined.

On the 24th of January the Governor transmitted to the Legislature the resolutions of the General Assembly of Virginia, inviting all states, willing to unite in an earnest effort to adjust the existing controversies and to afford adequate guarantees to the slave-holding states, to appoint commissioners to meet in Washington on the 4th of February following. He recommended the appointment of a commission as requested, and that it be composed of men in whose character and patriotism the people could have full confidence; he also urged that any proper effort should not be left untried to maintain by peaceful means the Union as it had existed for almost a century. Gladly responding to this invitation of Virginia to aid in effecting a settlement, if possible, of the serious and important questions agitating the public mind, the Legislature, a few days later, elected as commissioners from this state Messrs. David Dudley Field, William Curtis Noyes, James S. Wadsworth, James C. Smith, Amaziah B. James, Erastus Corning, Addison Gardiner, Greene C. Bronson, William E. Dodge, John A. King and John E. Wool. Mr. Gardiner declining, Mr. Thurlow Weed was appointed in his place; on Mr. Weed's non-acceptance Mr. Francis Granger was selected to succeed him, and took his seat in the convention. The proceedings of this body — the Peace Conference — were without results. It could not be otherwise, for on the day it met, the Provincial Congress or Convention of the seceded states met at Montgomery, Ala., and by the 18th of February had adopted and inaugurated a government, to be known as "the Confederate States of America."

On the 5th of February the Governor of Georgia ordered the seizure, in the harbor of Savannah, of several vessels owned in the city of New York, in reprisal for the detention, by the Metropolitan police of the city, of arms consigned to the State of Georgia; three days later, however, the vessels were released. On the 21st this Governor again ordered the seizure of New York shipping at Savannah, and directed that the ships be detained until the arms, still held by the police, were delivered to his agent in New York city. Munitions of war were being shipped from the North to the Southern States. Proposing to stop this traffic, the police authorities of New York city ordered in the latter part of January the detention of an invoice of arms about being shipped to Savannah. Communication by telegraph ensued, and a formal demand was made on the mayor of the city by an agent of Georgia for the release of the arms. A like demand was also made, by telegraph, by the Governor of Georgia on the Executive of this state, who responded that the grave character and unofficial form of the missive forbade action until better authenticated information should be received. Letters arrived in due time and to the renewed demand of the Governor of Georgia Governor Morgan replied: "* *. * Assuming I have authority to do so, you expect me to surrender (or formally to withhold) the property alleged to be in the possession of the superintendent of the Metropolitan police, by a given date. Permit me to say, that as Governor of this state, I have no power whatever over the officer who made the seizure, and had no more knowledge of the fact, nor have I any more connection with the transaction, than has any other citizen of this state; but I do not hesitate to say that the arms will be delivered whenever application shall be made for them. Should such not be the case however, redress is to be sought, not in an appeal to the Executive authority of New York to exercise a merely arbitrary power, but in due form of law, through the regularly constituted tribunals of justice of the state or of the United States, as the parties aggrieved may elect. It is but proper here to say, that the courts are at all times open to suitors, and a complaint has not reached me of the inability or unwillingness of judicial officers to render exact justice to all. If, however, the fact be otherwise, whatever authority the Constitution and the laws vest in me, for compelling a performance of their duty, will be promptly exercised. In conclusion permit me to say that, while differing widely with your Excellency as to the right or policy of your acts and of the views expressed in your several communications, I have the honor to be, * * *." The police authorities delivered the arms in question to the agent of the State of Georgia on the 16th of March.

On the 18th of February the President-elect was received at the Capitol as the guest of the state, and was cordially welcomed by the Governor, the Legislature and the citizens. The chairman of the committee, on the part of the Legislature, pledged him the support of the State of New York in the discharge of his constitutional duties. For this he expressed his gratitude, and added: "While I hold myself, without mock modesty, the humblest of all individuals that have been elected to the presidency, I have a more difficult task to perform than any of them."

Events were daily rendering it more and more likely that the domestic discord would terminate in open hostilities. The probabilities of this, and the means for subduing the expected hostilities were discussed at every fireside throughout the state. The decadence of the military spirit of the people at large had been gradual, but nearly absolute. Public money expended to maintain a Militia establishment was regarded as wasted. But notwithstanding the general apathy of the people, there were still a few men in every portion of the state, and especially at the principal centres, who did not permit the military spirit wholly to die out. The principal lack was in material of war. The strength of the organized Militia was nominally nineteen thousand men; to arm this force the state possessed but about eight thousand muskets and rifles, and one hundred and fifty smooth-bore field pieces, of almost every calibre. The National authorities were not in condition to supply the want, the late Secretary of War having sent thousands of muskets from the Watervliet arsenal to the South. This want had, however, been brought to the notice of the Legislature by the Governor in his annual message, where he pointed out the lack of serviceable military stores, and stated that the organized Militia was not provided with reliable weapons; he asked the Legislature to take early measures to supply these deficiencies, recommending for that purpose an appropriation, to be used at the discretion of the military department of the state, and a bill had been introduced providing half a million dollars for the purchase of arms and equipments. This bill, however, did not become a law until just before the close of the session, when events had demonstrated its imperative necessity.

At half-past four o'clock of the morning of the 12th day of April a shot was fired from the mortar battery near old Fort Johnson, and a moment later fell upon Fort Sumter. This shot, although not the first fired upon the National flag, inaugurated a conflict of gigantic proportions and far-reaching consequences, from which the United States emerged forever as one Country and one Nation.

The bombardment of Fort Sumter was shortly followed by its surrender, which became known at the capital of the State on Sunday morning the 14th. The news came upon the people as an event too sad for full belief. But the suddenness of the intelligence was followed by prompt and efficient action in every quarter. A meeting took place in the afternoon at the Executive chamber. There were present the Governor and other state officers, the Speaker of the Assembly and members of the military and finance committees of the two houses. A committee, consisting of the Attorney-General, the Adjutant-General, the Inspector-General, Mr. Blood of the Senate and Mr. Robinson of the Assembly, was appointed to draft a bill to be submitted to the Legislature the following morning. As drawn by the committee, the bill invested the Governor with the power of its execution, and provided for the enrollment of thirty thousand volunteer Militia to serve for two years, appropriating three million dollars to meet the expense. The Legislature connected the state officers with the Governor in the raising and organizing of these troops and the bill, thus modified, was approved by the Governor on the 16th. The commission created thereby was popularly known as the " State Military Board, and consisted of the Governor of the state, Edwin D. Morgan; the Lieutenant-Governor, Robert Campbell of Bath; the Secretary of State, David R. Floyd-Jones of South Oyster Bay; the Comptroller, Robert Denniston of Salisbury Mills; the Attorney-General, Charles G. Myers of Ogdensburgh; the State Engineer and Surveyor, Van Rensselaer Richmond of Lyons; and the State Treasurer, Philip Dorsheimer of Buffalo.

On the 15th of April the President issued his proclamation calling forth the Militia of the several states to the number of seventy-five thousand men, to suppress treasonable combinations and to cause the laws to be duly executed. The quota assigned to this state consisted of seventeen regiments, each of seven hundred and eighty officers and enlisted men, making in the aggregate a force of thirteen thousand two hundred and eighty men.

The State Military Board met on the evening of the 16th and the Governor submitted a dispatch from the Secretary of War, to the effect that the men called for were to be mustered into immediate service, and that he would be gratified to have one or more regiments march to Washington before the close of the week. The situation demanded prompt action; the Governor at once issued orders for the available organized Militia to march; the Board resolved that seventeen regiments of seven hundred and eighty men each, be enrolled and mustered into service for two years, and made provisions for the prompt transportation to Washington of the regiments of the organized Militia ordered into service by the Governor, as well as of the volunteer Militia authorized by it, and for procuring necessary quarters, hospital, medical and other supplies. There was need of this action; communication with Washington was severed, and the condition of affairs there was such, that the state was left in most part to supply transportation for her troops; indeed everything in the way of accommodations for volunteers, sick and well, was to be provided by the state authorities.

The Governor's military staff was composed of men who were competent for the new and weighty duties now falling upon them. Time was not given to deliberate, the work pressed upon their attention at once. The details, as well as the general duties of the several staff departments were instantly and vigorously entered upon. An army of forty thousand men, including the organized Militia, was to be prepared for the field and all the staff officers were more than fully employed. During his administration Governor Morgan's staff consisted of: Adjutant-General J. Meredith Reed, Jr., of Albany, who resigned on account of ill health August 14, 1861, and was succeeded by Thomas Hillhouse of Geneva; Inspector-General William A. Jackson of Albany, who resigned May 17, 1861, to become Colonel of the 18th Volunteers, followed by Marsena R. Patrick, who resigned February 10, 1862, to become Brigadier-General of Volunteers, in whose place was appointed Chester A. Arthur, who resigned July 9, 1862, to become Quartermaster-General and who was succeeded by Cuyler Van Vechten; Judge-Advocate General William Henry Anthon of New York city; Quartermaster-General

Cuyler Van Vechten of Albany, who July 9, 1862, was appointed Inspector-General and was replaced by Chester A. Arthur; Surgeon General S. Oakley Vanderpoel of Albany; Paymaster-General Thomas B. Van Buren, succeeded by George Bliss, Jr., February 27, 1862, upon becoming Colonel of the 102d Volunteers; Engineer-in-Chief Chester A. Arthur, appointed Inspector-General February 10, 1862; Chief of Ordnance, the constitutional Commissary-General, Benjamin Welch, Jr., of Buffalo; Aides-de-Camp, Edwin D. Morgan, Jr., of New York city, resigned May 13, 1861; Edmund Schriver from May 13 to September 2, 1861; Thomas B. Arden from September 2, 1861; Samuel D. Bradford, Jr., resigned January 31, 1862; Francis M. Rotch from February 12, 1862; Elliott F. Shepard and John H. Linsly. Several officers of the Regular Army were assigned to temporary duty at Albany about this period, to assist the military department by their experience; of these were Colonels Delafield, Schriver and Keyes, whose names are prominent in the annals of the war.

Depots were established at New York city, Albany and Elmira, and Brigadier-Generals Charles Yates, John F. Rathbone and Robert B. Van Valkenburgh of the organized Militia, respectively, placed in command of them. Branch depots were also opened at Syracuse and Troy, and Brigadier-Generals Robert M. Richardson and Darius Allen, respectively, assigned to their charge. Orders were issued for the rendezvous and organization of men, of whom many were already arriving at these depots — even before authority to receive them existed — often, indeed, presenting themselves unannounced; and such was the patriotic spirit of the people that many, obviously unfit physically and by reason of age, came with the able-bodied volunteers.

Worthily interpreting the spirit of their constituency, the Legislature prolonged its session and redoubled its labors. Loyal men of all political opinions rallied around the flag of their country; and it should be remembered as one of the noblest manifestations of that period of danger, how enthusiastically the last hours of the Senate and Assembly were devoted to the duties of patriotism. Nearly a score of these legislators, who with their votes initiated the work of preparing the way of their state, followed up the public pledge, then given, with the sword. The life blood of some of these earnest men too soon became the tribute of their devotion, and they stand conspicuous in the roll of the immortal as the representative heroes of the Legislature of the State.

In this, the eighty-fourth session of the Legislature, the people of the State were represented

While officials were thus engaged, the people were alive with zeal in preparing to answer the call of the government. They held public meetings, adopted patriotic addresses, raised money and enrolled men, in every part of the state. Past political differences were forgotten. Flags were floating from church steeples, public buildings, school-houses and private residences. The thrilling tones of the loyal press penetrated every household, and gave utterance to the popular enthusiasm; its representatives threw down the pen and grasped the sword; they proposed to make the history, which they were afterwards to chronicle. All was animation and a state of peace had suddenly been transformed into a condition of war. From every quarter came applications for authority to raise troops. The people were sensitively alive to the demands of the hour. Real or fancied delays, whether inevitable or not, were censured without stint, if not without reason. Private liberality was without bounds.

The emergency and the danger to the National Capitol were great, and well it was that some of the genuine military spirit had been kept alive. The militia regiments ordered out by the Governor for a service of three months, responded to the pressing call with an alacrity that stands to their perpetual credit. This prompt response no doubt saved the capitol from capture and spoliation. The hearts of all were quickened, when the lightning flashed from Washington its missive of doubt and despondency, of painful peril, of glad and heartfelt relief! How startling was the first summons, flashed along the wires from the threatened seat of the government; how incessant the fiery messages thereafter. Numberless messages of alarm and counsel poured upon the Governor from Washington and all parts of the state; they were the throbbings of the heart of the people.

On the 18th of April the Governor issued his proclamation calling upon the people for volunteers for seventeen of the regiments authorized under the act passed by the Legislature. On the 19th a great meeting of merchants was held in New York city; resolutions to sustain the government were adopted, and at the announcement that several regiments, then organizing, needed assistance, more than twenty thousand dollars were raised in ten minutes' time. On the same day the famous Seventh Militia, amidst the greatest enthusiasm, left for the city of Washington.

The next day, the 20th, occurred that memorable meeting in Union Square, New York city, of two hundred thousand of the people. Leading citizens without distinction of party, met there to unite their voices in support of the government. The surging crowds that filled the streets, drowned all noises in their huzzas for the Union. The meeting was an important one in every sense; its action gave direction to popular sentiment everywhere, and the Union Defense Committee was then formed from the foremost citizens of the great Metropolis. Conventions and meetings were held on the same day in Schenectady, Hudson, Utica, Oswego and Rochester, and troops raised and means provided. The people of Poughkeepsie, Troy, Auburn, Syracuse and Buffalo also met to counsel on the best mode of responding to the country's call. Town and village, great and small, were likewise engaged. Albany and Elmira were changed, in a few hours, from business centres into military camps.

On the 21st, the Sixth, Twelfth and Seventy-first regiments of the Militia left the city of New York en route for Washington. On the 22d, a patriotic meeting of the Bench and Bar of New York city took place, at which money was subscribed by the thousands; the city of New York appropriated one million dollars for fitting out soldiers and supporting the families of volunteers; and the Twenty-fifth regiment of Militia left Albany for the endangered Capitol of the country. The succeeding day, the 23d, witnessed a great meeting in Brooklyn, at which Robert J. Walker, a former Cabinet officer, and resident of a seceded state, addressed the people, and the departure from Brooklyn of the Thirteenth, and from New York city of the Eighth and Sixty-ninth regiments of the organized Militia of the state. On the 26th, the Secretary of War wrote to the Governor: "I have to repeat the acknowledgments of this department for your very prompt and energetic action in sending forward the troops of your state." On the 27th the Fifth regiment of Militia of New York city; on the 28th the Twentieth regiment of Militia of Kingston; on the 29th the Ellsworth Fire Zouaves, later the Eleventh Volunteers, a two years' regiment, of New York city, and on the 30th the Twenty-eighth regiment of Militia of Brooklyn, left the state for active service.

The remaining regiments of the organized Militia were preparing to march, when in the first days of May, their orders were countermanded upon receipt of information from the General Government that no more three months' men were desired. Four companies of the Seventy-fourth Militia volunteered then, and left Buffalo for Elmira May 3d, escorted to the depot by the Home Guards, of which Ex-President Fillmore was major and in command.

The Militia regiments, when starting for Washington, were accompanied to the points of embarkation by the people. Their line of march was a perfect ovation; thousands filled the sidewalks; private and public buildings were decorated with banners, and there were many touching scenes of farewell taking.

The enlistment of volunteers under the Governor's proclamation of the 18th of April proceeded with great rapidity. On the 22d, only a week after the proclamation of the President, eighty-two companies had been accepted, and the State Military Board adopted a resolution "to organize the remainder of the force provided for in the act of April 16th."

Firearms were now the serious want. On the 24th of April an agent was sent to Europe to purchase twenty-five thousand stands of the most approved pattern, and also a supply of fixed ammunition. The agent carried a letter of credit for half a million dollars, and a communication from the Governor to Lord Palmerston, requesting him to sanction these purchases by the state. The Governor-General of Canada, meanwhile applied to for authority to purchase arms in his territory, replied that he was not permitted to allow munitions of war to be taken from that province. In Europe the agent found that large orders had been sent out from this country and that the Spanish government was a heavy purchaser of arms in the British markets. He, however, obtained nineteen thousand Enfield muskets at a cost of three hundred and thirty-five thousand dollars. His first shipment was refused passage by the English steamship company, though sent to Galway by the house of Baring Brothers.

On the 25th of April the Governor, in accordance with the resolution adopted by the State Military Board, issued his proclamation for volunteers for twenty-one additional regiments, making the total number of regiments to be organized for two years' service thirty-eight, and completing the force of volunteer Militia authorized by law.

Public manifestations increased. Nationalities vied with each other in the work of raising regiments and sustaining the government. On the 25th of April an enthusiastic meeting of the British residents was held in New York city; followed a few days later by a Union meeting of the French residents. The Germans met frequently in large assemblages, and other nationalities were equally active. Distinctive regiments of Irish, Scotch, Germans and French were being raised for the war. The Common Council of Buffalo made a large appropriation to equip a local regiment. Troy established a special depot and raised money for its support. Other cities and towns were not behind in the work. Collections were made in churches and at other assemblages for furnishing needed supplies for the soldiers and for supporting their families. Active patriotism prevailed in business circles; bankers and commercial men were furnishing money by the tens of thosuands. Mechanics and manufacturers were vieing with others in the work of forwarding men and providing for those at home. Representatives of all professions and pursuits were found in the ranks or hastening to the rendezvous. The Union Defense Committee, the Merchants' and the German committees, the Chamber of Commerce, churches and citizens of New York city and other localities, throughout the state, assisted with money in defraying the expenses of the organizations springing up all over the country.

On the 7th of May the Governor, expressing his gratification at the alacrity and self-sacrificing spirit displayed by the people, announced that the maximum number allowed by the act of April 16th having been enrolled, expenditure of time or means should not be uselessly incurred by the patriotic citizens of the state in further efforts for new organizations.

May 3d, the President issued a call for forty-two thousand and thirty-four volunteers for a service of three years, and the War Department granted authority to committees and individuals to recruit regiments, crediting them to the state, so that when, May 25th, the organization of the thirty-eight two-years' regiments was completed, the number of men required from this state was found to be already filled, while but a part of the troops raised by the state authorities had been accepted by the General Government. This created a serious embarrassment and a delay in forwarding troops. The term of service of the New York contingent had been fixed by law at two years and could therefore not be changed, otherwise matters could have been arranged more quickly. However, the State Military Board insisted that the troops raised by authority of the state should be received without regard to those tendered or raised by committees and unofficial persons, and finally, June 12th, Secretary of War Cameron ordered the muster into the United States service of all the regiments which had been enrolled into the state service, and not yet mustered in the United States service. A small number of these had meanwhile been mustered in for three months, which caused at the expiration of that time, when the Governor, at the request of the War Department, ordered them to continue in the United States service for the unexpired term of their state service considerable dissatisfaction and evil. Under the President's call of May 3d and authority received from the War Department, there were organized for a service of three years, principally under the auspices of the Union Defense Committee of New York city: The Garibaldi Guard, the Mozart Regiment, the De Kalb Regiment, the Tammany Jackson Guard, the Second, Ninth, Fourteenth and Seventy-ninth regiments of Militia.

May 14th the Secretary of War on the part of the President, again thanked the Governor and his staff, for seconding the call of the President for troops in such prompt and efficient manner.

Early in July the General Government requested some mounted troops and two companies were forwarded, one company composed of volunteers from the First, the other of volunteers from the Third, regiment of cavalry of the Militia; they entered the United States service for three months.

By July 12th the last volunteer organization had left the state and at that date there had been placed in the United States service by this state: Of the organized Militia for three months' service 8,534 men; of two years' volunteers 30,131 men; of three years' volunteers 7,557 men, making a total of 46,224 officers and enlisted men. The depots were closed and recruiting suspended.

The tide of volunteering was still at flood. Applications for authority to raise additional companies were as strongly pressed as at any time since the firing upon Fort Sumter, but the General Government declined to accept more men. The Governor asked for the privilege of accepting a certain number of companies and suggested that they be sent to camps of instruction within the state, and thus a well-drilled force be provided for emergencies. Long Island and the vicinity of Buffalo were two of the points suggested for the encampment, and the latter city formally tendered an eligible site on the shores of Lake Erie for this purpose. In regard to the former locality, a competent officer, after examining several points, had selected a suitable place not far from New York city. The Federal authorities, however, had not assented to this policy, when the defeat at Bull Run, July 21st, changed the aspect of affairs, gave a new direction to the efforts of the state, and opened a new period of the war.

The defeat at Bull Run, while it filled the people with pain and sorrow, did not have a depressing effect on their patriotic spirit; on the contrary the desire to uphold the Government, to preserve and protect the Union and the Nation seemed, if possible, to grow stronger than at any time before. The people at large were also beginning to appreciate that the struggle had but commenced, and that the end was not as near as many had heretofore believed and expected. Men and means were liberally offered, and when on the day after the reverse, the President approved the act of Congress authorizing the organization of an army of five hundred thousand men, with power to increase the force whenever he should deem it necessary, his action and that of Congress were warmly applauded and supported.

At the request of the President, Governor Morgan issued, July 25th, a proclamation calling for twenty-five thousand volunteers for three years' service, to be organized into twenty-five regiments of infantry, and July 30th, the Governor, at the request of the War Department, called for volunteers for four additional regiments, two of cavalry and two of artillery.

On the 26th of July three regiments of colored men to serve during the war, were tendered to the Governor, with the assurance that their arms, equipments, clothing and pay, while in the service, would be provided by the colored population of the state. There being no authority to enroll colored men, the offer had to be declined; but this appreciation of the struggle before the country and the loyal spirit the offer indicated, deserve to be placed on record.

On the 31st of July the depots at New York city, Albany and Elmira were reopened, with the same efficient officers in command, and recruiting and organizing recommenced with vigor and energy. A quota was not assigned to the state at the time; the troops were raised under the act of Congress approved July 22d; however, when in June, 1862, it became necessary to determine what the quota should have been, in order to make further calls, it was decided that since the President's call of April 15th, this state should have been required to furnish one hundred and nine thousand and fifty-six three years' volunteers. The Union Defense Committee, the German and other committees of New York city, Brooklyn, and the other cities and localities of the state, which had rendered such valuable services in April and May, renewed their former efforts, and aided in every possible way the officers of the state. The ardor of the people cannot be described; requests for authority to raise regiments and to recruit companies flooded the military department, and it became necessary to establish branch depots for the reception of companies and the organization of regiments, to meet the spirit of the people and to enable prompt and fruitful co-operation on the part of the various committees and many persons of influence. Such depots were established between August 23d and November 2d, in the order named, at: Oswego, Saratoga, Buffalo, Rochester, Ogdensburg, Auburn, Kingston, Westfield, in the first district of the county of New York, Syracuse, Brooklyn, Boonville, Geneseo, Cortlandville, Plattsburgh, Cherry Valley, Potsdam, Malone, Unadilla, Hancock, Madison Barracks, Lyons, Utica, Le Roy and Nineveh.

Up to this time the largest portion of the expenses incurred in recruiting, quartering, subsisting, uniforming, arming, transporting, and even paying the troops raised in the state, especially in the case of the Militia and the two years' regiments, had been borne by the state; but August 15th, the officers of the Regular Army, who had been detailed to muster in the new levy, were constituted disbursing officers of the General Government and, Congress having passed the necessary appropriation, provided with funds for the payment of expenses of the nature mentioned, relieving the state largely, but not entirely, from that duty.

In August the regiments of the organized Militia, which had so promptly marched to the front in April, and had since rendered valuable service on the field of battle and in camp and garrison, returned to their home stations and were received by a grateful people with enthusiastic demonstrations of approval and appreciation. Many of these men at once re-entered the service of their country as volunteers.

A better description cannot be given of the situation at this time, of the patriotic spirit pervading all, than is contained in the proclamation of the Governor, issued on the 22d of August, and here reproduced, wherein, while appealing to the people, he speaks for them in unmistakable words: "A conspiracy, not the work of a day, but the result of years of false, wicked and traitorous machinations, has, for several months, disturbed the peace of the State of New York and of the Federal Union. Its movements have been marked by violence and fraud. Wherever it has manifested itself, it has disregarded the rights of citizens, coerced them into the ranks of its armies, and exercised an absolute control over persons and property, in utter defiance of the Constitution and laws of the land. Ambitious and designing men, disappointed in their personal aims, have been enabled, chiefly by misrepresenting the feelings of one portion of the country toward the other, to usurp and exercise a power which has become not only tyrannical and oppressive in the several states whose constitutional governments it has temporarily suspended, but dangerous to the entire Union. The pretenses originally held forth as a justification for acts of lawlessness and treason have been laid aside. The intention of the leaders of this wicked Rebellion to destroy the Union, cemented by the blood of our forefathers, is now fully manifested; and elated by an accidental success, they audaciously threaten the National Capital. As Chief Magistrate of the state, it is my solemn duty to warn all good and loyal men of the dangers to which our institutions are exposed, and to urge upon them the necessity of an earnest and zealous co-operation with the authorities of the state and General Government, of a cheerful contribution of their means to support the public credit, and of active enrollment in the forces now being organized for the defense of the Union, convinced that the tranquillity of the country, so wantonly disturbed, can only be restored by the prompt and vigorous suppression of rebellion and treason wherever they may appear. The Representatives of the people of the United States, lately convened in Congress, at the call of a constitutionally elected President, in view of the perils which surround the Union, have, by legislative enactment, provided for liberal supplies of men and means for the enforcement of the laws, and have thus invited a hearty and zealous response on the part of the several states. New York has never wavered in her devotion to the Union. She prizes it on account of the many blessings which all parts of the country alike have received from it, on account of the memory of her patriot sons by whose blood it was purchased, and for the inestimable benefit it confers upon the present, and secures to future generations. Her noble response to the call of the President, in April last, was such as preserved to her the proud title she has long borne in the family of states. Another stage in the great Rebellion has been reached; and the Government, appreciating the dangers now menacing it, appeals for aid. The whole country, the civilized world, now looks to the State of New York. Let the response be worthy of her history. Let her answer go back in full ranks of earnest men, who justly valuing the magnitude of the interests involved, temporarily relinquish their pursuits and prepare to meet the crisis."

August 28th, the War Department authorized recruiting for organizations in the field, and ordered details from such as required recruits, to be sent to this state for that purpose.

Since May the War Department had been granting authority to individuals to recruit and organize regiments and batteries, independent of the state authorities. Some of these were worthy men, while others were not calculated to meet with success. Their recruiting parties were over all the state and created innumerable complications and annoyances for the authorities. September 5th, upon the representations of the Governor, the Secretary of War ordered all residents of the state, who had received from his department authority to recruit and organize, to report to the Executive of the State for orders, and to complete their respective organizations with his approval; empowering him to revoke any authority granted, or to consolidate organizations, as he deemed best for the interests of the country. This action was timely, and put an end to the many vexatious delays and interferences met with by the state officers.

To expedite and simplify the organizing, equipping, subsisting and forwarding of troops, Governor Morgan consented to accept the position of Major-General of United States Volunteers, and October 26th the President created the Military Department of New York, comprising the state, and placed the Governor, as Major-General, in command of it. Major-General Morgan assumed command November 1st.

October 28th, the General Government requested that regiments of cavalry be no longer organized, and November 27th it extended the request also to infantry. December 3d the War Department, in General Orders, directed that more new regiments should not be recruited; that incomplete organizations should be consolidated, and all organizations still in the states forwarded as quickly as possible. This of course discontinued recruiting. Steps were at once taken to consolidate incomplete organizations which, it was thought, would not be able to fill their ranks within a short time. Other regiments nearly completed, and whose ranks, it was known, could be filled in a few weeks, received special authority to continue recruiting.

The recruiting parties for organizations in the field had not been idle; it is estimated, no exact account having been recorded, that they recruited and sent to their respective organizations before the close of the year about eleven thousand men.

At the close of this year there had been sent to the front since August, or rather since September, for August was more a month of preparation than of action, forty-two regiments of infantry, ten regiments of cavalry, one battalion of mounted rifles, two regiments of artillery, two battalions of artillery, one rocket battalion, nine independent batteries, and four companies of Berdan sharpshooters, and there were still left in the state regiments ready to start, and others not completed, numbering fourteen thousand two hundred and eighty-three men; making the total number recruited for new and old organizations, seventy-five thousand three hundred and thirty-nine men.

In the State—In 1862

THE Legislature of the state met in its eighty-fifth session a few days after the commencement of the year. Like its predecessor, it was composed of men worthy to represent a loyal and patriotic people. The Governor, in his message, ably portrayed the situation and described the work of the past year. The session was largely occupied in authorizing counties, cities, towns and villages to raise means for the equipment of volunteers and for the relief of their families. Ordinances and acts by communities, already passed and executed, appropriating money in aid of the defense of the National Union, were legalized. The Comptroller of the state was empowered to provide means to the extent of three hundred and fifty thousand dollars, for the pay of volunteers still in the state, due on the 1st of January, but not yet paid by the United States. There was not, on the part of the authorities and the people, any hesitation in providing for the soldiers the state had called forth, and for the families they had left behind. Measures were also taken for the proper payment and distribution, by the state, of such sums of their pay as may have been or would hereafter be assigned by the volunteers for the benefit of their families or others. Provision was made for the prompt payment of the direct tax levied by act of Congress and apportioned to the state; of expenses incurred in the organization, equipment and subsistence of troops; and for reimbursement of Militia regiments for clothing and equipments lost and destroyed while in the United States service. Toward the close of the session an act was passed for the better enrollment of the Militia, the organization and discipline of the National Guard, the designation given to the organized Militia, and for public defense. February 17th, the Legislature also passed a concurrent resolution giving thanks to the officers and soldiers for the recent victories of the National arms at Forts Henry and Donelson, at Roanoke Island, Savannah and other points. Chapter 420 passed April 22d, incorporated the Union Home and School for the education and maintenance of the children of volunteers, under the management of noble women of the state. In short every thing that could be done for the comfort of those who had entered their country's service, for those they left behind, and for those who were yet to enter the ranks, was promptly and loyally done by this Legislature, the members of which were:

The General Government had issued orders, to take effect January 1st, placing the recruiting service in the states, for the forces in the field, under the charge of General Superintendents, and directing that general depots be provided for the collection and instruction of recruits. Major John T. Sprague, of the Regular Army, was detailed by the War Department as General Superintendent for this state, and selected Elmira and Albany as points for the establishment of his general depots. The state authorities turned over the barracks, hospitals and other facilities at these points to the United States, Colonel E. F. Shepard, aide-de-camp, who had relieved General Van Valkenburgh on the 1st of December last, being directed, January 18th, to turn over the depot at Elmira to Major Sprague, and General Rathbone, in command of the depot at Albany, receiving similar directions March 21st. Under this order of the General Government the state authorities were relieved from the work of recruiting, except for new regiments and companies, but their assistance and co-operation were heartily given to the General Superintendent. These orders remained in force until April 3d only, when the recruiting service for old organizations was also discontinued. An error, whatever may have caused the suspension; men were needed to fill the regiments already in the field, and at the time recruiting for new organizations had ceased. Not until June 6th was recruiting resumed, but the state authorities issued orders, May 23d, for the recruiting and organization of companies for regiments in the field in which vacancies for such existed or could be made. January 25th General Yates was relieved from the charge of the depot at New York city to take effect February 1st, and Colonel George Bliss, Jr., detailed to perform the duties connected with the organization of volunteer regiments and companies in and about the city of New York.

The defenses of New York Harbor had been a source of concern for some time, and on the 12th of March the Governor ordered General Chester A. Arthur, the Inspector-General of the state, to visit the forts in and around New York city, to report their condition and what would be necessary to place them in a complete state of defense. Upon that officer's report the Governor as commanding general of the department, furnished suitable garrisons and such armament as could be obtained from the General Government.

Early in April the Secretary of War requested Major-General Morgan to provide accommodation in New York city for the sick and wounded of the army on the Peninsula of Virginia, who might be sent to the rear. The Legislature had already appropriated thirty thousand dollars for this purpose, and plans to expend this sum in such manner as would best promote the object in view, had been decided upon. On the 18th, the Governor ordered Colonel George Bliss, Jr., to put, under the supervision of the Surgeon-General, into proper condition for hospital purposes and for the good care of the sick and wounded of the troops from this state, such of the barracks for volunteers in or near the city of New York, as would be best calculated for that purpose; extensive accommodations were also prepared at Albany. At the request of the General Government the state turned over to it all these hospitals, except the Park Barracks Hospital at New York city, in which over fourteen thousand men of this and other states, received proper care and treatment, on the part of this state, during the months of April, May, June, July and August, when it was discontinued.

On the 18th of April General S. Oakley Vanderpoel, Surgeon-General of the state, was directed to proceed to Fort Monroe and to General McClellan's army to make and superintend on the part of the state, such arrangements for the care and treatment of sick and wounded volunteers, and for their transportation home, as in consultation with the medical officers of the army, he should find best to promote these objects. On the 24th Colonel Francis M. Rotch, aide-de-camp to the Governor, was dispatched to assist the Surgeon-General. May 8th, General Arthur was sent to Yorktown for the same purpose. Every effort was made by these officers, as far as in their power, to provide prompt transportation to the state of, and the needful comforts for, the sick. June 12th these efforts were renewed and General Benj. Welch, Jr., Chief of Ordnance, and Colonel Rotch, again, sent to Fort Monroe and the Army of the Potomac to insure success. Colonel Rotch had also a mission to the army relating to the regiments from this state, their condition and the appointment and promotion of officers.

The military department was employed from the beginning of the year to the end of April in completing and forwarding the organizations left in the state on the last day of the past year. By enlistments these had been increased in number, so that when they were turned over to the General Government, their total strength was nineteen thousand and three men, formed in two regiments and four independent batteries of artillery and nineteen regiments of infantry.

May 21st, the War Department indicated that an additional force of infantry volunteers for three years, would be accepted, and on the 23d, the Governor issued orders to raise as many companies as practicable, designating the depots New York city, Elmira and Albany as places of rendezvous and assigning as commandants of these depots Colonels George Bliss, Jr., and E. F. Shepard, and General Cuyler Van Vechten, of his staff, respectively. Colonel Shepard was relieved by Colonel R. B. Van Valkenburgh July 21st, 1862, and he by Major Samuel M. Alley August 14th, 1862. On the completion of sufficient companies, they were to be formed, at the depots, into regiments under field officers appointed by the Governor.

The movements of the enemy in the Shenendoah Valley were now developing themselves to the disadvantage of the Federal arms, and on the 24th of May the Secretary of War requested the Governor to forward at once regiments of the organized Militia — the National Guard. The Governor promptly responded to the request by ordering the guard to march without delay. Between the 26th of May and the 4th of June twelve regiments, the Seventh, Eleventh, Twenty-second, Seventy-first, Eighth, Thirty-seventh, Thirteenth, Forty-seventh, Sixty-ninth, Nineteenth, Twenty-fifth and Twelfth, completely armed and equipped, numbering in the aggregate eight thousand five hundred and eighty-eight men, left the state and entered the service of the United States for three months; the Seventh called out for thirty days, volunteered for the longer term. More regiments were preparing to follow, but as the Secretary of War, the impending danger having been averted, requested that more three months' men be not sent, their marching orders were revoked. The promptness with which the National Guard responded to the call of the Governor is worthy of notice. Composed mainly of citizens engaged in active business pursuits, it involved no light sacrifice. Most of the regiments had volunteered under a similar exigency and seen service in 1861, and the value of their services had been fully appreciated and acknowledged by the General Government. On this occasion their presence at a critical period, was no less opportune, and the Secretary of War expressed his approval of the alacrity with which they moved to the front, and his sense of the importance of the services rendered to the country.

June 3d, under the act of the Legislature passed April 23d, the Governor ordered an enrollment to be made, forthwith, of all persons within the state liable to military duty, and intrusted the work to the commanding officers of regiments and companies of the National Guard. The enrollment was made, but imperfectly.

June 18th, the Trustees of Greenwood Cemetery, Brooklyn, having generously tendered a portion of their grounds for the interment of soldiers, in the volunteer service from this state, who may fall in battle or die of disease, regulations governing such interments, were published by the Adjutant-General.

June 28th, at the suggestion of the Chief Magistrate of this state, the Governors of the loyal states united in, and forwarded, the following to the President: "The undersigned, Governors of States of the Union, impressed with the belief that the citizens of the states which they respectively represent, are of one accord in the hearty desire that the recent successes of the Federal armies may be followed up by measures which must ensure the speedy restoration of the Union, and believing in view of the important military movements now in progress, and the reduced condition of our effective forces in the field, resulting from the usual and unavoidable casualties of the service, that the time has arrived for prompt and vigorous measures to be adopted by the people, in support of the great interests committed to your charge, we respectfully request, if it meets with your entire approval, that you at once call upon the several states for such numbers of men as may be required to fill up all military organizations now in the field, and add to the arms heretofore organized such additional numbers of men as may, in your judgment, be necessary to garrison and hold all of the numerous cities and military positions that have been captured by our armies, and to speedily crush the rebellion that still exists in several of the Southern States, thus practically restoring to the civilized world our great and good Government. All believe that the decisive moment is near at hand, and to that end the people of the United States are desirous to aid promptly in furnishing all reinforcements that you may deem needful to sustain our Government." To this the President replied, July 1st: "Gentlemen — fully concurring in the wisdom of the views expressed to me in so patriotic a manner, by you, in the communication of the 28th day of June, I have decided to call into the service an additional force of three hundred thousand men. I suggest and recommend that the troops should be chiefly of infantry. The quota of your State would be ——. I trust that they may be enrolled without delay, so as to bring this unnecessary and injurious civil war to a speedy and satisfactory conclusion. An order fixing the quota of the respective states will be issued by the War Department to-morrow."

The Governor, on the next day, the 2d of July, called upon the people of this state, in the following proclamation, to respond to the President's reply: "The President of the United States has duly called upon the country for an additional force of three hundred thousand volunteers to serve for three years, or the war. The wisdom of this is obvious to all. Our army in the field has been reduced by the ordinary casualties of the service and must be recruited, and the positions captured by our arms must be held by military authority. The people appreciate these facts. They fully estimate the magnitude of the great struggle, and the sacred obligations imposed upon them, and the necessity of exerting a power that will speedily quell the rebellion, restore the rightful authority of the Government and give peace to the country. This appeal is to the State of New York; it is to each citizen. Let it come to every fireside. Let the glorious example of the Revolutionary period be our emulation. Let each feel that the Commonwealth now counts upon his individual strength and influence to meet the demands of the Government. The period has come when all must aid. New York has not thus far stood back. Ready and more than willing, she has met every summons to duty. Let not her history be falsified, nor her position be lowered. We cannot doubt that the insurrection is in its death throes; that a mighty blow will end its monstrous existence. A languishing war entails vast losses of life, of property, the ruin of business pursuits, and invites the interference of foreign powers. Present happiness and future greatness will be secured by responding to the present call. Let the answer go back to the President and to our brave soldiers in the field, that in New York the patriotic list of the country's defenders is augmented. It will strengthen the hands of the one, and give hope and encouragement to the other. An order fixing the quota of this state, with others, will be immediately issued from the War Department. The details of organization will be in accordance with the orders from the Adjutant-General of New York. The state will be districted, local committees will be appointed, and regimental camps established."

The quota of this state was fixed at fifty-nine thousand seven hundred and five men, and July 7th orders were issued constituting the senatorial districts, except the first seven, regimental districts, and directing the formation of a regimental camp in each. Colonels were selected and appointed, to be commissioned when the regiments were recruited. Over three thousand authorizations to recruit companies were issued. The state became a vast military camp. Prominent citizens in each district were invited to form military committees, to assist the state officers in recruiting in their respective districts. The response of these gentlemen was what could be anticipated from men who, whatever may have been the difference in their political views, were earnestly desirous of supporting the Government, and ready to devote to that object their means and influence; and the rapidity with which the quota of the state was organized and placed in service, is due in a great measure to their unremitting, gratuitous and well-directed efforts.

As a further means of encouraging prompt enlistments, the Governor issued on the 17th of July the following proclamation offering a bounty on the part of the state: "Formal meetings of the people in different portions of the state, and individuals possessing the public confidence, have recommended me to convene the Legislature, to the end that a uniform bounty may be provided, to pay volunteers raised under the recent requisition of the President, in such manner that the burden shall not fall unequally upon localities. A call of the Legislature and the deliberation incident to the action of that body, necessarily involve delay, at a period when immediate action is of vital consequence to the military service. The popular will seems emphatically to demand that an additional premium be at once offered to promote enlistments. The exigency clearly requires the promptest action. Now, therefore, confidently believing that the people, through their representatives, will ratify and confirm this act, and after consultation with those officers, charged especially by law with superintending the fiscal concerns of the state, I do hereby offer and declare, that in addition to the bounty offered by the General Government, a bounty of fifty dollars will at once be paid to each private soldier who shall hereafter volunteer into the service of the United States. Regulations to that end will be immediately prepared and issued. This provision applies as well to recruits for regiments in the field, as to volunteers for the regiments now being raised. Individual and organized efforts are in no degree to be intermitted in consequence of this offer. On the contrary, it is hoped and expected that both will be stimulated thereby. The thinned ranks of our brave soldiers in the field appeal to us. Duty to ourselves, patriotism, every thing we hold most dear, urge us to action. Shall we prove unequal to the crisis? Let the next thirty days answer the momentous question." This was an important measure and its effects were immediate. The Commercial Bank of Albany advanced the money to the state. On the 30th day of August this bounty was ordered to be paid after the 6th of September, only to men enlisting in organizations which were in the field before the 2d day of July last, and on the 24th day of September it was announced that bounty would not be paid by the state for enlistments made after the 30th day of that month.

On the 2d day of October it was officially proclaimed that the quota of the state was not only filled, but that there was also a surplus of twenty-nine thousand men to the credit of the state; recruiting for three years' men on the part of the state, was suspended, and the depots opened for nine months' men.

The arming, clothing and equipping of this large force was a labor second only to that of recruiting and organizing it. The United States officers would turn over to the state authorities from time to time the supplies necessary to prepare the troops for service and the issues to the latter were made through the Quartermaster-General, and the Commissary-General of Ordnance of the state, to whom great credit is due for the efficiency of their respective departments.

The regiments of the National Guard, which went into service in May last, having returned to the state, the Governor issued September 6th, the following orders recognizing their services: "The Commander-in-Chief avails himself of the occasion of the return of the Seventh, Eighth, Eleventh, Twelfth, Thirteenth, Nineteenth, Twenty-second, Twenty-fifth, Thirty-seventh, Forty-seventh, Sixty-ninth and Seventy-first regiments of the National Guard to the State of New York, to thank them for the services they have rendered to the country, and for the honor they have reflected on the state. Summoned for the second time within thirteen months, by a sudden and urgent call, to the aid of the General Government, they consented cheerfully to the sacrifice of private interests, and abandoned, at almost a moment's notice, all private occupations to hasten to the defense of the National Capitol, then in danger. Habituated to the comforts and enjoyments of wealthy and peaceful communities, they have, during their prolonged absence from their homes, submitted without a murmur to the hardships, the privations and the labors incidental to the life of a soldier, and have discharged with fidelity and alacrity, every duty they were asked to perform, and have stood ready to encounter every danger they might be called upon to meet. Their conduct has entitled them to the thanks of the Government they were summoned to defend, and has won for them the gratitude and confidence of the people. It gives assurance that, notwithstanding the vast army of volunteers that the State of New York has sent to the defense of the Union, she has, in her National Guard, always at her command a military force ready, now as heretofore, to respond to any call that may be made on it by the General Government, and able at the same time to preserve the peace, maintain the rights and defend the liberties of her own people, in whatever form or from whatever quarter they may be assailed. The Commander-in-Chief will always esteem it among the most important of his duties to aid, by every means in his power, in promoting the interests and contributing to the efficiency of the citizen soldiery of the State."

September 24th, the Governors of the loyal states, with them the Chief Magistrate of this state, met at Altoona, Pa., and pledged the General Government their cordial support in the prosecution of the war; they recommended the creation of a reserve army of one hundred thousand men; the emancipation of the colored people, and paid deserved tribute to the army in the field.

August 4th, the President, to increase the strength of the regiments in the field, issued his proclamation calling out three hundred thousand of the Militia of the loyal states for a service of nine months; Congress having previously passed an act lengthening the term of service for which the Militia could be called out, to that period, at the discretion of the President. On the 7th, the War Department issued orders directing that the quotas of this force should be furnished forthwith, and prescribing the manner in which the draft should be conducted in states, where laws providing for a draft did not exist, or where such laws were in any manner defective. The quota of this state was fifty-nine thousand seven hundred and five men. By the law of the state the strength of the organized Militia was limited to twenty thousand men, and of these over eight thousand were already in the field. It became necessary, therefore, to have recourse to a draft. The method provided by state law, for a draft of the reserve Militia, on careful examination was found to be inadequate, and on the 13th it was decided to adopt the plan prescribed by the War Department, and the work of enrollment commenced. On the 14th of October, the enrollment being nearly completed and the books filed, commissioners and surgeons were appointed for the different counties, to hear and determine claims for exemption. It now became necessary to determine the number of volunteers already furnished by counties and towns, and this duty was assigned to the existing committees, organized in each district, as already stated, to promote recruiting, and, in order not to defeat the object of the draft, it was decided not to allow credit for volunteers furnished previous to July 2d, last. The 10th of November was finally selected for making the draft; but in consequence of the failure of a number of counties to furnish returns of the volunteers to be credited, the deficiency for which the draft was to be made could not be ascertained; in the case of other counties where the deficiency was not large, the committees were desirous of a further extension of time to enable them to fill their quotas and avoid a draft altogether. Under these circumstances the draft was suspended, and, December 3d, the commissioners directed to await further orders.

This delay in answering the requisition for nine months' Militia was not prejudicial to the interests of the country. It resulted in increasing the force of three years' volunteers, men of more value than nine months' men, much beyond what it would have been had the draft taken place in September as originally directed. At that time the quota of three years' men, under the call of July 2d, was not completed, and to have then resorted to a compulsory levy would at once have stopped enlistments for the longer period. In delaying the draft and promoting enlistments for three years, the state not only succeeded in completing the quota of July 2d, but also in satisfying the demand of August 4th, the surplus of three years' men each counting for four nine months' men in the settlement with the United States, and leaving still a surplus of men to the credit of the state. The Tenth regiment of the National Guard, Albany, volunteered for a service of nine months, and went into the United States' service as the One Hundred and Seventy-seventh regiment of Volunteers.

With this year closed the administration of Governor Morgan, the first of the war Governors of the State, and during his term the State furnished for the prosecution of the war:

In 1861.	Militia, for three months, 2 troops of cavalry and 11 regiments of infantry			8,534
	Volunteers, for two years, 38 regiments of infantry		30,131
	Volunteers for three years, 10 regiments and 1 battalion of cavalry	8,742
	2 regiments, 2 battalions, 1 rocket battalion, and 9 independent batteries of artillery	4,434
	1 regiment of engineers	855
	50 regiments of infantry	43,582
	Recruits for organizations in the field and 4 companies of U. S. Sharpshooters, estimated	11,000
			68,613
				98,744
	Total for 1861			107,278

In 1862. Militia, for three months, 12 regiments of infantry			8,588
Volunteers, for nine months, 1 regiment of infantry		830
Volunteers, for three years, 1 regiment of cavalry.	1,461
2 regiments, 4 battalions and 14 independent batteries of artillery	5,708
85 regiments of infantry	78,216
Recruits for regiments in the field, estimated	20,000
In the State, December 31st, not fully organized, about	2,000
		107,385
			108,215
Total for 1862				116,803
Total for the two years				224,081

To obtain, however, the full number of men in the United States' service from this State so far, it will be necessary to add:

Men in the Regular Army in service May 1, 1861, and men who entered the same service since that day to the end of 1862, enlisted in this State, less 1,000 men transferred from the volunteers to the Regular Army	8,731
Men in the United States Navy and Marine, in service April 15, 1861, and men who entered the same service since that day to the end of 1862, enlisted in this State	22,526
		30,257
These numbers are allotted here pro rata of time; in another place will be found the evidence on which the claim is based; this would make, in fact, the total		255,338

A record of which the State and the outgoing Governor could well be proud, and which, more than any thing else, showed the loyalty and love of country of the citizens of New York.

In the State—In 1863

ON the 1st day of January a new administration came in, and Horatio Seymour took the gubernatorial chair of the state, appointing, during his term of office, the following as members of his military staff: Adjutant-General, John T. Sprague, an officer of the Regular Army; Inspector-General, Josiah T. Miller of Seneca Falls; Judge-Advocate-General, Nelson J. Waterbury of New York city; Surgeon-General, John V. P. Quackenbush, of Albany; Quartermaster-General, S. Visscher Talcott, of Albany; Commissary-General of Subsistence, Anthony Eichoff, of New York, resigned August 1, 1863, and succeeded by Charles G. Halpine, of New York city; Paymaster-General, John D. Van Buren, of New Windsor; Engineer-in-Chief, Isaac Vanderpoel, of Albany; Chief of Ordnance, the constitutional Commissary-General, Benjamin Welch, Jr., of Buffalo, who died April 14, 1863, and was succeeded by James A. Farrell, of Hudson; Aides-de-Camp, Bleecker Tibbits, of Albany, from October 21, 1863, and Major Frederic Shonnard, Sixth New York Volunteer Artillery, of Yonkers, from August 3, 1864; Military Secretary, William Kidd, of Albany, from February 15, 1863.

The change of administration indicated no change in the support by the State of the General Government in its defense of the Union. In his message to the Legislature Governor Seymour took occasion to say: "While our soldiers are periling their lives to uphold the Constitution and restore the Union, we owe it to them, who have shown an endurance and patriotism unsurpassed in the history of the world, that we emulate their devotion in our field of duty."

The Legislature assembled on the 6th day of January in its eighty-sixth session and was composed of,

IN THE SENATE:

Guy Shaw, dist. and co. of Yates.

This Legislature, like its predecessors, promptly did all in its power to support the contest, and passed laws, legalizing and confirming ordinances and acts of cities, towns, counties and villages, and enabling the same in the future, to raise money to aid in recruiting, and to assist the families of volunteers in, or who might yet enter, the military service. February 21st, the action of Governor Morgan offering in July 1862, a bounty on the part of the state, was confirmed and an appropriation made for the payment of the debt contracted thereby. April 17th, a law was passed which provided a bounty of one hundred and fifty dollars for each member of the two years' regiments, who, having served his term of enlistment, would re-enter the service for not less than two years, and a bounty of seventy-five dollars to all others, who had enlisted since November 1st, 1862, or would hereafter enlist, for three years. April 24th, two very important acts became laws of the state; the first incorporated the "Soldiers' Home," and the second authorized the Governor to appoint agents to provide for the transportation and the care of the sick, wounded, and the dead, volunteers of the state, and appropriated two hundred thousand dollars for this purpose. Among the incorporators of the Soldiers' Home were Lieutenant-General Scott, Generals McClellan, Wool and Wadsworth, and the purpose was "to provide a home and maintenance for officers and soldiers who have served, are now serving, or may hereafter serve, in the volunteer forces raised or furnished by, or from, the State of New York, who by reason of wounds or other disabilities received, or produced, in the service of the United States, or of the State of New York, shall be unable to support themselves, and all who, having been honorably discharged, shall be decrepit or homeless in their old age." The management of the Home was in the hands of trustees, provided for in the act. This was the precursor of the Soldiers' Home, now in existence, and was to be modelled mainly after the Home of the Regular Army at Washington, D. C. The state agents provided by the second act, when the law came to be executed, furnished relief to the sick, wounded, furloughed and discharged soldiers of this state, while being transported to and from their homes; they ascertained the names and condition of all patients from this state in the army hospitals; kept a register of the same and furnished information to all who made inquiry concerning them, and thousands of relatives and friends obtained through them accurate information of fathers, husbands, brothers and sons in the service; they facilitated the removal of bodies of deceased soldiers to their friends, when such action was desired, and later on, they also assisted the discharged soldiers in obtaining arrearages of pay and bounty due them. Agencies were established at suitable points, but the main agency was located in New York city, where quarters were also rented and provided for the accommodation of volunteers of this and other states, passing through the city; over one hundred and ten thousand volunteers received relief and comfort at this main agency — known as the Soldiers' Depot — alone, and this depot was not closed until March 25, 1866; the sub-agency at Albany was continued as the Soldiers' Home until 1869, when on the 15th of June its inmates were transferred to the National Home for disabled volunteer soldiers then opened in the State of Maine and the agency was closed. April 27th, the Legislature appropriated one million dollars for the defense of the harbor of New York and the frontiers of the state.

March 3d, the President approved the act of Congress, providing a law, and prescribing a method, for drafting men for the military service, whenever needed, and authorizing him to call forth the National forces by draft. The law created a Provost-Marshal-General for the United States and a Provost-Marshal for each congressional district of the states; provided boards of enrollment for each district and other regulations for drafting men. May 1st, all enlistments for volunteers were, by the General Government, placed also in charge of the Provost-Marshal-General, who divided this state into three districts, northern, southern, and western, and to assist him appointed for these districts Acting Assistant Provost-Marshal-Generals. The officers acting in these capacities were during the existence of the districts, in the northern: Brevet Brigadier-General Frederick Townsend, United States Army; in the southern: Colonel Robert Nugent, Sixty-ninth New York Volunteers, until October 27th, 1863; Brigadier-General William Hays, United States Volunteers, until January 31st, 1865; Brigadier-General E. W. Hinks, United States Volunteers, until February 27th, 1865; and Major R. I. Dodge, Twelfth United States Infantry, to the close of the office; in the western: Major A. S. Diven, Assistant Adjutant-General United States Volunteers, until December 9, 1864, Major John A. Haddock, of the Veteran Reserve Corps, until April 10, 1865, and Major Samuel B. Hayman, Tenth United States Infantry, to the close of the office.

Between April 25th and July 4th, thirty-three of the two years' regiments, still in the service, returned to the state to be mustered out. Of the Fifteenth regiment of Engineers (Fifteenth Infantry originally), Third Artillery (Nineteenth Infantry originally), the Third, Tenth, and Twelfth regiments of infantry, which continued in the service, only the men entitled to be discharged, returned to the state. The Second Independent Battery, formed principally of two years' men, was also mustered out. These organizations, which had left the state with over thirty thousand men, brought back less than half that number; their losses by death alone had been about four thousand officers and enlisted men. They had served in many health-destroying campaigns and hard-fought battles; and, faithful servants of the country, they were now received by the people with proud approbation, heartfelt joy and congratulation. Happiness returned with them to many hearts, and the sorrow for those, who would never return, was gently tempered for many more.

June 15th the Secretary of War telegraphed to the Governor to furnish as large a force of the Militia as possible, say twenty thousand men, for a short term of service. The movements of the enemy had then sufficiently developed to indicate that an invasion of Maryland and Pennsylvania was contemplated. The Governor replied "I will spare no efforts to send you troops at once," and issued marching orders to the National Guard of the State. On the 18th, the Adjutant-General of the state informed the Secretary of War that about twelve thousand men were then on their way to Harrisburg. On the 21st Secretary Stanton telegraphed for Militia to be forwarded to Baltimore. Troops continued to be sent with the utmost dispatch. July 2d, the Governor of Pennsylvania asked for more troops and three more regiments were placed en route for that state. The regiments which took the field in this emergency were the Seventh, Eighth, Eleventh, Twenty-third, Seventy-first, Fifth, Twelfth, Twenty-second, Thirty-seventh, Sixty-fifth, Seventy-fourth, Fourth, Thirteenth, Twenty-eighth, Fifty-sixth, Sixth, Twenty-first, Forty-seventh, Fifty-second, Fifty-fifth, Sixty-seventh, Sixty-eighth, Sixty-ninth, Seventeenth, Eighteenth and Eighty-fourth. They were mustered in the service of the United States for thirty days. Besides these, the detachments of volunteers scattered throughout the state, were organized, equipped and forwarded to Harrisburg. The National Guard received the thanks of the President and War Department for their prompt response and service on this occasion.

The General Government, to replenish the army in the field, had decided in June, without the issue of a formal call for troops, to draft the necessary number, and on the 11th of July the state authorities received information that the draft was on that day to commence in New York city. There were then about six hundred men of the National Guard in the city; the state was virtually stripped of troops; disturbances were apprehended, and the Adjutant-General was sent to Washington to request a postponement of the draft, until a sufficient military force would be on hand. July 13th, there commenced in New York city a riot, unparalleled for atrocity and fiendishness. It is claimed that originally a number of honest working men assembled to protest against the draft; if so, this element rapidly disappeared, and the dregs of the city took advantage of the excitement. It is inconceivable that any decent and intelligent being can have taken part in the riot. All available state troops were ordered to New York city, and as the Hudson River Railroad was torn up, they were directed to take steamers at Albany. The troops in the Harbor, Regulars and Volunteers, Navy and Marine, one company from West Point; and one from New Jersey, arrived on the 13th; and the Seventh regiment of the National Guard on the 16th. These troops and the magnificent police of the city checked the mob and broke the wild phantasy of the miserable creatures; and on the 17th law and order reigned once more supreme in New York city. In other localities disturbances were feared, but did not take place; in one or two places, however, riots were prevented by the presence of troops only. The draft was for the time suspended, but took place in August without any further disturbance.

October 17th, the President called on the country for three hundred thousand men, and the quota of this State was placed at eighty-one thousand nine hundred and ninety-three men. It is proper to recall here the fact that since May 1st, the state did not have authority to recruit men for the army at large. All this was performed by the Provost-Marshals under the orders of the Provost-Marshal-General, and the whole machinery and management for procuring men was in the hands of the General Government; only the recruiting of new companies and regiments, sanctioned by the War Department, was left to the state authorities.

November 14th, Major-General Dix, commanding the Military Department of the East, of which this state then formed part, represented to the Governor that a necessity existed for the employment of a military force to protect a portion of the frontier of this state from threatened invasion by traitors sojourning in Canada, and asked that a regiment of the National Guard be ordered to report to him for such service. The Governor at once placed the Seventy-fourth regiment of Buffalo under his orders and the regiment entered the United States service for thirty days.

The organizations in the state on the 1st of January and not fully organized numbered about two thousand men; recruiting was almost at a standstill; February 23d, Colonel H. S. Lansing, Seventeenth New York Volunteers, was placed in charge of all the troops in process of organization in New York Harbor and city; the incomplete organizations were consolidated and the regiments formed turned over to the United States.

About the time the two years' regiments were to return to the state, authority was received from the War Department, to re-organize the same or to form new ones of the returned volunteers. Probably three-fourths of these men re-entered the service and their example bore fruit. Every effort was made, besides the authorized regiments to organize also full companies for such of the regiments in the field as had vacancies for them. Still more to encourage enlistments it was later decided, that the state bounty, authorized by the Legislature in April, should be paid to all men enlisting in the army for three years, who should be credited to the state by the orders of the War Department.

During the year there were organized and turned over to the United States on the part of the state authorities, of cavalry: the Twelfth; Fourteenth; Sixteenth; Twentieth; First and Second Veteran regiments; nine companies, each, of the Thirteenth and Fifteenth; ten companies, each, of the Eighteenth and Twenty-first; six companies of the Twenty-fourth; two companies of the Twenty-third, regiments, and three companies of the Second Mounted Rifles; of artillery: four companies of the Eleventh; five companies, each, of the Thirteenth and Sixteenth; ten companies of the Fourteenth; eleven companies of the Fifteenth; one company of the Third, regiments, and the Thirty-third Independent Battery; of sharpshooters: the Sixth, Seventh, Eighth and Ninth companies; of engineers: one company for the Fifteenth regiment; and of infantry: the Seventeenth Veteran, the One Hundred and Sixty-eighth, the One Hundred and Seventy-eighth regiments; four companies of the Fifth Veteran, three companies for the Sixty-third regiments, and two companies for the Independent Battalion.

The One Hundred and Sixty-eighth and One Hundred and Seventy-seventh regiments of infantry, and the Ninth company of sharpshooters, nine months' organizations, were mustered out October 31st, September 10th, and August 5th, 1863, respectively.

This Legislature passed laws to promote the re-enlistment of volunteers, and to encourage the enlistment of persons into organizations already in the service; it authorized the boards of supervisors of counties to borrow money and to levy taxes for the payment of bounties to volunteers, or for the expenses of their enlistment, for aid to their families, to pay any liabilities incurred therefor, or that may hereafter be incurred; it legalized the ordinances of municipalities and other corporations, already passed, for the same purposes; it appropriated means to provide grounds for the final resting place of the remains, and for monuments to perpetuate the memory of the soldiers of this state, who fell in the defense of the Union on the battle-fields of Gettysburg and Antietam; it perfected an amendment to the Constitution of the State, providing for the vote of electors while in the military service of the United States, and passed a law for the protection of the civil rights of the citizens of the state, while serving in the army or navy of the country.

Special permission was received from the War Department to recruit two regiments and one hundred companies for one, two, or three years' service. In organizing and completing these, difficulties were encountered; the machinery of the provost marshal's office gave greater facilities to citizens, who were acting as recruiting officers, than the state could offer, and the payment of bounty on the part of the state ceased under the operations of the law on the 31st of March.

On the 21st of April the Secretary of War requested the Governor to furnish one or two regiments of Militia to guard deserters, stragglers, etc., being forwarded to the army. On the 23d of the same month, Major-General Dix, by the authority of the President, called on the Governor for one or two more regiments to occupy the defenses of New York harbor. July 5th, the Secretary of War, a rebel force having invaded Maryland, requested the Governor to furnish a military force to serve not more than one hundred days, to which the Governor replied: "I will do what I can." The necessary steps to comply with these requests were promptly taken, and the following regiments entered the United States service for one hundred days: the Sixty-ninth, Eighty-fourth, Ninety-third, Fifty-fourth, Fifty-sixth, Seventy-seventh, One Hundred and Second, Twenty-eighth, Ninety-eighth, Ninety-ninth, Fifty-eighth; First Battalion of artillery and companies A and B of the Fiftieth regiment; for thirty days the Thirty-seventh and Fifteenth.

In August, September and October there were again appearances of possible disturbances on the northern frontiers of the state, and all the necessary steps were taken by the state Government to defend them; the Militia along the frontier was ordered to be in readiness for instant service and portions of the Sixty-fifth and Seventy-fourth regiments of the National Guard were in October and November placed on active duty, until later in November the General Government took charge of the protection of the frontier.

The term of service of a large number of the volunteer organizations expired in the course of this year and they returned to the state for final discharge. Many regiments had re-enlisted in the field in the latter part of 1863 and early part of this year, they also returned to the state on veteran furlough, invariably taking the field with increased numbers. All these organizations met in the state with brilliant and joyful receptions and ovations, showing fully the high appreciation of their services by the people, and the respect entertained by all for the country's brave defenders.

In the course of the year there were recruited, organized and forwarded by the state authorities, of cavalry: six companies for the Second; three companies, each, for the Thirteenth and Fifteenth; two companies, each, for the Eighteenth and Twenty-first; nine companies for the Second Mounted Rifles; six companies for the Twenty-fourth; the Twenty-second and Twenty-fifth regiments, complete; of artillery: one company, each, for the Third and Sixth; seven companies, each, for the Thirteenth and Sixteenth, and two companies for the Fourteenth regiments; of engineers: one company for the Fifteenth, and two companies for the Fiftieth regiments; of infantry: one company, each, for the Fifty-seventh, Sixty-third, Eightieth, One Hundred and Twenty-fourth, One Hundred and Thirty-seventh, One Hundred and Forty-second and One Hundred and Fifty-ninth; three companies, each, for the Sixty-ninth and Ninetieth; six companies for the One Hundred and Eighty-seventh; nine companies for the One Hundred and Eighty-eighth, and the Seventh Veteran; the One Hundred and Seventy-ninth, One Hundred and Eighty-fourth, One Hundred and Eighty-fifth, One Hundred and Eighty-sixth and One Hundred and Eighty-ninth regiments, complete.

The accounts between the State and the United States as to the number of men furnished by the former since 1861 were not brought into harmony until after July this year; the differences existing caused a great deal of annoyance at times, but were finally settled to the satisfaction of all.

With this year closed the administration of the second war Governor of the State, Horatio Seymour; and during it the state furnished men for the defense of the country:

In 1863. Militia for thirty days' service		14,475
Volunteers, through the authorities of the State.	14,805
Recruits sent to regiments in the field, through the U. S. Superintendent of Recruiting	1,653
Enlisted by Provost-Marshals	11,060
Re-enlisted in the field, estimated	10,000
Drafted men and substitutes, drafts of July and August	9,176
		46,694
Total for the year			61,169

In 1864. Militia for one hundred days' service, 5,640; for thirty days' service, 791; total		6,431
Volunteers, through the State authorities	17,261
Re-enlisted in the field	10,518
Drafted men, substitutes, and enlistments and credits by Provost-Marshals	128,657
		156,436
Total for 1864			162,867
Total for the two years				224,036
To obtain the correct number of men, there are to be deducted from this sum, the men credited to the State in February, 1864, for service in the navy, but properly apportioned to the years 1861 and 1862, as enlisted during those years				16,722
Leaving a balance of				207,314
And there should be added enlistments in the Regular Army to including November 1863, but not credited, as shown later on, pro rata of time				3,940
Enlistments in New York in the U. S. Navy during the war, but not credited, less 1,000 transferred from the volunteers, pro rata of time				2,409
Making the total number of men furnished in 1863 and 1864				213,663

In the State—In 1865

ANOTHER change in the administration of the state took place with this year, and Reuben E. Fenton was inaugurated, January 1st, as the Chief Magistrate of the Empire State. In his message to the Legislature the Governor stated that on the 1st of December last, the state was credited by the War Department with an excess of men furnished of five thousand three hundred and one, and recommended that the laws relating to bounties paid by localities should be amended so as to fix the maximum amount which each locality could raise by legal taxation, and to enable them to raise and pay these bounties with a view to future contingencies, so that men could be obtained in advance of future calls, and he concluded his message as follows: "The Constitution of the Union makes it the duty of the National Government to maintain for the people of all the States republican governments. It is no less the duty of each state to throw its whole weight and influence firmly on the side of this great fundamental requirement. This Government our fathers intended to establish and transmit as a legacy to posterity. Irrespective of the divisions into states, we are called upon to maintain and perpetuate the trust. Eighty years of enterprise, prosperity and progress have not lessened our obligations, nor checked our devotion to the great cause of civil liberty. It is not a mistake to assume that, whatever exigency may follow, whether domestic or foreign, the great body of the people will go forward to meet and overcome it with the same firm and irresistible energy which characterized our ancestors, and has marked the subsequent course of our civilization. In this patriotic determination of the people for unity, liberty and the Constitution, I shall, at all times, earnestly join."

As his military staff the Governor appointed: Adjutant-General, William Irvine, of Corning; Inspector-General, George S. Batcheller, of Saratoga Springs; Judge-Advocate-General, Alexander W. Harvey, of Buffalo; Quartermaster-General, Edwin A. Merritt, of Pierpont; Surgeon-General, Sylvester D. Willard, of Albany, died April 2d, 1865, succeeded by James E. Pomfret, of Albany; Paymaster-General, Selden E. Marvin, of Jamestown; Engineer-in-Chief, James B. Swain, of New York city; Chief of Ordnance, the constitutional Commissary-General, James A. Farrell, of Hudson, until April 25, 1865, when succeeded by Frank Chamberlain, of Albany; Aides-de-Camp, Michael J. Farrell, George B. Lincoln, Jr., George W. Palmer, and Military Secretary, George S. Hastings (only those are named who were in office until June 30th, 1865).

The eighty-eighth session of the Legislature of the State commenced January 3d; its members were in the

Such duties as fell to the Legislature to promote the prosecution of the war, were promptly carried out by it. February 10th, an act was passed establishing a uniform system of bounties throughout the state, and assuming their payment by the state. This act contemplated and allowed the payment of a bounty of two hundred and fifty dollars to every drafted man; of three hundred dollars to every volunteer enlisted for one year's service; of four hundred dollars to every volunteer enlisted for two years; of six hundred dollars to every volunteer enlisted for three years; and according to length of service, the same amount to each person furnishing a substitute. The law was not perfect however, and was amended from time to time until April 7th, when it was placed in condition permitting operations under it. The intention originally, was to have the bounty paid by state officials to the persons, entitled, themselves; but owing to the delay in perfecting the law, localities were authorized to continue the system under which they had acted heretofore, and were finally reimbursed by the state in accordance with this act and chapter 325, passed later in the session.

February 24th, the Legislature passed a concurrent resolution giving the thanks of the people of this state to the men who volunteered to defend the integrity of the Union and the flag which represents its sovereignty, on the bloody fields where rebellion has raised armed opposition to the National Government.

On the 25th of March the Legislature, representing the people, in concurrent resolutions, gave thanks to Brigadier-General N. Martin Curtis, the Third, One Hundred and Twelfth, One Hundred and Seventeenth, One Hundred and Forty-second, Forty-seventh, Forty-eighth, One Hundred and Fifteenth, One Hundred and Sixty-ninth regiments of Infantry and the Sixteenth regiment of Artillery, New York Volunteers, commanded respectively by Captain James Reeves, Colonel John F. Smith, Lieutenant-Colonel Francis R. Meyer, Colonel Albert W. Barney, Colonel Christopher MacDonald, Lieutenant-Colonel W. B. Coan, Lieutenant-Colonel Nathan Johnson, Colonel Alonzo Alden and Major F. W. Prince for the gallant achievements at Fort Fisher, North Carolina.

December 19, 1864, the President called for three hundred thousand men, and January 17, 1865, notice was received that the quota of the state was sixty-one thousand and seventy-six men. To avoid a general draft in the state, authority was asked and obtained from the War Department, to organize new regiments and independent companies. When on the 14th of April the Secretary of War ordered the discontinuance of recruiting and of the draft, the State Military Department had turned over to the General Government: five companies for the Twenty-sixth regiment of Cavalry; one company, each, for the Seventy-fifth, and the One Hundred and Ninetieth; two companies for the One Hundred and Ninety-first; the One Hundred and Ninety-second, One Hundred and Ninety-third, and One Hundred and Ninety-fourth regiments, complete; and the Thirty-fifth and a number of other, incomplete, independent companies, of infantry; and the state had received credit on this last call and quota, as having furnished, 34,196 enlistments, to which should be added enlistments in the Navy made in the state during the war but not credited, pro rata of time, 568; total 34,764.

June 7th, the Governor issued the following congratulatory address to the soldiers from this state: "Soldiers of New York: your constancy, your patriotism, your faithful services and your valor have culminated in the maintenance of the Government, the vindication of the Constitution and the laws and the perpetuity of the Union. You have elevated the dignity, brightened the renown, and enriched the history of your State. You have furnished to the world a grand illustration of our American manhood, of our devotion to liberty, and of the permanence and nobility of our institutions. Soldiers! your State thanks you, and gives you the pledge of her lasting gratitude. She looks with pride upon your glorious achievements and consecrates to all time your unfaltering heroism. To you New York willingly intrusted her honor, her fair name and her great destinies; you have proved worthy of the confidence reposed in you, and have returned these trusts with added lustre and increased value. The coming home of all our organizations, it is hoped, is not far distant. We welcome you and rejoice with you upon the peace your valor has achieved. Your honorable scars we regard as the truest badges of your bravery and the highest evidences of the pride and patriotism which animated you. Sadly and yet proudly we receive as the emblems of heroic endurances your tattered and worn ensigns, and fondly deposit these relics of glory, with all their cherished memories and endearing associations, in our appointed repositories. With swelling hearts we bade God speed to the departing recruit; with glowing pride and deepened fervor we say welcome! to the returning veteran. We watched you all through the perilous period of your absence, rejoicing in your victories and mourning in your defeats. We will treasure your legends, your brave exploits, and the glorified memory of your dead comrades, in records more impressive than the monuments of the past, and enduring as the liberties you have secured. The people will regard with jealous pride, your welfare and honor, not forgetting the widow, the fatherless, and those who were dependent upon the fallen hero. The fame and glory you have won for the State and the Nation, shall be transmitted to our children as a most precious legacy, lovingly to be cherished and reverently to be preserved."

The end has come, and at last the greatest of rebellions was suppressed; the army was gradually disbanded, and the sons of New York returned to their state, victors in a just and glorious cause. It is not necessary to describe their reception at their homes. The joy of the people was tempered by the knowledge of the sacrifices made by all, and that with the many who gave their lives to save this country and its people, was numbered the man, selected by God as leader in this momentous and fearful struggle.

MEN CALLED FOR.

QUOTAS AND CREDITS.

Although for a time the accounts of the state did not agree with those of the United States, the figures of the War Department as far as they go, are here used and accepted, as their total was also accepted by the state in 1864.

General Calls.

	Quota.	Credits
April 15th, 1861, the United States Government took the first decided step toward offensive efforts against the rebellion, the President calling on that day for seventy-five thousand Militia for three months' service. The quota assigned to this state, filled by Militia and Volunteer Militia, was	13,280
and the War Department reports, as furnished by the state		13,906
On the 3d of May, 1861, the President issued a proclamation calling into service thirty-nine regiments of volunteer infantry, and one regiment of cavalry, forty-two thousand and thirty-four men, for a service of three years, unless sooner discharged. A quota was not assigned, but at the request of the President, the Governor called, July 25th, for twenty-five thousand volunteers.
Congress in its acts of July 22d, 25th and 31st, 1861, authorized the President to accept the services of volunteers for three years in such numbers, not exceeding one million, as he might deem necessary for the purpose of repelling invasion and suppressing insurrection. A formal call was not issued, but men and regiments were furnished by the state by the authority of the War Department, under the act of Congress passed July 25th, 1861.
Before the next call it became necessary to determine the quotas of the states for 1861. This was done in June, 1862, by apportioning the number of men in the field, five hundred and forty-eight thousand one hundred and eighty-four, among the states. The quota of New York was placed at	109,056
and the state was credited, including all men furnished since the call of April 15th, 1861, with		120,231
Under the call of the President of July 2d, 1862, for three hundred thousand men for three years' service, there were required from this state	59,705
and furnished		78,904
It soon becoming apparent that under this last call men would not be obtained to fill up the regiments in the field, the President ordered, August 4th, 1862, a draft of three hundred thousand Militia to serve for a term of nine months. The draft, for reasons stated elsewhere, did not take place in this state, and on the quota of	59,705
there were furnished by voluntary enlistment		1,781
Under the act passed by Congress March 3d, 1863, the Provost-Marshal-General of the United States, without a formal call on the state, caused a draft in part to take place in July and August. The men received thereby were credited on the next regular call for troops.
October 17th, 1863, the President issued a call for three hundred thousand men, to fill the companies and regiments in the field; a quota was not assigned.

	Quota.	Credits.
February 1st, 1864, another call was made; this time for five hundred thousand men, to include the number called for October 17th, 1863. The quota of the state was placed at	81,993
for a service of three years, and there were credited, including the men drafted in 1863, and fifteen thousand nine hundred and twelve men, who paid the legal commutation		75,751
March 14th, 1864, followed another call, this time for two hundred thousand men for three years' service; and on the quota of	32,794
the state received credit, including two thousand two hundred and sixty-seven men who paid commutation, for		44,207
Under the call of July 18th, 1864, for five hundred thousand men, the quota of the state, reduced by excess of credits on previous calls, was placed at	77,539
and there were credited to the state forty-five thousand and eighty-nine men for a service of one year; two thousand one hundred and twenty-eight men for a service of two years; thirty-six thousand five hundred forty-seven men for three years' service; seventy-four men for four years' service, and five men who paid commutation, total		83,843
The quota of the state, under the last general call of December 19th 1864, for three hundred thousand men, was placed at	61,076
and on this call there were furnished up to April 14th, 1865, when recruiting and drafting was discontinued, for one year's service, nine thousand one hundred and fifty men; for two years' service, one thousand six hundred and forty-five men; for three years' service, twenty-three thouand three hundred and twenty-one men; for four years' service, sixty-seven men; paid commutation, thirteen men; total		34,196
Quota of the general calls	495,148
Total credit on the general calls		452,819

Special Calls.

May 24th, 1862, the War Department requested the Governor to forward regiments of the Militia for three months' service; a quota was not specified, and the state furnished of the National Guard		8,588
Under the requests of the President for Militia for short terms of service, dated April 23d and July 5th, 1864, the War Department fixed the quota at	12,000
and there were furnished by the state from the National Guard for three months and one hundred days, including recruits forwarded later		5,640
Total of all quotas	507,148
Total of credits and enlistments		467,047

The Adjutant-General of the United States Army under date of November 9th, 1880, supplemented by a statement dated July 15th, 1885, reports the total number of enlistments made under the various calls of the President, to have been 2,865,028, including therein 86,724 who furnished commutations, but not taking into consideration the enlistments for a period of less than sixty days. He credits this state as having furnished of these enlistments 467,047, including 18,197 who paid commutation, but not including the thirty days' men. In proportion to the total, the enlistments credited to this state are as 1 to 6.134, or 16.30 + per cent.

In this statement there is a credit included for enlistments in the Regular Army of only 6,089, while as will be seen, the state justly claims an additional credit of..		12,671
For service in the United States Navy and Marine there were credited to the state 42,155 enlistments, but here again, as will be shown later, the state is justly and fairly entitled to credit for additional enlistments to the number of.....		8,781
June 15th, 1863, the War Department called for Militia for short term service. The state furnished at this call, for a service of thirty days, of the National Guard	13,971
November 14th, 1863, Major-General Dix, commanding the Department of the East, made a request for an armed force for the protection of the frontiers of the state, and received for a service of thirty days, of the National Guard	504
Under the requests of the President for Militia for short terms of service, dated April 23d and July 5th, 1864, the War Department fixed the quota at 12,000, but gave credit only for the three months' and one hundred days' men and recruits forwarded later. There were furnished by the state under these calls, for a service of thirty days, from the National Guard	791
Total thirty days' men for whom credit has not been received.....		15,266
Total of additional credits claimed.....		36,718

This added to the number credited as furnished under the general and special calls, will make the total furnished by this state 503,765, or in round numbers and allowing liberally for errors, not less than five hundred thousand.

CREDITS DUE THE STATE.

For Service in the Regular Army.

The statement of the Adjutant-General of the United States Army, dated July 15th, 1885, estimates the number of men in the Regular Army during the war at 67,000. As far as can be determined from the reports of the Assistant Provost-Marshals-General of this state, as published in the reports of the Adjutant-General of New York for the years 1863 to 1865, the number of men credited to the state, enlisting or re-enlisting in the Regular Army, is 6,089, and covers only the period of the war from December 1863, to April, 1865, for men were not credited for such enlistments prior to December, 1863.

There were in the Regular Army, July 1, 1861, as officially reported, 16,422 officers and enlisted men; up to this time the large cities of this state were the principal recruiting fields of that army, and taking therefore from this number but one-fifth (by no means an over-estimate), as having been enlisted in this state, would entitle New York to a credit of..... 3,284

As already stated from December, 1863, to April, 1865 — seventeen months — there were credited to the state for enlistment in the Regular Army 6,089 men; and it is but fair to suppose that the state furnished from July 1, 1861, to November, 1863 — twenty-nine months — a proportionate number, and an additional credit is therefore claimed of..... 10,387

Total additional claim for credit for service in the Regular Army..... 13,671

Add to this credit the number of men found to have been credited..... 6,089 and the total of..... 19,760

will give the number of men, who it is claimed, served in the Regular Army of the United States, and were enlisted in, or credited to, New York.

Under orders of the War Department the enlistment or transfer of volunteers into the Regular Army was permitted in 1862 and part of 1863, and it is estimated that probably one thousand volunteers of this state were thus transferred; to avoid all appearance of making excessive claims these one thousand men are deducted, and on the part of the state claim is made for additional credit, for service in the Regular Army, for only 12,671 men.

For Service in the Navy and Marine Corps.

For service in the Navy and Marine Corps, men were not credited to New York until February, 1864, and then credit was received for 28,427, as having been enlisted in this state since April 15th, 1861. The Adjutant-General of the United States Army, under date of July 15th, 1885, credits New York with 35,144 enlistments in the Navy, which includes no doubt those enlisted in the Marine Corps, a few hundred at the most. From the statements of the Assistant Provost-Marshals-General it appears however, that credit was given the state for 41,380 such enlistments.

The Secretary of the Navy, under date of April 10th, 1884, in a communication to the United States Senate, reported the number enlisted in the Navy between April 15th, 1861, and February 24th, 1864, to have been 67,200 men, of whom there were credited to this state..... 28,427 that the number enlisted between February 24th, 1864, and the 30th day of June, 1865, was 37,577, of whom were credited to this state.. 13,728

that the number enlisted during the war, but not credited to any state, was 20,177, of whom were enlisted in this state..... 6,817

Total..... 48,972

The Secretary reports further, that, not including the men who were in service April 15, 1861, the total number enrolled during the war was..... 124,954 of this number the men credited to New York are 39.19 per cent. The report of the Secretary is accepted as correct.

But there must be added the number of men in service April 1st, 1861, which an annual report of the Navy places at 7,600 men; and of this number there is claimed as due to this state the same percentage that has been found of those enlisted between April 15th, 1861, and June 30th, 1865 as due to New York, namely 39.19 per cent., or..... 2,964

This would make the total number who served in the Navy during the war, 132,554, of whom there came from this state.... 51,936

For a time volunteers were permitted to enlist in, or to be transferred to, the Navy, and it is estimated that at the most one thousand men were thus transferred; these require to be deducted from the claims made here for additional credit.

It is accepted as a fact that there were duly credited to New York, 42,155 men, and the remainder, after deducting those transferred from the volunteers (1,000), an additional credit of 8,781 is fairly due to the state.

For Service in the United States Volunteers.

In his statement of July 15th, 1885, the Adjutant-General U. S. Army estimates the number of officers and enlisted men who served in this body at about 11,000, but as far as this state is concerned only the officers of U. S. Volunteers appointed from this state, and four companies of Berdan or First U. S. Sharpshooters are claimed as due to New York, about 1,375 officers and enlisted men. These were no doubt duly credited at the time by the proper authorities.

For Service in the United States Veteran Volunteers (Hancock's Veteran Corps).

In the statement of the Adjutant-General U. S. A., already quoted, the number of men who served in this body, is given as 10,833, but records are not available from which even an approximate number, of those furnished by this state, could be obtained. As shown under "Quotas and Credits," etc., New York furnished of all the enlistments 16.30+ per cent; allow the same per centage of those who served in the United States Veteran Volunteers, and the state would be entitled to credit for 1,770 men for service in this branch of the army. As these were veterans, who had served in the war before, and their entry into the service was undoubtedly credited at the time, claim cannot be made for extra credit.

For Service in the Veteran Reserve Corps.

The number of officers and enlisted men who served in this corps is stated as 60,508, and the portion of this number due New York, based on the same percentage as in the foregoing case, would be 9,862 men. These were men transferred from the volunteers, or enlisted after a service in the volunteers, and have without doubt all been duly credited to the state. In this number are included 222, who re-enlisted as veterans in this corps, and were specifically credited to New York.

For Service in the Colored Troops.

In the afore-mentioned statement the number of colored troops in the United States service is reported as 178,975; the state is, however, credited with but 4,125, and although evidence is on file in the office of the Adjutant-General of New York that 5,829 men are claimed as due the state, claim for extra credit is not made, and the number reported by the United States authorities is accepted as correct and final. The Twentieth, Twenty-sixth and Thirty-first regiments of these troops were organized in this state.

For Service in the Volunteers of Other States.

That men of this state entered the volunteers of other states, is a well-known fact. A correct number of them is impossible to obtain, but it is believed that they numbered at least five hundred, and that the state received due credit for the same.

For Service in the Militia and National Guard.

Of the Militia and National Guard there entered in the service of the United States for short periods 38,028 officers and enlisted men, of whom there served for one hundred days in 1864, 5,019; for three months in 1861, 8,534; in 1862, 8,588; in 1864, 621; total, 17,743 men; for thirty days in 1863, in the Pennsylvania campaign, 13,971, at Buffalo in November 504, in 1864, in New York harbor 791, total 15,266 men. The Adjutant-General of the U. S. Army gives the state credit for all, except the thirty days' men; and there is therefore a credit claimed on this account of 15,266.

For Service in the Volunteers of the State.

For service in this branch of the armies of the United States, 370,232 enlistments are claimed; this number, originally estimated, has been confirmed by count and estimates in part of the number of men who served in each volunteer organization of the state, appearing in another place. Drafted men and substitutes, are counted here as volunteers.

For Men who Commuted their Service.

Under the laws regulating the drafts, those drafted were accorded the privilege, by payment of a certain sum, to commute their service; the money thus obtained was used by the Provost-Marshal-General of the United States to pay bounties to volunteers re-enlisting in the service. The Adjutant-General of the Army credits this state on this account on the call of February 1st, 1864, with 15,912; on that of March 14th, 1864, with 2,267; of July 18th, 1864, with 5; of December 19th, 1864, with 13; total 18,197 men.

For Representative Recruits.

In July, 1864, the Provost-Marshal-General of the United States appealed to the patriotism and generosity of persons not required by law to perform military duty, but who possessed ample means, to cause themselves to be represented in the service by men procured by themselves. Under this appeal 1,292 representative recruits were obtained, and credited to the respective states, President Lincoln being one of the first to respond to the appeal. From the State of New York were obtained 119 men. While this may seem a small number, it is susceptible of proof that citizens of this state, before this official appeal, had quietly procured men to serve in the army as their representatives. Those of this state who acted on his suggestion, are reported by the Provost-Marshal-General to have been (arranged according to the, then, congressional districts):

Recapitulation of Credits.

The state furnished for service in the war 503,765 enlistments and this number of men served in the general organizations of the military forces of the United States as follows:

In the Regular Army of the United States, 19,760; of whom 1,000 are estimated to have been transferred from the volunteers; being properly credited to the volunteers, they are deducted here, leaving credit for service in this branch	18,760
In the United States Navy and Marine Corps, 51,936; of whom 1,000 are estimated to have been transferred from the volunteers; being properly credited to them, they are here deducted, leaving credit for service in this branch	50,936
In the United States Volunteers, 1,375; of whom about 380 are estimated to have been transferred from the volunteers as officers, and as they are a proper credit for the volunteers, they are deducted here, leaving credit for service in this branch	995
In the United States Veteran Volunteers, 1,770; these men served their first enlistment no doubt in the volunteers of the state; their enlistment in this branch constitutes, however, a special credit, and was so credited to the state	1,770
In the United States Veteran Reserve Corps, 9,862; most all of these men were transferred from the volunteers and are properly credited to them; of those who enlisted in this corps after a term of service in the volunteers no estimate can be made, but the state received special credit for such re-enlistments to the number of	222
In the United States Colored Troops, the number credited to the state by the Adjutant-General of the army	4,125
In the volunteers of other states, 500 men, estimated, making a credit of	500
In the Militia and National Guard of the state, as already shown	38,028
Men who commuted their service, and are credited to the state officially	18,197
The remainder of the credit claimed for the state represents enlistments in the volunteers of this state to the number of	370,232
Making the total credit of enlistments due New York, as already claimed	503,765

DRAFTS.

The census of 1860 gave this state a population of 3,880,735, of whom 1,933,532 were males, and 1,947,203 were females, being an excess of the latter over the former of 13,671.

Under the call of August 4th, 1862, for three hundred thousand nine months' men, the state authorities made arrangements for a draft, which however were not carried out. The enrollment, not entirely completed, showed a population of 3,829,707; had it been completed it would probably not have varied much from the census of 1860, notwithstanding the number of men who had entered the service and left the state. Subject to military duty, according to the laws of the state, that is between the ages of 18 and 45 years, were found to be 764,603 males, and of these had been declared exempt from military service at the time proceedings closed 139,158. The average ratio of the number enrolled to the population was one to five and one-tenth; the ratio of exempts to the number enrolled was one to five and five-tenths.

When in 1863 the General Government took charge of drafting and general recruiting, drafts when made, were only for such numbers as would insure the filling of the quota called at the time. The enrollment made in the state, under the supervision of the Provost-Marshal-General's Bureau from June, 1863, to April, 1865, numbered 431,462 men, or 22.31 per cent of the male population, or 11.11 per cent of the total population according to the census of 1860. This enrollment included males between the ages of 20 and 45. The total number drawn was 151,488; of these there were held to personal service, 3,210; furnished substitutes, 13,332; paid commutation, 18,197; not examined for various reasons, 48,743, and exempted after examination, 68,006 men. Of those exempted from military duty, 32,086 were exempted for physical or mental disability, or 31.22 per cent of those examined — 102,745 men.

The result of each of the drafts was as follows:

Draft of July and August, 1863, the number drawn was			95,795
Of these there were held to personal service, 2,300; furnished substitutes, 6,998; paid commutation, 15,912; total	25,210
Not examined for various reasons, 15,820; exempted after examination, 54,765; total	70,585
		95,795
Draft under call of March 14th, 1864; the number drawn was			11,713
Of these there were held to personal service, 153; furnished substitutes, 2,003; paid commutation, 2,267; total	4,423
Not examined for various reasons, 2,852; exempted after examination, 4,438; total	7,290
		11,713

Draft under call of July 18th, 1864; the number drawn was			10,227
Of these there were held to personal service, 47; furnished substitutes, 1,708; paid commutation, 5; total	1,760
Not examined for various reasons, 6,796; exempted after examination, 1,671; total	8,467
		10,227
Draft under the call of December 19th, 1864, not completed; the number drawn was.			33,753
Of these there were held to personal service, 710; furnished substitutes, 2,623; paid commutation, 13; total	3,346
Not examined for various reasons, 23,275; exempted after examination, 7,132; total	30,407
		33,753

Of the men exempted after examination, there were exempted for physical and mental disability at draft in July and August, 1863, 25,701; at draft under call of March, 1864, 2,391; at draft under call of July, 1864, 1,030, and at draft under call of December, 1864, 2,964.

PERIODS OF SERVICE OF THE MEN ENLISTED.

Of the men credited to this state there served during the war, or rather enlisted for service, for periods ranging from thirty days to four years — for thirty days, 15,266; for three months, 17,743; for one hundred days, 5,019; for nine months, 1,781; for one year, including estimated number in the Navy, 62,500; for two years, 34,723; for three years, 348,395; for four years, 141; commuted their service, 18,197; total, 503,765, or all reduced to a three years' standard, considering those who commuted their service as three years' men, 412,568.

These converted into three years' enlistments would give

15,266	thirty days' men	424	three years' men
17,743	three months' men	1,478	" " "
5,019	one hundred days' men	458	" " "

It may be claimed that this number represents also practically the number of individuals in service. But see "Number of individuals in service" page 46.

INDIVIDUALS IN THE SERVICE.

The numbers so far dealt with represent enlistments or entries into service, and, as many men entered twice, three and some even four times, the number of enlistments does not represent the number of individuals who served during the war. Positive data or information is not on record on this subject, and to obtain this number of individuals recourse must be had to estimates.

It is well known, that of the Militia and National Guard a very large proportion entered the volunteer service after the expiration of a short service in the Militia, and that a considerable number performed a second and third, and some even a fourth, short service in the Militia; also that a number of discharged volunteers served short terms in the National Guard, especially in 1863. Or in round numbers four hundred thousand individuals.

The United States census of 1860, gave New York a population of 3,880,735, of whom 1,933,532 were males; based on these figures the individuals in service during the war, from this state, bear the ratio of 1 to 9.7, or 10.30 per cent of the population of the state, and of 1 to 4.8 or 20.68 per cent of the male population of the state.

Not until July, 1862, was there an effort made on the part of the state to keep an account with localities of the number of men furnished by them. In 1863, the recruiting fell in the hands of the United States authorities and the state was furnished with information only as to the number credited on calls and not to localities. To confuse matters still more, many men went from their homes to other places to enlist. There is therefore no means to say how many men were furnished by any one locality. The only way to arrive at an approximate number, is to take the male population of such locality in 1860, take of this, 20.68 per cent, and the figure derived will not be the exact, but only about, the number of men furnished by that locality.

NATIVITIES OF THE INDIVIDUALS.

Mr. B. A. Gould, actuary of the United States Sanitary Commission, in his "Investigations in the Military and Anthropological Statistics of the American Soldier, 1869," gives the nativity of 337,800 individual soldiers from this state, based on that of 230,267 men obtained from official records, as follows: Natives of the United States, 203,622; of foreign birth, 134,178. Of those of foreign birth, 19,985 were born in British America; 14,024 were of English birth; 51,206 were born in Ireland; 36,680 in Germany, and 12,283 in other foreign countries.

The nativities obtained by him must have been principally of enlistments made in 1863, 1864 and 1865; to obtain the nativity of most of the men entering in 1861 and 1862 from the records, except possibly company descriptive books, is as far as this state is concerned, almost impossible. It is well known that more men of foreign birth entered the service in 1863 and 1864, than in 1861 and 1862, and thus it may be explained why Mr. Gould's figures of persons of foreign birth in the service to the credit of this state, are so large, 39.71 per cent of the whole, and why they are considered too high.

The history of a regiment of the Regular Army, organized in July, 1861, and receiving about three-fifths of its membership in 1861 and 1862, gives the nativity of its 3,574 members as ascertained from official records. This regiment received in 1865 up to April but a few men, and in many other particulars is a fair example of a regiment serving through the war; estimates based on the figures set forth in that history, applied to the men furnished by this state, are deemed to be more equitable than those of Mr. Gould.

On this basis, there would have been of the four hundred thousand individuals 279,040 natives of the United States, and 30.24 per cent or 120,960 of foreign birth. Of the latter 42,095 are to be credited to Ireland; 41,179 to Germany; 12,756 to England; 11,525 to British America; 3,693 to France; 3,333 to Scotland; 2,014 to Wales; 2,015 to Switzerland, and 2,350 to other foreign countries.

In the Seventieth Infantry served a native of China, John Tommy, who lost both arms and both legs July 2, 1863, at the battle of Gettysburg, and died of his wounds October 19, 1863; reported as a good and brave soldier; in the Forty-third Infantry served a man born in Hindostan of natives of that country.

AGES OF THE INDIVIDUALS.

Mr. B. A. Gould in his work, already referred to, gives the ascertained ages of 183,281 New York volunteers. Based on his figures, which compare favorably with the ascertained ages of a smaller number of men, there were of the four hundred thousand individuals furnished by the state at the time of their entry into the service:

37 thirteen and less years old; 137 fourteen years old; 334 fifteen years old; 978 sixteen years old; 1,526 seventeen years old; 43,074 eighteen years old; 35,427 nineteen years old; 24,638 twenty years old; 44,143 twenty-one years old; 29,875 twenty-two years old; 25,133 twenty-three years old; 20,707 twenty-four years old; 18,873 twenty-five years old; 15,899 twenty-six years old; 13,581 twenty-seven years old; 14,517 twenty-eight years old; 9,934 twenty-nine years old; 11,946 thirty years old; 7,174 thirty-one years old; 9,893 thirty-two years old; 7,267 thirty-three years old; 6,842 thirty-four years old; 8,479 thirty-five years old; 6,268 thirty-six years old; 4,803 thirty-seven years old; 5,912 thirty-eight years old; 4,055 thirty-nine years old; 6,890 forty years old; 2,767 forty-one years old; 5,024 forty-two years old; 4,513 forty-three years old; 6,870 forty-four years old; 1,814 forty-five years old; 190 forty-six years old; 89 forty-seven years old; 116 forty-eight years old; 50 forty-nine years old; and 225 fifty and over, years old.

Making the average age 25 years, 7 months and 26 days; or taking into consideration that, in order to be accepted, many less than 18 and 21 years old, gave their age as such, twenty-five years. This covers no doubt some commissioned officers but principally enlisted men.

There were by actual count 16,873 individuals who served long enough as commissioned officers to be entitled to be taken into consideration; or say in round numbers and to allow for possible errors 17,000. The ages of 16,721 of these individuals were ascertained to be as follows: Eighteen seventeen years old, 538 eighteen years old, 683 nineteen years old, 742 twenty years old, 1,493 twenty-one years old, 1,304 twenty-two years old, 1,220 twenty-three years old, 1,220 twenty-four years old, 1,036 twenty-five years old, 921 twenty-six years old, 804 twenty-seven years old, 777 twenty-eight years old, 639 twenty-nine years old, 657 thirty years old, 481 thirty-one years old, 545 thirty-two years old, 386 thirty-three years old, 429 thirty-four years old, 396 thirty-five years old, 330 thirty-six years old, 286 thirty-seven years old, 297 thirty-eight years old, 226 thirty-nine years old, 239 forty years old, 154 forty-one years old, 181 forty-two years old, 134 forty-three years old, 171 forty-four years old, 108 forty-five years old, 53 forty-six years old, 46 forty-seven years old, 35 forty-eight years old, 31 forty-nine years old, 141 fifty years old and over, making the average age of these officers on entry into the service 27½ years.

The foregoing would establish the average age at time of entry into the service to have been of the commissioned officers 27½ years, and of the enlisted men, 25 years.

WHERE THE MEN WERE OBTAINED.

It is impracticable, in fact impossible, to obtain any accurate figures of the number of men furnished during the war by each county, city, town and village of the state. The best that can be done, is to indicate here the organizations (original or new; recruits not considered) to which the counties of the state contributed men; those marked * being entirely recruited in the county, to which they are credited, all others only in part. There were recruited:

IN THE STATE AT LARGE:

Infantry; 44th regiment; the original plan, for each town and ward to furnish one man, was not adhered to closely.

IN THE COUNTY OF ALBANY:

Cavalry; regiments, 2d, 3d, 6th, 7th, 9th, 12th, 13th, 16th, 18th, 20th, 21st, 22d, 25th, 1st Mounted Rifles, 1st and 2d Veteran.
Artillery; regiments, battery M, 1st; batteries C (new) and M, 2d; 4th, 7th, 13th, 14th and 16th; independent batteries, 11th and 12th.
Sharpshooters; companies, 9th.
Engineers; regiments, 15th and 50th.
Infantry; regiments, 2d, 3d, 7th Veteran, 9th, 17th Veteran, 18th, 20th, 22d, 30th, 34th, 43d, 44th, 61st, 62d, 63d, 91st, 93d, 104th, 148th, 175th, 177th, 179th, 184th, 186th, 188th, 189th, 192d, 194th.

IN THE COUNTY OF ALLEGANY:

Cavalry; regiments, 5th, 6th, 12th, 15th, 22d, 2d Mounted Rifles, 1st Veteran, 1st Dragoons.
Artillery; regiments, 4th and 13th.
Engineers; regiments, 1st and 15th (new).

IN THE COUNTY OF BROOME:

Cavalry; regiments, 3d, 6th, 11th, 1st Veteran, 1st Dragoons.
Artillery; regiments, battery M, 3d; independent batteries, 16th*.
Engineers; regiments, 15th and 50th.
Infantry; regiments, 27th, 89th, 90th, 109th, 124th, 137th, 155th, 161st, 168th, 179th, 194th.

IN THE COUNTY OF CATTARAUGUS:

Cavalry; regiments, 5th, 6th, 9th, 10th, 22d, 2d Mounted Rifles, 1st Veteran.
Artillery; regiments, 3d, 13th and 14th.
Sharpshooters; companies, 9th.
Infantry; regiments, 19th, 37th, 64th, 71st, 85th, 100th, 105th, 122d, 154th, 160th, 179th, 183d, 187th, 188th, 194th.

IN THE COUNTY OF CAYUGA:

Cavalry; regiments, 8th, 10th, 11th, 22d, 23d, 24th.
Artillery; regiments, batteries A (new), C, D (new), G (new), K (new), 3d; 4th, 9th, 16th; independent batteries, 1st*.
Engineers; regiments, 15th and 50th.
Sharpshooters; companies, 8th.
Infantry; regiments, 19th, 24th, 75th, 111th, 116th, 160th, 193d, 194th.

IN THE COUNTY OF CHAUTAUQUA:

Cavalry; regiments, 9th, 15th, 22d.
Artillery; regiments, 13th, 14th.
Engineers; regiments, 15th (new).
Sharpshooters; companies, 7th, 8th.
Infantry; regiments, 21st, 49th, 72d, 90th, 100th, 112th, 154th, 156th, 179th, 183d, 187th, 188th, 194th.

IN THE COUNTY OF CHEMUNG:

Cavalry; regiments, 2d, 3d, 5th, 7th, 10th, 15th, 16th, 21st, 24th, 1st Veteran.

Artillery; regiments, batteries B, F, K and L, 1st; C and M, 3d; 5th, 13th, 14th, 16th; independent batteries, 33d.
Engineers; regiments, 15th, 50th.
Infantry; regiments, 3d, 23d, 33d, 35th, 38th, 86th, 103d, 107th, 141st, 161st, 179th, 187th, 194th.

IN THE COUNTY OF CHENANGO:

Cavalry; regiments, 8th, 10th, 20th, 22d.

COST OF THE WAR IN MONEY.

The Legislature passed in 1865 an act requiring supervisors, county treasurers and certain city officials, to report to the chief of the Bureau of Military Records the amount of money expended by them officially for every purpose connected with the war. In his last report, made in 1868, the chief of this bureau reported having received statements from forty-seven counties to December 31, 1865; from twelve counties to December 31, 1864; from five cities to December 31, 1864; from seven hundred and seventy-one towns to December 31, 1865; from one hundred and thirty-two towns to December 31, 1864; none at all from one county and twenty-five towns. With the transfer of the bureau to the Adjutant-General's Department, the collection of the wanting reports ceased. According to the statements received, the amounts paid for bounties, fees and expenses, interest on loans, and for the support of the families of soldiers were:

In the forty-seven counties, which rendered full reports....	$58,523,509 01
In the twelve counties, which rendered incomplete reports..	7,404,447 50
In the five cities, which rendered incomplete reports.....	2,694,666 27
In the seven hundred and seventy-one towns, which rendered full reports	32,265,128 95
In the one hundred and thirty-two towns, which rendered incomplete reports	4,142,991 60
		$105,030,743 33
Estimates based on the reports received, where no complete, or no reports at all were made, would give additional amounts:
For the twelve counties, which rendered incomplete reports, for 1865	$1,851,111 84
For the five cities, which rendered incomplete reports, for 1865	898,222 09
For the one hundred and thirty-two towns, which rendered incomplete reports, for 1865.....	1,380,997 20
For the one county, which rendered no report at all, for the whole period	1,148,797 87
For the twenty-five towns, which rendered no reports at all, for the whole period.....	1,046,210 00
		6,325,339 00
Voluntary contributions and subscriptions on the part of the people were reported in five hundred and thirty-five towns to have amounted to.....	$1,757,184 17
Add to this estimated amount, for the remaining towns....	1,290,788 85
		3,047,973 02
The state paid and expended:
In organizing, subsisting, equipping, uniforming and transporting Volunteers, $5,101,873.79; of which the General Government has reimbursed the state over $4,000,000, and more may yet be obtained; but it is estimated that owing to lack of proper evidence of legal expenditure, or incomplete vouchers, unless the existing laws be modified, allowance will not be made by the U. S. Treasury officials for at least	$900,000 00

August 5, 1861, Congress placed a direct tax of $20,000,000 upon the states; the amount allotted to New York was $2,603,918.32. The United States Government has since reimbursed the state.
Bounties have been paid by the state, under the proclamation of Governor Morgan, and chapter 184, Laws of 1863, $9,182,000; under chapter 29, Laws of 1865, as reported by Paymaster-General Selden E. Marvin, $25,749,243.96; total of	$34,931,243 96
		$35,831,243 96
Grand total		$150,235,299 31

The amount credited to the five cities does not include voluntary contributions and subscriptions; and covers almost exclusively expenses for bounties only. Allowance is not made for interest on loans subsequent to 1865. Assistance to families of soldiers did not cease with that year. Nor are disbursements for the militia in July, 1863, and at other times, made necessary by the war, included. Thousands of dollars were contributed by the people in the shape of provisions, clothing, hospital and sanitary supplies. While there is scarcely a doubt that the cost of the war in actual outlay of money to the state and its people was two hundred millions, the sum of one hundred and sixty millions only is here claimed as being easily susceptible of proof.

BUREAU OF MILITARY RECORDS AND RELICS.

On the 20th December, 1862, Governor Morgan established a bureau in the office of the Adjutant-General, to be known as the Bureau of Military Statistics. The Legislature of 1863 recognized this bureau by making an appropriation for its support and defining the purpose for which it was established. In 1864, the Legislature repealed the act of 1863, made the institution an independent bureau, and declared the objects of said bureau to be: to collect and preserve in a permanent form the name of every person who has volunteered or been mustered, or who may hereafter volunteer or be mustered, into the service of the General Government, since April 15, 1861, and the personal history of such person while in such service, so far as the same can be ascertained; a record of the service of the several regiments, including an account of their organization and subsequent history, and also an account of the aid afforded by the several towns, cities and counties of the state. In 1865, the Legislature changed the name of the bureau to that of "Bureau of Military Record," and later, May 11th, passed an act to provide a suitable repository for the records of the War of the Rebellion and for other purposes; the fire-proof structure to be called the "Hall of Military Record." The city of Albany was to furnish the ground; $75,000 were voluntarily to be subscribed by the people of the state, and when $35,000 had been received work might be commenced. The city of Albany offered suitable ground; voluntary subscriptions to the amount of $35,353.69 were collected, and are still deposited with the Treasurer of the State; but the building was not commenced, owing, probably, to the building of the New Capitol, in which it was supposed suitable accommodation would be provided for the safety and care of the relics and records of the war. April 20, 1864, fifty-one battle-flags were, in the presence of the Governor, the Senate and the Assembly, presented to the state; July 4, 1865, another presentation of flags took place in the presence of the Governor and General Grant. These flags and many other relics of interest are deposited in the bureau. May 8, 1868, by an act of the Legislature the bureau was discontinued as an independent office, and retransferred to the department of the Adjutant-General of the state, and the appropriation limited to the taking care of the relics. April 30, 1887, the Legislature authorized the Adjutant-General to establish in his office a "Bureau of Records of the War of the Rebellion," and made a small appropriation to carry out the act of 1864. Since 1896 an appropriation has been made each year to complete the records of New York Volunteers; this work has been carried on and finished as far as it could be done with the material on hand.

In this bureau have been collected several thousand relics of the war; it is located on the second floor of the Capitol in Albany; all the relics and the colors deposited with the state are placed in airtight cases in the lobby on that floor. The colors referred to are as follows:

COLORS OF THE SECOND (HARRIS) CAVALRY.

1. Regimental color, blue silk; embroidered with likeness of Judge Harris, "Harris Light Cavalry," and "In God is Our Trust;" part of original staff.

2. Guidon, silk.

Two colors were presented to this regiment at Arlington Heights, December 5, 1861. One, a National Standard, by Judge Ira Harris, in whose honor the regiment was named; and one, an embroidered color, by Judge Henry E. Davies, whose son, J. Mansfield Davies, was its first commander. The former was worn out on the field; the latter, No. 1, was borne by the regiment in all its wanderings and many hard fought battles.

COLORS OF THE THIRD CAVALRY.

1. Staff with remnants of blue silk regimental flag, part of spearhead missing, tassels complete. Upon one side of banner appears the arms and motto of the state, and upon the other side the arms of the city of New York with the inscription, "3rd New York Cavalry N. Y. Vols., presented by the city of New York."

COLORS OF THE FIFTH (FIRST IRA HARRIS) CAVALRY.

1. Staff with trimmings for flag, staff broken in two places, plate on staff with the inscription, "1st Ira Harris Guards, presented by Hon. Ira Harris."

2. Silk flag, National, in fine condition, mounted upon original staff, spearhead and tassels complete. Inscription, "5th Regiment N. Y. Cav."

3. Small blue silk embroidered regimental banner, mounted upon original staff, spearhead and tassels complete. Arms of the state and motto worked in silk with "Ira Harris Guards" upon scroll. Engraved plate upon staff with the inscription, "Ira Harris Guards presented by Hon. Ira Harris."

2. National color, silk; original staff.

3. Regimental color, blue silk; painted arms of the city of New York. On plate, "8th Regiment, N. Y. S. V., 1863. Presented by the City of New York."

COLORS OF THE NINTH INFANTRY.

1. Silk flag, National, mounted upon original staff, top of staff gone and with it the spearhead; flag very much worn and tattered. Inscription upon plate, "Presented by the City of New York 1863," and also 9th Regiment, New York Vols.

2. Silk flag, National, very much worn and tattered; mounted upon original staff, spearhead broken and part gone. No inscription found.

3. Blue silk regimental banner, very much worn; mounted upon original staff, spearhead missing. On the staff is a silver plate with the inscription, "Presented by Mrs. Alman W. Griswold, to the 9th New York State Vols. June 5, 1861." "Lexington, April 19, 1776." Baltimore, April 19, 1861. "MEMORIA IN AETERNA."

4. Blue silk regimental banner, mounted upon original staff and in very bad condition. The banner has the appearance of one of those presented by the city of New York. Inscription nearly all gone.

5. 6. Blue silk guidons, in very bad condition and mounted upon original staffs, spearheads complete. Inscription, "9th N. Y. S. Vols."

COLORS OF THE TENTH INFANTRY.

1. National flag, silk, mounted upon original staff and in fair condition, spearhead missing. Inscription, "10th Regiment N. Y. Vols. Co. 'B.'"

2. Silk flag, National, mounted upon original staff and in fair condition, spearhead missing. Inscription, "10th New York Vols."

3. National color, silk; with staff. Presented to the regiment by Major-General Wool, at Fortress Monroe, September, 1861, on behalf of the city of New York.

This was the first American color raised over the custom house at Norfolk, Va., after the recovery of that place by Union troops. It was borne in the Seven Days' battles before Richmond, second Bull Run, Antietam and Fredericksburg. At the latter place it was shot from the hands of the bearer. Several of the guard were killed under it.

4. Silk flag, National, mounted upon original staff and in bad condition, cord, tassels and spearhead missing. The staff had evidently been hit in three places by bullets. Upon an engraved plate attached to staff is the inscription, "Presented to the 10th Regiment N. Y. Vols. by the City of New York 1863." Inscribed upon the flag, "10th Regiment N. Y. Vols." There appears also upon the flag the following lettering: "Geo. F. Hooper Col. Commanding, A. S. Wood, Major, Capt. Geo. M. Dewey, wounded. Capt. C. F. Angell, killed. Capt. Geo. F. Tait, wounded. Capt. Put. Field wounded. Capt. P. Henry, 1st Lieut. F. M. Clark, wounded, 1st Lieut. E. Van Winkle, 1st Lieut. H. Y. Russell wounded, 1st Lieut. W. H. Monk killed. 1st Lieut. G. W. Halstead, 2nd Lieut. G. Hackett wounded. 2nd Lieut H. Y. Curtis, 2nd Lieut J. A. Brady, 2nd Lieut W. F. Beers wounded. COLOR GUARD: C. H. White, D. S. Patterson, R. Groves, wounded. P. Petit, Killed." The engagements of the regiment are also inscribed upon flag.

5. Silk flag, National, mounted upon original staff, staff broken, cord, tassels and spearhead complete. Painted upon the staff is "10th N. Y. Vols."

6. Staff, with remnants of blue silk regimental banner attached, spearhead broken. The latter has the appearance of being hit with a shot. This banner was presented by Judge White of New York upon the departure of the regiment for the seat of war.

7. Blue silk regimental banner, mounted upon original staff and in fair condition, spearhead missing, trimmings complete. Upon one side of banner appears the arms and motto of the State of New York with the inscription, "Presented by the City of New York," and upon the reverse side the arms and motto of the city of New York with the inscription, "10th Regiment N. Y. Vols., presented by the City of New York."

At the second Bull Run the 5th and 10th were sent into a piece of woods and entirely flanked on both flanks by the enemy, and driven from the ground. The color bearer of the 10th was killed, and the flag here presented was captured by a Georgia regiment and was taken to Milledgeville, where it was displayed in the capitol as a trophy. It was afterward recaptured by General Slocum's column of General Sherman's army, on the march from Atlanta to Savannah. Colonel Rodgers, of General Slocum's staff, removed it from the capitol and transmitted it to the archives of the state, through Maj-Gen. Daniel Butterfield.

COLORS OF THE ELEVENTH INFANTRY.

1. National color, silk; little worn; original staff. Presented by Laura Keene.

2. Regimental color, white silk. Painted with arms of fire department of the city of New York. Inscribed, "1st Regiment New York Zouaves." "The Star Spangled Banner in triumph shall wave." Original staff, cord and tassels. Presented to the regiment by John R. Platt, president, on behalf of the fire department of the city of New York.

COLORS OF THE TWELFTH INFANTRY.

1. National color, silk. Presented to the regiment by the ladies of Syracuse, May 2, 1861, and carried by the regiment through every service in which it was engaged.

2. Blue silk regimental banner, unmounted and in very bad condition, the center nearly all gone. From the Secretary of War, under joint resolution of Congress, approved February 28, 1905.

COLORS OF THE THIRTEENTH INFANTRY.

1. National color, silk; with staff. This color was borne in the first battle of Bull Run only. The holes in its union were made upon that occasion.

2. National color, bunting; with staff. This color was carried by the regiment in all its marches and actions.

3. Regimental color, blue silk; with staff, embroidered on one side with eagle and motto, "God and our country;" on the other, state arms painted, with number of regiment. Presented to the regiment by the ladies of Rochester.

COLORS OF THE FOURTEENTH INFANTRY.

1. National color, bunting; much worn; staff gone. Presented to the regiment on its departure for the field by Governor Morgan, on behalf of the State of New York, and returned to Governor Seymour, soiled and tattered, but not dishonored.

COLORS OF THE SIXTEENTH INFANTRY.

1. National color, silk; faded and worn; with staff and spearhead. Presented to the regiment by the wife of Col. Joseph Howland, at Camp Franklin, near Alexandria, in March, 1862.

2. Regimental color, blue silk; painted with shield, etc., but almost entirely destroyed; staff, etc. Presented to the regiment by the wife of Col. Joseph Howland, of Fishkill, N. Y., in June, 1861.

These colors have been borne in eighteen battles, skirmishes and reconnoisances, the principal of which were West Point, Va., Gaines' Mill and the six following days of fighting and marching; Crampton Gap, Antietam and first and second Fredericksburg. At Gaines' Mill the color bearers were three times shot down, and all except one of the color guard were either killed or wounded. The regimental color was in every march and in every battle in which the regiment participated. It was struck by a ball, while in the hands of the color bearer, and the ferule indented so that it could not be moved on the staff. At Crampton Gap, Corporal Charles H. Conant was instantly killed by a minie ball through the head, while holding one of the colors, and Corporal Robert Watson, of the color guard, was shot through the leg.

COLORS OF THE SEVENTEENTH INFANTRY.

1. National color, silk; embroidered with number of regiment; much worn; spearhead gone. Presented to the regiment by eight ladies, friends of Col. H. S. Lansing.

2. Regimental color, white silk. Painted on one side with arms of State of New York, and "17th Regiment New York Volunteers," and on the other with eagle, shield and number of regiment. Original staff, with plate inscribed: "Presented to the Westchester Chasseurs by the ladies of Westchester County, May, 1861."

3. Regimental color, blue silk. Painted with arms of the city of New York, and figures and words, "17th Regiment N. Y. V.; presented by the City of New York." Original staff gone.

COLORS OF THE EIGHTEENTH INFANTRY.

1. National color, silk; with inscription, "Rally around them," "18th Reg. N. Y. V." Presented to the regiment by the lady friends of Col. William A. Jackson, Albany, June 1, 1861, shortly before departure for the field.

COLORS OF THE TWENTY-FIRST INFANTRY.

1. National color, silk; with staff.

This color was presented to the 21st Infantry by the young ladies of the Central school of the city of Buffalo, in the spring of 1861. It was carried by the regiment in the following battles: Rappahannock Station, Sulphur Springs, Groveton, second Bull Run, Chantilly, South Mountain, Antietam and Fredericksburg. In the second battle at Bull Run, five enlisted men were killed and wounded while carrying it, and the eagle at the top of the staff was shot off.

COLORS OF THE TWENTY-SECOND INFANTRY.

1. National color, silk; forty-six bullet holes in the color, and on the staff is a break where it was struck by a shot.

This was the second flag carried by the regiment, the first having been lost at second Bull Run, where the regiment lost 266 men killed and wounded. It was carried in the battles of South Mountain, Fredericksburg and Chancellorsville.

COLORS OF THE TWENTY-THIRD INFANTRY.

1. National flag, silk, in fair condition and mounted upon original staff, spearhead missing. No inscription.

2. Staff, with small piece of blue silk regimental banner. The remnant of the banner would indicate that it was a banner received from the state; spearhead missing. Inscribed upon an engraved plate on staff, "Presented by the Citizens of Elmira to the 23rd Regiment New York Vols. Col. Hoffman, Commanding."

COLORS OF THE TWENTY-FOURTH INFANTRY.

1. National color, silk, with original staff.

This color is inscribed with its own history. Upon one side, "Falmouth, Rappahannock Station, Warrenton Springs, Gainesville, Groveton, 2nd Bull Run, South Mountain, Antietam, Fredericksburg, Rappahannock Crossing, Chancellorsville," and upon the other, "24th Regiment, Iron Brigade, 1st Division, 1st Army Corps."

COLORS OF THE TWENTY-FIFTH INFANTRY.

1. National color, silk; much worn and torn; mounted upon staff. No record or inscription found.

COLORS OF THE TWENTY-SIXTH INFANTRY.

1. National color, bunting; mounted upon staff.

This flag was carried by the regiment during its entire term of service. It bears the marks of bullets and of blood, five good and true men having fallen beneath its folds.

COLORS OF THE TWENTY-SEVENTH INFANTRY.

1. National color, silk; much worn.

The 27th Regiment received this color, May 22, 1861, from Company "G," and this company received it the same day from Mrs. Philip Church, of Belvidere. It was borne in the battles of first Bull Run, Mechanicsville, West Point, Gaines' Mill, Goldsborough's Farm, Chickahominy, White Oak Creek, Malvern Hill, Crampton Pass, Antietam and the first and second battles of Fredericksburg. The bearer at Gaines' Mill was severely wounded. The color has been many times struck by the enemy's shot, and the larger holes were made by fragments of shell. The star, in the case appended to the lance, was literally shot out of the color while the regiment was storming the Heights of Fredericksburg, in May, 1863. It was contributed by A. L. Van Ness, of Dansville, N. Y., who was the color bearer in that assault.

2. National color, silk.

This color was presented to Company "H," May 16, 1861, by the ladies of Mount Morris, Livingston county; was returned by the company to the donors, May 21, 1863, and by the latter deposited in the state archives.

COLORS OF THE TWENTY-EIGHTH INFANTRY.

1. Guidon, silk.

At the battle of Chancellorsville, John Otto Swan, of Medina, aged fifteen years (enlisted as a drummer, and then acting as a marker), displayed great activity and energy. A soldier of Company "E" was shot dead, when the boy took this color from its staff, put it in his pocket, adjusted upon himself the accoutrements of the dead soldier, and fought gallantly in the ranks until, with sixty-five men and three officers, he was taken prisoner. Concealing the color under the lining of his coat, he kept it with him when taken to Richmond, and managed to bring it away unobserved when exchanged and sent home. The color has been deposited by the lad's father, as an honorable memorial of the services of a patriotic son.

2. National color. Presented by ladies of Batavia, friends of Company "F," while regiment was encamped at Muddy Branch in 1861.

3. National color. At battle of Cedar Mountain, April 9, 1862, the color bearer, William Lewis, and all of the color guard were killed or wounded and the color was captured. Sergeant Lewis succeeded in cutting a piece out of it, which he gave, on his return, to Colonel Brown. In 1882, while visiting the flag room in the War Department, Washington, D. C., Colonel Brown, upon investigation, identified one of the flags there by the piece cut from it as the colors lost by the regiment at Cedar Mountain, and upon his application the War Department restored the color to the veteran organization, which presented it to the State May 23, 1905.

4. National color. Bears the inscription "Shenandoah, Va., Winchester, Cedar Mountain, 28th Regt. N. Y. V., Rappahannock, Antietam, Chancellorsville."

5. Small silk marker, presented by the Veteran Association May 23, 1905.

COLORS OF THE TWENTY-NINTH INFANTRY.

1. National color, silk; much worn and tattered; the service color of the regiment. Presented by the city of New York.

2. National color, silk; in good condition; plate on staff inscribed, "29th Regiment, N. Y. Vols., 1863. Presented by the City of New York."

3. Regimental color, blue silk; painted arms of the city of New York, and inscription, "29th Regiment, N. Y. V. Presented by the City of New York."

4. 5. Guidons, silk.

COLORS OF THE THIRTIETH INFANTRY.

1. National color, bunting; original staff gone.

At the second battle of Bull Run, these colors fell, during the engagement, in the hands of ten different men shot dead on the field. Thirty-six balls passed through the Stars and Stripes, and the staff was shot into splinters.

COLORS OF THE THIRTY-FIRST INFANTRY.

1. National flag, silk; mounted upon original staff; spearhead missing; flag in fair condition. No inscription found.

2. Blue silk regimental banner, very much worn and rolled up upon the inside of National color on the same staff. No staff or inscription found.

COLORS OF THE THIRTY-SECOND INFANTRY.

1. National color, silk; with staff. Plate on staff engraved: "Presented to the 32nd Regt., N. Y. S. Vols., June 28th, 1861, by Mrs. Wm. Laimbier, Jr."

2. Regimental color, blue silk. Painted with arms of the city of New York. Inscribed, "32nd Regiment, N. Y. V. Presented by the City of New York." Original staff, cord and tassels. About one-half of color gone.

These colors have been borne with honor in seven battles.

COLORS OF THE THIRTY-FOURTH INFANTRY.

1. National color, bunting; staff and trimmings gone; flag attached to curtain pole. No inscription found.

COLORS OF THE THIRTY-FIFTH INFANTRY.

1. Regimental color, silk; richly embroidered with the state arms and motto, and inscribed, "Jefferson Co., 35th Regiment, N. Y. S. V." "The Union, the Constitution, and the Enforcement of the Laws."

2. National color, silk; worn.

The regimental color was obtained by subscription on the part of the officers of the regiment. The National color was purchased by Hon. A. W. Clark, Hon. C. B. Hoard and others. They were borne by the regiment in the following engagements: Rappahannock, White Sulphur Springs, Groveton, second Bull Run, Chantilly, South Mountain, Antietam and Fredericksburg.

COLORS OF THE THIRTY-SEVENTH INFANTRY.

1. National color, bunting; with original staff. Presented to the regiment in July, 1861.

It was in the following battles, viz.: First Bull Run (in reserve), Williamsburg, Fair Oaks, Glendale, Malvern Hill, Second Bull Run, Chantilly, Fredericksburg and Chancellorsville, and in several skirmishes before Yorktown and Richmond in 1862.

2. Brigade battle color (red, white and red), bunting, with the number (1) in the center to designate both the brigade and the ranking regiment of the brigade. Received at Hampton, Va., April, 1862.

It was in the battles already named except first Bull Run.

3. National color, silk.

The regiment received a new stand of colors from the city of New York, in February, 1863, comprising a National color, regimental color and two guidons. The National color belonging to this stand was lost at Chancellorsville. It was removed from the staff by Lloyd, the bearer, and wrapped around his body, as it was liable to be torn in passing the tangled brush through which he was obliged to creep. This brave and intelligent soldier was killed and his body was buried without suspecting that the color was wrapped around his person, under his coat. Repeated efforts were made to find his grave, but without success. This color replaced the original.

4. Regimental color, green silk; emblazoned with harp and shamrock, and the inscriptions: "37th Regiment Irish Rifles, N. Y. Volunteers." "The first regiment of Irish Volunteers in the field." "Williamsburg," "Fair Oaks," "Glendale," "Malvern Hill," "Fredericksburg." Presented to the regiment by the city of New York, February, 1863.

This color was with the regiment at Chancellorsville.

5. 6. Guidons, blue silk. Presented to the regiment by the city of New York, February, 1863.

COLORS OF THE THIRTY-EIGHTH INFANTRY.

1. National color, bunting.

2. Regimental color, blue silk; emblazoned with arms of the city of New York and "38th Regiment, N. Y. Volunteers. Presented by the City of New York."

These colors were presented to the regiment by the citizens and the city of New York. They were not received by the regiment until after its engagement in the battle of first Bull Run, but were borne in all its subsequent services.

COLORS OF THE FORTIETH INFANTRY.

1. National color, bunting; much worn; original staff.

This first color was presented to the regiment July 3, 1861, at Yonkers, N. Y., by Hon. Fernando Wood, mayor of New York, on behalf of the Union Defense Committee. It was borne in the sieges of Yorktown and Richmond (1862), and in the battles of Williamsburg, Fair Oaks, Robinson's Field, Glendale, White Oak Swamp, Malvern Hill, Hay Market, Bull Run (2nd) and Chantilly, besides several skirmishes. Color-Sergeant Joseph Conroy carried this color into action at Fair Oaks, and was killed on that field. Color-Corporal Charles Boyle then took the colors; was wounded and ordered to the rear; refused to go, and was killed soon after. Color-Corporal George Miller bore it at Robinson's Field, Glendale, Malvern Hill, Hay Market, Bull Run and Chantilly. He died of disease. Color-Corporal Alfred Conklin carried it at Williamsburg, Fair Oaks and Malvern Hill. He died of disease at Harrison's Landing. Color-Corporal Edwin Howard carried it at Bull Run and Chantilly; was distinguished in all the battles of the regiment, and wounded at Fredericksburg. Color-Corporal Oliver P. Bisbing carried it at Williamsburg and Fair Oaks, and was killed in the last named battle. Color-Corporal John Brundage carried it at Wiliamsburg, Fair Oaks, Glendale, Malvern Hill and Bull Run, and was killed in the latter battle. Private Joseph Browne carried it at Hay Market, Bull Run and Chantilly; was distinguished in eight engagements, and was promoted color-sergeant. Color-Corporal Robert Grieves carried it at Williamsburg, Fair Oaks and Malvern Hill; was wounded and promoted at Fair Oaks. Color-Corporal Thomas Read carried it at Williamsburg, Fair Oaks, Malvern Hill, Bull Run and Chantilly; was always distinguished, and was afterward killed at Fredericksburg. Color-Corporal Thomas Braslin carried it at Fair Oaks, and was dangerously wounded. Color-Corporal Horatio N. Shepherd carried it at Malvern Hill, Bull Run and Chantilly. Color-Corporal Jacob D. Bennett carried it at Williamsburg, Fair Oaks and Malvern Hill; Color-Corporal Wm. Moyne carried it at Williamsburg, and Color-Corporal Joel Slattery carried it at Malvern Hill, Bull Run and Chantilly; was afterward badly wounded at Fredericksburg.

2. Silk flag, National, in fair condition, mounted upon original staff, spearhead and tassels missing. Inscription on flag, "MOZART."

3. Blue silk regimental banner, in fair condition and mounted upon original staff, spearhead and tassels complete. Upon each side of banner appears the arms of the United States with the inscription, "40th Regiment N. Y. Vols."

COLORS OF THE FORTY-FIRST INFANTRY.

1. Silk flag, National, in fine condition and mounted upon original staff, spearhead and trimmings complete. Inscription, "41st Regt. N. Y. Vols."

2. Blue silk banner, in fine condition and mounted upon original staff, spearhead and tassels complete. Inscription, "41st Regiment New York State Vols." It also has the arms of the state; also the arms of the city of New York. Banner presented to the regiment by the city of New York.

3. 4. Blue silk guidons, mounted upon original staffs and in fair condition, spearhead and trimmings complete. Inscription, "41st Regiment N. Y. Vols."

COLORS OF THE FORTY-THIRD INFANTRY.

1. National color, bunting.

This color was obtained from the general government, and was carried by the regiment until about the middle of September, 1862, when it gave place to a silk color presented by the ladies of the city of New York. The new color was carried until the 6th of May, 1864, when, with its bearer, Sergeant Hackett, it was captured by the enemy. Sergeant Hackett concealed the colors on his person and, after his death in Andersonville Prison, they were buried with his body. In July, 1864, the regiment was presented, by the Albany Burgesses Corps, with a color and guidons, which were carried until the close of the war.

2. National color, silk, mounted upon original staff, spearhead and tassels missing. No inscription found.

3. Small blue silk guidon; this has a white center piece with the 6th Corps badge in center and the 43rd worked on the same. No other record.

COLORS OF THE FORTY-FOURTH INFANTRY.

1. National color, silk; faded and ragged; letters and words in gilt, "P. E. R. 44th Regt. N. Y. V." The following inscription is engraved on the plate attached to the staff: "Presented by Mrs. Erastus Corning, Albany October 21, 1861; returned to the donor, January, 1863, in exchange for a new color, and by her deposited in the Bureau of Military Statistics."

This color was borne by the regiment in all its engagements up to January, 1863, viz.: Siege of Yorktown, Hanover Court House,* Gaines' Mill, Turkey Island Bend, Malvern Hill, second Bull Run, Antietam (in reserve), Shepardstown Ford and Fredericksburgh.

2. National color, silk; much worn. Presented by Mrs. Erastus Corning, January, 1863, in exchange for the original color of the regiment, and deposited by her in the Bureau.

This color was carried by the regiment in all its engagements during the years 1863 and 1864, and was brought home by it in October of the latter year. In the action at Spotsylvania Court House about eighteen inches of the staff was taken off, and also the eagle and top of staff, by shot.

7. National color, silk; original staff.

8. Regimental color, blue silk. Emblazoned with arms of the State of New York; original staff.

9. 10. Guidons (two), bunting; original staff.

11. 12. Blue silk guidons, mounted upon original staffs, spearheads complete. Inscription, "59th Regt. N. Y. Vols."

Colors 1 and 2 were carried in all the battles and skirmishes in which the regiment participated, up to and including Gettysburg (July 3, 1863), where seven of the eight color-corporals were either killed or wounded.

In the charge on Marye's Heights, a shell from the enemy exploded directly over the second series of colors, shattered the top of the staff of the regimental color, and tore both colors (3 and 4) into shreds. The guidons were only used on parades and drills.

The colors of the third series were presented to the regiment by Col. William A. Olmstead, November, 1864. They have not been much worn, although marked by bullets received in the siege of Petersburgh, and in the numerous engagements which eventuated in the surrender of General Lee.

COLORS OF THE SIXTIETH INFANTRY.

1. Regimental color, blue silk. Painted arms State of New York, with Washington's Headquarters (Newburgh), and other Hudson river views in back ground. Inscribed, "60th Regt., N. Y. S. V." The words "Jehovah Nisi" (The Lord our Banner) embroidered; original staff, spearhead gone.

2. National color, silk; faded; worn.

3. National colors, bunting; mounted upon original staff, spearhead gone. Inscription sewed upon the color, "60th New York Vols."

Color No. 2 was borne at Chancellorsville, Gettysburg, Lookout Mountain, Missionary Ridge, Peavine Creek and Ringgold. At the battle of Lookout Mountain, Sergeant Leahy, who bore it, being twice hit, fell to the ground. Sergeant Buck sprang forward and seized it, and, with a coolness and bravery undisturbed by the whiz of bullets, steadily bore it in advance of the regiment.

4. Blue silk regimental banner, mounted upon original staff and in fine condition; eagle on top of staff gone. Upon each side of banner is painted the arms of the state and motto: there also is painted the engagements of the regiment with the inscription, "60th New York Vols."

COLORS OF THE SIXTY-FIRST INFANTRY.

It was in the battles of Yorktown, Fair Oaks, Peach Orchard, Savage Station, White Oak Swamp, Charles City Cross Roads, Malvern Hill, Antietam, Charlestown, Snicker's Gap and Fredericksburgh. At the battle of Fair Oaks, the color bearer and four of the color guard were killed. At Antietam, the color bearer, Frank Aldrich, was killed, and flagstaff shot in three pieces.

2. National color, silk; with original staff.

This color was presented to the regiment by the city of New York in 1861. It was used as the parade color until the Peninsula campaign, when it was laid aside. In the spring of 1863, it was brought into service, and was carried through the battles of Chancellorsville, Gettysburg, Auburn, Bristow Station and Mine Run. At Gettysburg, the color bearer and two of the color guard were wounded.

3. National color, silk; field all gone, and three-fourths of stripes.

This color was carried by the regiment during the campaign of 1864, at the Wilderness, Todd's Tavern, Po River, Cobbany Bridge, Totopotomoy Creek, Cold Harbor, Petersburg (three), Deep Bottom (two), White's Tavern, Spotsylvania, South Anna, Reams' Station.

4. National color, silk; original staff. Inscribed on plate, "61st Regt., N. Y. S. V., 1863. Presented by the City of New York."

5. 6. Regimental color, blue silk. Emblazoned with arms and motto of the United States, and "61st N. Y. Vol. Regiment Infantry. Presented by the City of New York."

These colors were in every action in which the 2d Corps took part from October, 1864. They were first unfurled on the ramparts of Fort McGilvery, in front of Petersburgh, and from thence in the following engagements: Hatcher's Run, Petersburg to March 25th, Boydtown Road (two), Sutherland's Plantation, Sailor's Creek, Cumberland Church and the surrender of Lee. During this campaign, four of the color guard were disabled (two killed).

COLORS OF THE SIXTY-SECOND INFANTRY.

2. Silk flag, National, in fair condition and mounted upon original staff, spearhead and tassels complete. Upon a paper attached to the staff is the following, "75th Regiment N. Y. Vols. Mustered out, August 31, 1865. Lt. Col. Robert P. York, Commanding."

3. Regimental color, blue silk. Embroidered with coat of arms of the State of New York, and "75th Regiment, N. Y. S. V.;" original staff, cord and tassels. Flag and staff shattered and marked by bullets. Presented to the regiment by the ladies of Auburn.

4. Blue silk regimental banner, in fair condition and mounted upon original staff. spearhead missing. Upon each side of banner appears the arms and motto of the United States and also the inscription, "75th Regiment New York Vols.," and upon the staff written upon a paper that is pasted thereon, "75th Regiment New York Vols. mustered out August 31, 1865, Lt. Col. Robert P. York, Commanding." At Port Hudson the gallant color bearer who received the National flag from the ladies of Auburn, was killed, a bullet from the enemy piercing his heart. As he fell, the colors were snatched from his death grasp by a corporal, who waved them in defiance.

COLORS OF THE SEVENTY-SIXTH INFANTRY.

1. National color, silk; in tatters; original staff gone.

2. Regimental banner, mounted; banner nearly all gone.

This color was presented to the regiment, on the steps of the capitol in Albany, on its departure for the field, by Mrs. Campbell, of York Mills, Oneida county, with public ceremonies. It was carried until December, 1863, during which time it was borne in the battles of Rappahannock Station, Warrenton, Sulphur Springs, Gainesville, second Bull Run, South Mountain, Antietam, Upperville, Fredericksburg, Chancellorsville, Gettysburg and Mine Run.

It received fifteen musket balls and one twelve-pound shot through it in action. The color bearer, Sergeant Stamp, was killed at South Mountain. At Gettysburg, the color bearer was wounded just as the regiment was falling back, and came near being captured, but was rescued by Private John Stephens, of Company "H," who left the ranks under the fire of the enemy, and recovered the color in safety.

COLORS OF THE SEVENTY-SEVENTH INFANTRY.

1. Regimental color, blue silk; original staff. The design painted upon each side (now torn and defaced) was the number of the regiment and arms of the state and motto, at the side of which was represented the surrender of Burgoyne in 1777, upon which occasion the American Stars and Stripes were said to have been first displayed. Presented to the regiment by the sons of Saratoga county, resident in New York, upon its departure for the field November 29, 1861.

This color was carried in the battle of Lee's Mills, the siege of Yorktown, battles of Mechanicsville, Golding's Farm, Garnet's Hill, White Oak Swamp, Crampton Pass, Antietam, Fredericksburg, Marye's Heights and Gettysburg. The bearers were Sergeant Isaac Bemis and, afterward, Corporal Michael McWilliams. In the charge up Marye's Heights one of the color guard was killed and the color torn in shreds by a shell.

2. Guidon; staff gone. Two guidons were presented with the regimental color and were used during the same period. That on the right side of the line was crimson, and that on the left blue. The crimson guidon is returned.

3. National color, silk; about half gone; end ragged; the field in ribbons and but little left; bears the inscriptions, "Winchester, Sept. 19, 1864; Fisher's Hill, Sept. 22, 1864; Cedar Creek, Oct. 19, 1864." Original staff, the top of which was shot off in the Wilderness, May 6, 1864.

This color was presented to the regiment by the ladies of Temple Grove Seminary, Saratoga Springs, November 29, 1861, and was carried during three years' service. The lettering was placed upon it after the regiment left the field, in accordance with an order from General Sheridan to the Army of the Shenandoah. In the battle of Chancellorsville the field was torn out by a shell from the enemy's cannon. Among its bearers in battle Corporal Joseph Meurer was instantly killed at Antietam; Corporal Michael McWilliams was killed in the Wilderness (May 6th); Corporal Horrigan of the color guard was killed at Cedar Creek (October 19th); and Corporal Henry Myres was shot through the right hand in the Wilderness (May 10th). It was in every battle in which the 6th Corps took part, up to November, 1864, including Fort Stevens (Washington, D. C.), Winchester, Fisher's Hill and Cedar Creek.

4. National color, silk; "77th Regt. N. Y. S. V.," embroidered.

5. 6. Guidons, blue silk; faded; corps badge of 6th Corps in center in white, on which is "77."

These colors were in service in the battalion which the 77th left in the field, from November, 1864, to the return of the battalion in July, 1865. They were in the charge at Petersburgh (April 2d).

COLORS OF THE SEVENTY-EIGHTH INFANTRY.

1. National color, silk; nearly all gone; flagstaff has been twice broken by bullets; the lower break has been mended; the upper one is still unrepaired. On silver plate on the staff, "78th Regiment, N. Y. V. 1863. Presented by the City of New York."

This color was presented to the regiment in the summer of 1863, at Fairfax Court House, Va. It was carried in several skirmishes in Virginia, and accompanied the regiment to the west, where it was borne in the battles of Wauhatchie, Lookout Mountain, Resaca, Dallas, Lost Mountain, Pine Knob, Kenesaw, Peach Tree Creek, and siege of Atlanta; was carried through the campaign to Savannah, and was the first to enter that city; was also carried in the late Carolina campaign. One color bearer was severely wounded at Resaca, and one at Lost Mountain.

COLORS OF THE SEVENTY-NINTH INFANTRY.

1. Silk flag, National, in very bad condition and mounted upon staff, spearhead complete. The engagements in which the regiment was engaged painted upon flag. Engraved plate upon staff with the inscription, "79th Regiment N. Y. Vols., presented by the City of New York."

2. Silk flag, National, in fine condition and mounted upon original staff, spearhead and tassels complete. Inscription, "79th New York Vols."

3. Blue silk regimental banner, in fair condition and mounted upon original staff, spearhead complete. Upon one side of banner appears the arms of the state and upon the other side the arms of the city of New York. Inscription, "79th Regiment New York Vols., presented by the City of New York."

4. 5. Blue silk guidons, in bad condition and mounted upon original staffs, spearheads complete. Inscription, "79th Regt. N. Y. Vols."

6. 7. Blue silk guidons, in very bad condition, mounted on original staffs, one spearhead gone. Inscription, "79th Regt. N. Y. Vols."

COLORS OF THE EIGHTIETH INFANTRY.

1. National color, silk; "20th Regiment, N. Y. S. M.," in gilt; original staff gone. Presented to the regiment by the ladies of Poughkeepsie.

This color was in the battles of Norman's Ford, Warrenton Springs, Gainesville, second Bull Run (where Colonel Pratt was mortally wounded), Chantilly, South Mountain, Antietam and Fredericksburgh. The color bearers were repeatedly shot down, and some of its officers were shot while holding the colors.

2. Regimental color, blue silk; embroidered with eagle and arms of the State of New York; "20th Regiment, N. Y. S. M., Ulster Guard," in scroll above arms; "Excelsior," in scroll below. Also the words, "Washington, April 1861, Warrenton, Manassas, Norman's Ford, Chantilly, South Mountain, Antietam." Below all, the words "Presented by the ladies of Saugerties, N. Y." "Fredericksburg," affixed on paper in gilt letters. Marked by bullets; staff gone.

While carrying this color, Color-Sergeant Edward Becket was shot through the hand, the ball shattering the flagstaff. The gilt eagle was shot from the top of the staff on the third day of the engagement at Gettysburg. It was borne in the battles named in connection with the National color of the regiment, and also at Chancellorsville and at Gettysburg.

COLORS OF THE EIGHTY-FIRST INFANTRY.

1. National color, bunting.

This color was used as the storm color of the regiment. It was flying from the Colonel's tent at Seven Pines when the regiment fell back with Casey's Division to the second line, May 31, 1862. It was left behind but, being remembered, was returned for and recovered. The Colonel's tent took fire at Northwest Landing, Va., March, 1864, and burned the color somewhat.

2. National color, silk; accompanied by the original staff, which was broken in four places by shot and shell.

This color was presented to the regiment, December 3, 1863, by Mrs. E. C. Ingersoll, of Lee, Oneida county, N. Y., and was in service from January 1, 1864, to January 1, 1865, in the following engagements, viz.: Violet Station, Drury's Bluff, Cold Harbor, Petersburg, Fort Harrison and second Fair Oaks, and in several skirmishes. The staff was broken in four parts by shot and shell, one of which (a minie ball) struck between the hands of the color-sergeant, Evan Michaels, and passed through his body, inflicting a mortal wound. The eagle, surmounting the staff, was carried away by a shot, and not recovered. The color shows thirty-six bullet holes, and in its field are two holes made by cannon shot. In carrying this color four of the color guard were killed and fifteen wounded.

3. Silk flag, National, in fair condition and mounted upon original staff, spearhead and tassels missing. Inscription, "81st Regiment N. Y. Vols."

4. 5. Guidons, bunting; mounted upon original staffs. No inscription.

COLORS OF THE EIGHTY-SECOND INFANTRY.

1. Guidon, mounted upon staff furnished by state. Guidon received from the Secretary of War, under joint resolution of Congress, approved February 28, 1905. Inscription on guidon, "82nd N. Y. Vols."

This guidon was recaptured from the enemy. No history or record.

COLORS OF THE EIGHTY-THIRD INFANTRY.

1. Blue silk regimental banner, in very bad condition, staff and trimmings new. Upon one side of banner appears the arms of the State of New York and upon the other side the arms of the city of New York. Inscription, "Presented by the City of New York."

COLORS OF THE EIGHTY-FOURTH INFANTRY.

1. Silk flag, National, in fair condition, mounted upon original staff, spearhead and trimmings complete. No inscription.

COLORS OF THE EIGHTY-SIXTH INFANTRY.

1. National color, merino; lower red, white and part of the second red stripe gone, and also ends of stripes; has about twenty bullet holes in it.

This color was presented to Company "B" by the ladies of Addison, Steuben county, N. Y., and was regarded as the property of that company until the battle of Chancellorsville, when its Captain, William M. Angle, was killed, while gallantly leading his company in a charge on the enemy. It was then adopted by the regiment. It was always used as the battle-color of the regiment until the campaign of 1864, and was in the following engagements, viz.: Second Bull Run, Manassas Gap, Fredericksburg, Chancellorsville, Beverly Ford, Gettysburg, Wapping Heights, Auburn, Kelly's Ford, Orange Grove and Mine Run. Four color-sergeants were killed while carrying it in battle.

2. Regimental color, blue silk; in tatters. Painted with arms and motto of the United States and number of regiment; original staff, cord and tassels.

This color was obtained from the general government, in March, 1864, and was carried in the following battles and skirmishes, viz.: Wilderness, Spotsylvania, North Anna, Silver Creek, Petersburg, Deep Bottom, Hatcher's Run, Cold Harbor and Weldon Railroad, in all twenty-two engagements.

3. National color, silk; with staff.

4. Regimental color, blue silk; with eagle and motto of the United States; staff, etc.

5. 6. Guidons; with staff.

COLORS OF THE EIGHTY-SEVENTH INFANTRY.

1. National color, silk; somewhat worn and faded; staff entire; spearhead gone. Inscribed in needle work, "87th Reg., N. Y. S. V. Presented by the City of Brooklyn."

2. Regimental color, blue silk. Painted with the arms of city of New York, beneath which, in scroll, the words "Presented by the City of New York;" above arms, in scroll, the words "87th Regiment, N. Y. S. V.;" staff and tassels entire; spearhead gone.

3. Regimental color, white silk, large and rich; in center, in blue and gold, the arms of the city of Brooklyn, and underneath in scroll, the words, "Presented by the City of Brooklyn;" immediately over the arms, in scroll, the words, "Col. Stephen A. Dodge;" above the latter, in scroll, the words, "87th Regt., Brooklyn Rifles N. Y. S. V.;" staff and spearhead, the latter broken off.

COLORS OF THE NINETIETH INFANTRY.

1. National color, silk; original staff, cord and tassels. Inscription on plate, "90th Regiment, N. Y. S. V., 1863. Presented by the City of New York."

This color was carried by the regiment from September, 1864, to March, 1865. It bears the marks of many bullets and one piece of shell, and the staff is shattered by some flying missile. The color is marked with blood from the death wound of Sergeant Francis Foley, of Company "C," color bearer, who was killed at the battle of Cedar Creek, Va.

COLORS OF THE NINETY-FIRST INFANTRY.

1. National color, silk; faded, torn. Inscribed, "Irish Bend, April 14th, 1863; Vermillion Bayou, April 17th, 1863; Port Hudson, May 25th, 27th, and June 14th, 1863; Cox's Plantation, July 13th, 1863." Original staff, broken and brass ornament gone.

This color was presented to the 91st Regiment, by the wife of Col. J. W. Harcourt, of Albany, on its departure for the seat of war, December, 1861. At Port Hudson (May 27th), it was torn in two and the top of the staff carried away, while being borne by Corporal James E. Jones, of Company "D," who was wounded in the face by a splinter. Corporal Patrick H. Garrity, of Company "H," picked up the piece and the spear, and, being wounded in the foot, they were taken by him to the hospital. Subsequently they were returned to Mrs. Harcourt by Colonel Van Zandt. The remainder of the color and staff were carried by the regiment until its re-enlistment, in 1864, when they were also returned to Mrs. Harcourt. In the battle of Irish Bend, the color was borne by Sergeant Gill, of Company "C," and it was also borne by him at Port Hudson until he was wounded. It was then taken by Corporal Jones and when he was wounded, by Private Townsend, of Company "K." Private Townsend joined the regiment at Pensacola, having deserted the Confederate service (into which he had been pressed) at Mobile. He carried the color until the 14th of June, when, in the last battle at Port Hudson, he fell pierced with seven balls, one of which, as was ascertained after the surrender of the Confederate forces, was from a gun in the hands of his brother, who was a member of the 10th Alabama, and who recognized him at the instant of discharging his piece. Townsend subsequently died of his wounds. Corporal Garrity took the color from Townsend, and carried it until it was returned to its donor in 1864.

2. Silk guidon, unmounted. The center of guidon represents a white silk cross with the letters and figures, "91st N. Y. Vols." worked in silk. The guidon is pieced out on the top with red silk, and upon the bottom with blue silk.

COLORS OF THE NINETY-SECOND INFANTRY.

1. National color, silk; embroidered with name of regiment and the words, "Excelsior Rifle Battalion." Returned by the regiment, May 11, 1864.

This color was used by the regiment until it was so torn by bullets that it could not be unfurled.

2. Blue silk regimental banner (staff supplied by Adjutant-General). Upon each side of banner appears the arms and motto of the state with the inscription, "Deo Fidendum" and "92nd Regiment N. Y. Vols."

This banner was received from the Secretary of War, under joint resolution of Congress, approved February 28, 1905.

COLORS OF THE NINETY-THIRD INFANTRY.

1. Staff, original, with fragments of blue silk regimental banner attached, spearhead and tassels missing. Emblazonment entirely gone. Painted upon the staff, "93rd N. Y. Vols."

2. Blue silk regimental banner, mounted upon original staff; banner in good condition. Upon each side of banner appears the arms and motto of the United States. Inscription painted upon staff, "93rd N. Y. Vols."

3. 4. Silk guidons, National, one of which is mounted upon the original staff, with spearhead complete; the other upon a long square pole, no spearhead. No inscription.

COLORS OF THE NINETY-FOURTH INFANTRY.

1. Silk flag, National, in very bad condition and mounted, spearhead tied to staff. No inscription.

2. Blue silk regimental banner; banner nearly all gone; mounted upon original staff, spearhead missing. Small fragments left of the banner would indicate that it was emblazoned with the arms of the United States. No record found.

3. 4. Guidons, National, bunting, and mounted upon plain staffs. No inscription.

COLORS OF THE NINETY-FIFTH INFANTRY.

1. National color, silk; with silver band on staff, bearing the inscription, "95th Regiment, N. Y. S. V. Presented by the City of New York."

This color was sent to the regiment by the authorities of New York city, August 1, 1863. It was borne through the battles of Mine Run, Wilderness, Spotsylvania, Laurel Hill, North Anna, Totopotomoy Creek, Bottom's Ridge, Bethesda Church, Cold Harbor and Petersburg, when it became too dilapidated for further use. In the various fights in which it was borne six color bearers were shot.

2. Silk flag, National, in fair condition and mounted upon original staff, spearhead missing. Painted upon the staff, "95th Regt. N. Y. Vols."

3. Staff, with fragments of blue silk regimental banner; staff broken, spearhead and tassels gone. Painted upon staff, "95th Regt. N. Y. Vols."

COLORS OF THE NINETY-SIXTH INFANTRY.

1. National color, bunting.

The color here presented was in service until the 23d of November, 1862. In presenting new colors to the regiment at that time, Colonel Gray remarked, "That old color has passed through every conflict in which this regiment has participated; at Fair Oaks, Chickahominy Swamp, White Oak Swamp, Railroad Bridge, Bottom's Bridge, Long's Bridge, Jones' Ford, Charles City Cross Roads, Harrison's Point." In the battle at Kinston Colonel Gray was killed, and this color accompanied his remains to his former home.

2. Silk flag, National (staff furnished by the Adjutant-General). Flag in very bad condition. Received from the Secretary of War, under joint resolution of Congress, approved February 28, 1905.

COLORS OF THE NINETY-SEVENTH INFANTRY.

1. National color, silk. Inscribed, "Colonel Wheelock, 97th Conklin Rifles, N. Y." Accompanied by original staff (this flag was returned to Oneida county by an act of the Legislature, May 7, 1898).

This color was presented to the regiment by the ladies of Boonville, March, 1862, and was carried in the battles of Cedar Mountain, Rappahannock Station, Thoroughfare Gap, second Bull Run, Chantilly, South Mountain, Antietam, Fredericksburg, Chancellorsville, Gettysburg and Mine Run.

COLORS OF THE ONE HUNDRED AND THIRD INFANTRY.

1. Regimental color, silk; one-third gone; shield in center, surmounted by eagle, over which, in scroll, "103rd Regiment, N. Y. S. V.;" under shield, "Excelsior" in scroll; in upper corner, near the staff, are the words, "Presented by William H. Seward, March 1, 1862;" the whole embroidered.

2. National color, silk; worn; union rent in several places, portion of middle gone. Inscribed, "103rd Regt., N. Y. S. V."

These colors were presented to the regiment by Hon. William H. Seward. They were carried by the regiment on the expedition under General Burnside to North Carolina; from thence, on transfer, to the Army of the Potomac, were under General McClellan at South Mountain, Sharpsburg and Antietam, and in the terrible charge on Stone Bridge. They were in the engagement under General Burnside at Fredericksburg; under General Hooker at Chancellorsville; under General Meade at Gettysburg; under General Gilmore in the capture of Fort Wagner and Battery Gregg; under General Sheridan in Shenandoah Valley; and under General Butler at Bermuda Hundred.

3. Blue silk guidon, very badly worn. This guidon was received from the Secretary of War, under joint resolution of Congress, February 28, 1905. This guidon was captured by William W. Athey, Lieutenant, Company "G," 17th Regiment Virginia Infantry, at the battle of Sharpsburg, Md., September 17, 1862. Afterward recaptured.

4. 5. Blue silk guidons, mounted upon original staffs. Inscription, "103rd Regt. N. Y. Vols."

COLORS OF THE ONE HUNDRED AND FOURTH INFANTRY.

1. Regimental color, blue silk; embroidered with "Wadsworth Guard, N. Y. S. V.," and state arms and motto; on ferule, "Presented to the 104th Regiment, N. Y. S. V., Wadsworth Guard, by General James S. Wadsworth, April, 1862." Original staff.

This color was carried through the actions of Cedar Mountain, Rappahannock Station, Thoroughfare Gap, second Bull Run, South Mountain, Antietam, Fredericksburg, Chancellorsville and Gettysburg. One of its bearers was severely wounded at South Mountain, and another at Antietam. At Gettysburg, seven of the sergeants and color guard were killed and wounded, and the color barely saved by great vigilance, the National color (its companion) having been torn from its staff and stamped in the ground to conceal it from the enemy's notice.

2. Silk flag, National, mounted upon original staff and in fair condition, spearhead and tassels complete. Inscription, "104th Regiment N. Y. Vols." It has also painted upon it the engagements of the regiment.

3. Silk flag, National, in good condition (staff furnished by the Adjutant-General). Inscription on flag, "Wadsworth Guard's, 104th Regiment New York Vols." This flag was received from Washington, D. C., and placed in the Bureau, November 18, 1898.

THE WOMEN OF THE STATE.

The successful prosecution of the war is due to the women of the loyal states as much as to the men, and this record would be incomplete, if it failed to chronicle the patriotism of the women of New York. Their faith cheered the soldier in the dark days of the war and presaged victory. Their prayers were with him in the camp, on the field of battle, and on the bed of pain and of death. The thought of the dear ones at home, mother, wife, sister, or the chosen one, was comfort in the hardships of the campaign, encouragement on the field of strife, and support in adversity. Next to the Supreme Ruler, women were the soldiers' mainstay. The children and orphans of the latter became their wards; and their efforts and deeds were felt from early in April, 1861, to the end of the struggle in the Christian and Sanitary Commissions; in the thoughtful comforts sent to the field, and to the hospitals, where also the closing moments of many lives were robbed of their bitterness by their ministrations. They fought as great battles as the men, though on different fields; yes — greater ones. Willingly, though with pain and sorrow, they gave fathers, husbands, sons, brothers and lovers to the country. With staunch hearts they bore the ever-present anxiety for their treasures in peril, and gave them comfort with words and deeds. When the sacrifice of their offering was complete, they bore the loss and sorrow, though with broken hearts, as only women can, uncomplainingly, unselfishly, finding consolation in the knowledge of an eternal meeting and a restored country. All honor to their loyal and unflinching spirit; to the courage with which they bore their cross; to the faith which upheld them in their darkest hour of trial.

Part 2

Battles, Engagements, Actions, Sieges, Affairs and Skirmishes, Etc., in which New York Militia and Volunteers took part

Chronologically Arranged

THIS chronological list of engagements, etc., is taken almost entirely from official records; from the official records of the war, published by the War Department; from monthly returns, bi-monthly muster-rolls, and the muster-out-rolls of organizations; a few of the engagements were obtained through correspondence with officers. The constant aim has been to give correct dates; an effort attended with more difficulties than would be imagined; official reports, in many instances, disagreeing in this particular, and often giving dates not agreeing with other records. It will be noticed that frequently several designations are given to the same engagement; the one given first is the name under which it is more generally known.

A decision of the War Department is to this effect: "Troops on the ground (battle-field), though not engaged, are entitled to be credited with the engagement." This rule has been followed, except in minor affairs, where adherence to it would make it preposterous. Engagements of any duration, as for instance, "Seven Days' Battle, General Pope's Campaign, Port Hudson,

NOTE: There is a special index of battles, engagements, etc.; to know the engagements, etc., in which an organization took part, turn to the historical sketch of the organization, where dates will be found, which will lead to finding the particular action in this chronological list. This latter is not indexed otherwise than as stated above, but names of officers mentioned will be found in the index of names.

Red River Campaign, Atlanta Campaign, Spotsylvania, Cold Harbor," etc., have been subdivided into the more important actions of which they consisted; credit has been given for the general engagement to all on the ground, for the subordinate actions and affairs to those who, it could be ascertained, took active part therein. "Before Petersburg and Richmond," implies service before those cities, in and out of the trenches, and covers everything, except those important actions, which are reported separately.

Tables of losses will be found of the more important engagements; these are taken from the official records of the war. In these tables are also given the numbers and names of the brigades and divisions and numbers of the corps in which the organizations served, as they stood at the beginning of an action; where this rule has not been observed, a note after the designation of the engagement will explain the difference. Sometimes the losses of several engagements are united in one, this is also indicated by a note. The names of commanding officers of organizations are mostly from official records; those not from official records were obtained from survivors of the organizations; in a few cases the successors of those killed or wounded could not be ascertained.

The letters found after names, and other signs, indicate: The letter (c) that the officer commanded a brigade during the action, if even but for a short time; the letter (k) that he was killed; the letter (w) that he was wounded; the letter (m) that he was captured; the sign (*) that the loss, if any, has not been reported; (†) is a local sign, the explanation of which will be found at the end of the table in which it appears.

WAR LOSSES.

Died in Service.

Of those who from this state served their country in the armies and navies of the United States during the war, computed to have been four hundred thousand individuals; there died while in service fifty-three thousand one hundred and fourteen.

Suppose that there entered the service from this state in the first year to April, 1862 134,000 men; in the second year to April, 1863, 90,000 men; in the third year to April, 1864, 100,000 ; and in the fourth year to April, 1865, 76,000 men; and that their average age at entry into the service was twenty-five years. It is estimated that this number of men in time of peace pursuing their customary avocations under normal conditions would have lost about 9,000 by death; the excess is to this state the cost of the war in lives.

And yet this excess does not cover the deaths of men discharged from the Volunteers and the short-termed Militia and National Guard, due to causes contracted while in the service, and which occurred before the close of the war. Nor does it cover the deaths of persons not in the service, directly due to casualties occurring in the same, or in exertions made in assisting the Union in one way or another.

Before proceeding further with the consideration of this subject, attention is called to the tables of losses by death, in detail and by organization following hereafter.

The losses of the State Militia, National Guard and Volunteers are based on the figures of the War Department; where they differ, it is owing to statements found in the records of these organizations, which authorize increased numbers; for instance, men whose final records read "missing since * * *," "seen to fall on the field" or "known to have been badly wounded," can well be reported dead. The War Department, however, reports of these only those of whose death evidence has been received in the shape of final statements from commanding officers and from surgeons in charge of hospitals; or who appear on the registers or death records of prisons, northern and southern hospitals, burial records of cemeteries; or whose death has been satisfactorily demonstrated before the Bureau of Pensions or the accounting officers of the United States Treasury. As far as deaths within the Union lines are concerned the figures of the War Department are almost conclusive, but they are acknowledged to be incomplete as to deaths among prisoners of war.

The losses claimed of the Regular Army, United States Volunteers, United States Veteran Volunteers, United States Colored Troops, United States Veteran Reserve Corps, and of the Navy and Marine Corps, are proportions of the total loss of the same, based upon the number of men computed as having served therein as of this state.

The column in the table of deaths "of other known causes" includes all deaths resulting from quarrels, riots and the like, which are not definitely reported as murder; from being shot for insubordination, or by provost guards or sentinels in attempting to escape or pass the lines; from exhaustion or exposure; killed while depredating upon the property of citizens, and all other causes not embraced in the preceding columns.

War Department Statement of Loss by Death.

The Adjutant-General of the U. S. Army, under date of June 1, 1885, published a "Statistical Exhibit of Deaths in the United States Army during the Late War," prepared by Colonel J. W. Kirkley of his office. (See Appendix.) This, as its title indicates, does not include the losses of the Navy and the Marine Corps; and according to it there died while in the armies of the United States:

Killed in action, 4,142 officers, 62,916 enlisted men, aggregate 67,058; of wounds received in action, 2,223 officers, 40,789 enlisted men, aggregate 43,012; of disease and other causes, 3,219 officers, 246,239 enlisted men, aggregate 249,458; total, 9,584 officers, 349,944 enlisted men, aggregate 359,528; of whom are reported as having died in the hands of the enemy, 219 officers, 29,279 enlisted men, aggregate 29,498.

Colonel Kirkley in making his report to the Adjutant-General states: "With the deaths occurring among prisoners of war the result is not so satisfactory. Unfortunately, the records of southern prisons in possession of the Department are very incomplete. In fact, the death registers of some of the principal places of confinement for Union soldiers have not been secured. Notably among these are Americus, Atlanta and Augusta, Ga.; Camps Ford and Tyler, Tex.; Camps Oglethorpe and Macon, Ga.; Charleston, S. C. Lynchburg, Va.; Marietta, Ga.; Mobile and Montgomery, Ala.; Savannah, Ga., and Shreveport, La. Besides these, only partial records were obtained from the following-named important prisons: Catawba, Ala.; Camp Asylum, Columbia and Florence, S. C.; Millen, Ga., and Salisbury, N. C. It is true that evidence of death was often communicated to the proper military authorities by surviving comrades, and the report of burials in National cemeteries, or "Roll of Honor," supplies a large number; but these sources of information, together with the Confederate records obtained by the Government, have proved deficient.

As to the incompleteness of the interment record, a report prepared in the office of the Quartermaster-General, in 1869, says: "It is well known that at many places, as for instance, at Salisbury, N. C., and at Florence, S. C., etc., the bodies were buried in trenches, often two, three, sometimes even four deep, so that the accurate number of bodies interred at these places cannot be determined."

These facts warrant the belief that the actual number of Union soldiers who died in Confederate hands exceeds the number shown by the table. In fact, there is not a doubt about it; the number mentioned is 29,498; and there are buried at Andersonville, Ga., 13,714; at Salisbury, N. C., 12,126, and at Florence, S. C., 2,998, making a total at these three places alone of 28,838. Although men are buried in these cemeteries, whose remains were gathered from the surrounding country to a distance of many miles, still these figures show that the number officially reported is below the actual fact. Could the records be perfected, the number of those who died in the hands of the enemy would be at least 45,000. Some authorities place the number as high as 71,000.

Since the completion of the statement referred to, May 22d, 1865, to October 19th, 1889, the War Department has added to its death rolls 710 men, almost all of whom died in the hands of the enemy; this addition has not been credited to states and can therefore not be taken into consideration here.

Those who served in the war will readily recall names of comrades known to have been captured, of whom nothing has since been heard. There were also men in the service, who did not have homes or near friends; who served under assumed names; or whose friends forgot the organization in which they served; in cases of this sort inquiries for their record are not or cannot be made, and if they were captured and died, or killed in battle and reported missing, there is not any one to see to the discovery of their fate. Men are also known to have died at home, and as (in many cases) evidence of this was not sent to their regiments, they were finally dropped or reported deserted. There were over 2,000 (2,047) regiments in the U. S. service. Allowing as unaccounted for an average of only ten men per regiment, the total will be 20,000 men. While some regiments have not this number unaccounted for, in many regiments the number is from twenty to thirty and more.

It may therefore be asserted that the total number of men who died while in the Army of the United States is in round numbers at least 380,000, and including the loss of the Navy and Marine Corps, probably 385,000.

The loss credited to this state in the above-mentioned statement is:

Killed in action, 772 officers, 11,329 enlisted men, aggregate 12,101; died of wounds received in action, 371 officers, 6,613 enlisted men, aggregate 6,984; died of disease and other causes, 387 officers, 27,062 enlisted men, aggregate 27,449; total, 1,530 officers, 45,004 enlisted men, aggregate 46,534; of whom there are reported as having died in the hands of the enemy 40 officers and 5,506 enlisted men, aggregate 5,546.

A comparative statement of the number of enlistments and of deaths in the army, issued by the Adjutant-General of the United States Army July 15th, 1885, shows that the above loss occurred among the members of the Militia, National Guard and Volunteers of the state, credit not being given for losses among those who served as of this state in other branches of the army. In this statement (see Appendix) there are deducted from the total enlistments furnished to the General Government (2,865,028) those who commuted their service, who served in the Navy and Marine Corps, in the Colored Troops and those credited to the Indian Nations, leaving as due to the states 2,494,592 enlistments. New York is credited with 409,561 enlistments. The total loss of the troops credited to the states is reported as 312,821; that credited to New York has already been stated.

Based on the statements of loss, issued by the Adjutant-General U. S. Army, as above, percentages show the following results:

The total number of deaths in the United States Armies (359,528) is to the total number of enlistments (2,778,304) in the same, men who commuted their service not included, as 1 to 7.727 or 12.94 per cent.

The total number of deaths credited to the states (312,821) is to the total number of enlistments (2,494,592) credited, War Department statement of July 15th, 1885, as 1 to 7.974 or 12.54 per cent.

The total number of deaths credited to New York (46,534) is to the total number of enlistments (448,850) credited to the state, men who commuted their service not included, as 1 to 9.652 or 10.36 per cent.

The total number of deaths credited to New York (46,534) is to the total number of white enlistments, navy and marine not included (409,561) credited, War Department statement of July 15th, 1885, as 1 to 8.802 or 11.36 per cent.

The total number of deaths credited to New York (46,534) is to the total number of deaths (359,528) in the United States Army, statement of June 1, 1885, as 1 to 7.727 or 12.94 per cent.

The total number of deaths credited to New York (46,534) is to the total number of deaths (312,821) credited to the states, statement of July 15, 1885, as 1 to 6.724 or 14.87 per cent.

The number of enlistments credited to New York (448,850) is to the total number of enlistments (2,778,304) furnished the General Government, men who commuted not included, as 1 to 6.190 or 16.15 per cent.

The number of white enlistments, navy and marine not included, credited to New York (409,561) is to the total number of enlistments (2,494,592) credited to the states, War Department statement of July 15, 1885, as 1 to 6.093 or 16.41 per cent.

Statement of Loss by Death as Claimed for the State.

To obtain a correct statement of losses due the state, there must be taken the losses by death not only of the Militia, National Guard and Volunteers, but also of those who served, as of this state, in the other divisions of the Army of the United States and in the Navy and Marine Corps. This loss is taken from the tables below, where it is recorded: of the state organizations, as reported by the Adjutant-General of the Army, corrected by final records and histories of the same; of all other divisions pro rata of their total loss, based upon the proportion of men furnished by the state for the same; and the total is:

Killed in action, 877 officers, 13,350 enlisted men, aggregate 14,227; died of wounds received in action, 452 officers, 7,147 enlisted men, aggregate 7,599; died of disease and other causes, 624 officers, 30,664 enlisted men, aggregate 31,288; total 1,953 officers, 51,161 enlisted men, aggregate 53,114, of whom 62 officers, 5,932 enlisted men, aggregate 5,994, died in the hands of the enemy.

And this loss occurred among the 503,765 enlistments claimed for New York, on the four hundred thousand individuals shown to have been in the service of the country from this state during the war.

The total number of deaths claimed for the state (53,114) bears to the total number of enlistments claimed for the same, less those who commuted their service (503,765 — 18,197=485,568) the proportion of 1 to 9.15 or 10.94 per cent.

The total number of deaths claimed for the state (53,114) bears to the number of individuals in the service from this state (400,000) the proportion of 1 to 7.53 or 13.28 per cent.

Statement of the Loss of the Volunteers of this State.

The real fighting force of the state were the Volunteers, who carried the banners of the Empire State. Based upon the tables of detailed losses below, their loss by death is:

Killed in action, 819 officers, 12,149 enlisted men, aggregate 12,968; of wounds received in action, 426 officers, 6,841 enlisted men, aggregate 7,267; of disease and other causes, 429 officers, 27,391 enlisted men, aggregate 27,820; total 1,674 officers, 46,381 enlisted men, aggregate 48,055; of whom it is reported, there died in the hands of the enemy 57 officers, 5,714 enlisted men, aggregate 5,771.

The records of Volunteers of this state in the War Department and especially in the office of the Adjutant-General of the state, are incomplete. The loss credited by the Adjutant-General United States Army is less, but that given in the tables is perhaps not much less than the actual loss, and this deficiency is undoubtedly due principally to deaths of men while in the hands of the enemy.

The burial records or "Rolls of Honor," published by the Quartermaster-General of the United States Army, show by name the burial of about 40,000 Volunteers of this state; the bodies of probably 2,000 were sent to the state for burial, possibly 1,000 died in the state, leaving at least 5,000 sleeping in nameless or unknown graves.

In another place it has been estimated that there were 370,232 enlistments in the Volunteers of the State, and that these enlistments represented 310,401, or in round numbers, 310,000 individuals.

It will be noticed that the statement above shows quite a difference in the number of officers who died, compared with that of the Adjutant-General of the Army. This is explained principally by the fact that the United States recognized only those as officers who had been mustered in, while the state must properly recognize as such all who received its commission, even though they have not been mustered in, and this rule has been followed in preparing the death losses of the state organizations.

The books of commissions issued to officers of New York Volunteers and the rolls of organizations on file in the office of the Adjutant-General of the state and the register of New York Volunteer officers published by that officer, show about 22,000 names of officers or commissions issued. In this number are included repeatedly officers who were promoted from one rank to another and also men who, though commissioned, did not serve; these deducted leave 16,873 individuals who were commissioned or in round numbers 17,000.

In this number there are included men who were commissioned but served as enlisted men only; and there should be deducted from it the officers transferred to the United States Volunteers, 380; to the United States Veteran Volunteers, 61; to the United States Veteran Reserve Corps, 231; to the United States Colored Troops, 125; to the United States Regular Army, 30; total, 827; for these do not contribute any death losses. This will leave of the officers (actually 16,873) in round numbers 16,000 officers among whom the death losses occurred.

There were then individual officers to the number of 16,000 and individual enlisted men to the number of 294,000 among whom the death losses occurred.

Percentages based on the foregoing will give the following results of the loss of the state Volunteers:

The total number of deaths (48,055) is to the estimated number of individuals in state Volunteers (310,000) as 1 to 6.51 or 15.50 per cent.

The total number of killed in action (12,968) is to the estimated number of individuals in state Volunteers (310,000) as 1 to 23.90 or 4.18 per cent.

The total number of deaths from wounds received in action (7,267) is to the estimated number of individuals in state Volunteers (310,000) as 1 to 42.66 or 2.34 per cent.

The total number of killed and died of wounds received in action (20,235) is to the estimated number of individuals in state Volunteers (310,000) as 1 to 15.32 or 6.53 per cent.

The total number of deaths from disease and other causes (27,820) is to the estimated number of individuals in state Volunteers (310,000) as 1 to 11.14 or 8.97 per cent.

The total number of deaths in the hands of the enemy (5,771) is to the estimated number of individuals in the state Volunteers (310,000) as 1 to 53.71 or 1.86 per cent.

The total number of killed in action (12,968) is to the total number of deaths (48,055) as 1 to 3.71 or 26.99 per cent.

The total number of deaths from wounds received in action (7,267) is to the total number of deaths (48,055) as 1 to 6.61 or 15.12 per cent.

The total number of killed and died of wounds received in action (20,235) is to the total number of deaths (48,055) as 1 to 2.37 or 42.10 per cent.

The total number of deaths from disease and other causes (27,820) is to the total number of deaths (48,055) as 1 to 1.73 or 57.90 per cent.

The total number of deaths in the hands of the enemy (5,771) is to the total number of deaths (48,055) as 1 to 8.33 or 12 per cent.

The total number of killed and died of wounds, received in action (20,235) is to the total number of deaths from disease and other causes (27,820) as 1 to 1.37 or 73 per cent.

The total number of deaths from wounds received in action (7,267) is to the total number of killed in action (12,968) as 1 to 1.78 or 56.04 per cent.

The number of officers died in service (1,674) is to the number of officers (individuals) in the service (16,000) as 1 to 9.56 or 10.05 per cent.

The number of officers killed in action (819) is to the number of officers in service (16,000) as 1 to 19.54 or 5.11 per cent.

The number of officers died of wounds received in action (426) is to the number of officers in service (16,000) as 1 to 37.56 or 2.66 per cent.

The number of officers died of disease and other causes (429) is to the number of officers in service (16,000) as 1 to 37.30 or 2.68 per cent.

The number of officers killed in action (819) is to the number of enlisted men killed in action (12,149) as 1 to 14.83 or 6.74 per cent.

The number of officers died of wounds received in action (426) is to the number of enlisted men who died of the same cause (6,841) as 1 to 16.06 or 6.22 per cent.

The number of officers died of disease and other causes (429) is to the number of enlisted men who died of the same causes (27,391) as 1 to 63.85 or 1.57 per cent.

The number of enlisted men, of the state Volunteers, who died in the service (46,381) is to the number of individuals (enlisted men) estimated in the service (294,000) as 1 to 6.34 or 15.78 per cent.

The number of enlisted men, of state Volunteers, killed in action (12,149) is to the number of individuals estimated in the same (294,000) as 1 to 24.20 or 4.14 per cent.

The number of enlisted men, of state Volunteers, who died of wounds received in action (6,841) is to the number of individuals estimated in the same (294,000) as 1 to 42.98 or 2.33 per cent.

The number of enlisted men, of state Volunteers, who died of disease and other causes (27,391) is to the number of individuals estimated in the same (294,000) as 1 to 10.74 or 9.35 per cent.

Tables of Losses by Death, in Detail and by Organizations.

These tables, as far as state organizations are concerned, are based upon the losses reported by the War Department, the muster-out rolls on file in the office of the Adjutant-General of the state, and upon regimental histories, bearing the imprint of reliability; they have been prepared with care. The losses claimed as due the state, of those of the other divisions of the United States Army and of the Navy and Marine Corps, have been obtained by careful estimates, as explained later. The line on which the designation of the organization appears, gives the loss by death within the Union lines; the line below this, marked "prisoners," gives the loss by death in the hands of the enemy, of men of the same organization.

Loss in the United States Volunteers.

General and Staff officers appointed from New York Volunteers or from this state, four Companies, A, B, D and H, of the First United States Sharpshooters, and officers of other United States Volunteer organizations, estimated in all to be 1,375 men, come under this head. The loss of officers and enlisted men claimed is taken from official records. (See recapitulation.)

Loss in the United States Veteran Volunteers.

Of this branch 1,770 of the 10,883 officers and enlisted men who served in it, are claimed for this state. The total loss is 106 officers and enlisted men, or 0.97 per cent of the men in service, and the same percentage of those claimed for, would be due to, New York. (See recapitulation.)

Loss in the Veteran Reserve Corps.

The number of men serving in this corps is officially estimated at 60,508; of these 9,862 are estimated to have been from this state. The total loss reported is 30 officers and 1,642 enlisted men; aggregate 1,672, or 2.76 per cent of those in service. The same percentage of loss of those claimed for, would be due to, this state. The officers are taken from actual count. (See recapitulation.)

Loss in the Colored Troops.

The deaths occurring in the 178,975 colored troops are reported as 36,847 officers and enlisted men. The losses of three colored regiments, 574, are not included in this number, but were credited to the state to which they belonged — Massachusetts. The state of New York is credited with 4,125 colored soldiers, or 2.30 per cent of the whole, and is entitled to credit of a pro rata loss. The officers are, however, taken from actual count. (See recapitulation.)

Loss in the Regular Army.

The number of officers and enlisted men of the Regular Army, among whom the reported casualties occurred, is officially estimated at 67,000; of these 19,760, or 29.46 per cent, are claimed for this state. The loss reported is 260 officers and 5,538 enlisted men, aggregate 5,798; of this New York is entitled to credit on a pro rata loss. The officers are, however, taken from actual count. Officers, who at the time of their death, held commissions in the New York Volunteers or as General and Staff officers of United States Volunteers, are not included here, but are credited to the Volunteers. (See recapitulation.)

Loss in the Navy and Marine Corps.

In his report of 1865, the Secretary of the Navy gives the losses of the Navy (Regular and Volunteer) during the war as killed in action, 1,406; wounded in action, 1,638; missing in action, 176; total loss, 3,220. In that official's report of 1866 the casualties incident to battle are reported: Died from gunshot fractures, 495; from gunshot flesh wounds and other injuries, 659; drowned, 308; scalded to death, 342; total, 1,804; the casualties incident to the service but not to battle are given: Drowned, 265; died of scalds, 37; died of other accidents, 71; in the hands of the enemy, 95; total, 468. In the report of 1867, the men who died of disease in the various fleets from April, 1861, to June 30, 1865, are recorded as numbering 2,532.

The loss of the Navy during the war would, therefore, appear to have been:

Died of casualties incident to battle, including 308 drowned and 342 scalded to death		1,804
Died of casualties not incident to battle, including 265 drowned and 37 scalded to death		373
Died of disease	2,532
Died of disease, presumably so, but in the hands of the enemy	95
		2,627
Total loss by death		4,804

The report for 1866 gives the number wounded in action, 3,266 from the effects of gunpowder, 456 scalded and 308 drowned, total, 4,030; in this are included those killed outright and those who died of wounds, which latter cannot be ascertained from the reports. Deduct the number who died of casualties due to battle, 1,804, and there will remain, wounded in action who recovered, 2,226 officers and enlisted men.

The report of 1865 gives missing 176; the later reports make no mention of this kind of loss, except that 95 men died in the hands of the enemy; the number given in 1865 as missing in action is therefore accepted as correct.

The total number of men who served in the Navy, as elsewhere stated, is 132,554; the number of casualties incident to battle is 1,804, or 1.36 per cent; the number who died of causes not due to battle is 2,905, or 2.19 per cent; the number who died in the hands of the enemy is 95, or .071 per cent; the number wounded in action is 2,226, or 1.68 per cent of the number of men in service. New York furnished 51,936 men, and as casualties, the percentages given above, of this number are due to the state. The number due as having been wounded is 872. (See recapitulation.) The number of officers of the Regular and Volunteer Navy and Marine Corps from this state who died in the service of the United States credited in the recapitulation is from official records.

Loss in the Volunteers of Other States, But Due to This.

Of persons from this state serving in the Volunteers of other states, the loss cannot be ascertained. Four who held commissions in the Volunteers of other states, but served in the Volunteers of this state before, were found to have died in the service and are here credited to New York.

Wounded in Action.

Under this head are considered the losses of the state Volunteers only. Of the Militia and National Guard the losses of this nature are small; of the other divisions of the service it was not practicable to obtain the necessary figures and statements.

According to the tables of losses, the number of state Volunteers wounded in action, including those who died of their wounds, is 3,191 officers and 52,764 enlisted men; aggregate 55,955.

These figures are based almost entirely on battle reports, but nevertheless do not give a correct total; to obtain which is almost, if not quite, impossible. It is an acknowledged fact, that the reports of losses in the Peninsular Campaign of 1862; in General Pope's Campaign in Northern Virginia, 1862; of the period between Chancellorsville and Gettysburg, 1863; in the Red River Campaign, 1864, and in the trenches before Richmond and Petersburg, 1864–1865, at least as far as regiments are concerned, are inaccurate and incomplete; besides there were quite a number of men wounded on outpost at other times, in skirmishes, scouts and other minor affairs, of which detailed reports do not exist.

The late Major-General A. A. Humphreys, United States Army, estimated that the number killed is to the number wounded as one to a mean between four and five; Colonel W. F. Fox in his "Regimental Losses in the Civil War" makes the proportion, based on more complete reports and figures, four and eight-tenths. While this proportion is reliable as an average based on battle reports, it is not safe to use it with numbers of killed made up from final records, for in the battle reports many men are reported missing who on final records are reported killed.

The number died of wounds is sixty-four per cent of the number killed in action, based on the War Department totals of such losses. The battle reports when being prepared for publication in the "Official Records of the War of the Rebellion" were revised in the War Department, so as to show, as far as practicable, the captured wounded included with the wounded, and not with the missing or captured. On final records many men appear as killed, who in battle reports were reported wounded, making another cause of discrepancy between the former and the latter. To arrive at a fair estimate it is therefore necessary to take as a basis the killed and died of wounds received in action. The proportion of killed is 1 to 4.8, taking Colonel Fox as authority, or 100 killed to 480 wounded; the proportion of died of wounds to the killed, based on the War Department rather than state figures, is sixty-four per cent; this will give the following formula:

Killed and died of wounds 164 to every 416 wounded, or 1 to 2.5; that is, to every man killed or died of wounds 2.5 were wounded and survived.

The final figures of state Volunteers killed and died of wounds are: Killed in action, 12,968; died of wounds, 7,267; total, 20,235; in this number are included 422 who died of their wounds while in the hands of the enemy, and as it is a fact that the mortality among prisoners was at least twice the rate of that among non-prisoners, it is but proper, to equalize conditions, to deduct one-half of them from this total, which will leave, to estimate upon, 20,013. The formula 2.5 applied to this, gives 50,032, and the number died of wounds (7,267) added thereto makes the total wounded 57,299 officers and enlisted men, a difference of 1,344 more than the total recorded in the tables, which, distributed equally among the volunteer regiments or equivalents of such, would increase the recorded loss of each regiment by four and one half.

The ratio of morality among the wounded based on the above would be 12.7 per cent; in the Crimean War this ratio is stated to have been 13.7 per cent; in the Franco-Prussian War 11.2 per cent.

Many men were wounded in more than one affair; there are not, however, any United States or state records from which to form even an estimate. In the Franco-Prussian War it is recorded that of 95,938 there were wounded in more than one engagement 1,423 men, or 1.4 per cent. This war lasted but eleven months, and about 1,600 engagements took place in it; the War of the Rebellion lasted four years and about four thousand engagements took place. There was therefore more time for wounded to return, and more opportunity for men to be wounded again, and it is estimated that five per cent of the wounded were wounded in more than one engagement; or

The number of individual officers of the state Volunteers wounded in action (3,191) bears to the number of individuals who served as officers (16,000) the proportion of 1 to 5 or 19.94 per cent.

Enlisted men of the state Volunteers wounded in action (52,764) bears to the number of individuals who served as enlisted men (294,000) the proportion of 1 to 5.57 or 17.95 per cent.

Officers and enlisted men of the state Volunteers wounded in action (55,955) bears to the number of individuals who served as state Volunteers (310,000) the proportion of 1 to 5.54 or 18.05 per cent.

Captured and Reported Missing.

The total number of state Volunteers captured, according to the tables, is 900 officers and 24,457 enlisted men, who are supposed to have returned from captivity, and 57 officers and 5,714 enlisted men, who are reported to have died in the hands of the enemy; total 957 officers and 30,171 enlisted men; aggregate 31,128. The Surgeon-General of the Army in the "Medical History of the War" gives the total number of captured as 184,791; this is now known to be below the actual figures; the loss of this nature being something over 210,000. In the tables preceding this, those who were reported missing, but were not captured, are included as captured, and it is believed that this number balances at least the number of men captured, who are not credited and of whose capture official reports, in detail, were not made; the number given is therefore accepted as correct.

The captured of the Militia and National Guard are but few in numbers, and a tabulated statement has not been made; of the other divisions of the service the necessary data to make a tabulated statement were not available.

As with the wounded, there were men who were captured twice and even three times. Data cannot be obtained on this subject. Attention is called to the fact that in the tables several regiments of infantry show a total loss of all kinds, larger than the number of men in the same; this is explained by the fact that these regiments were captured in toto, exchanged, and then practically commenced their real service in the war.

The number of men, state Volunteers, who died in the hands of the enemy (5,771) bears to the number captured (31,128) the proportion of 1 to 5.4 or 18.5 per cent; as, however, probably four-fifths of the deaths occurred subsequent to June, 1863, after which but few exchanges were made, and the number captured from that time to the close of the war can be estimated as half of the total, the following comparison would be more in consonance with facts; the number died in the hands of the enemy (4,500) is to the number captured (16,000) as 1 to 3.55 or 28.16 per cent; but here again must be borne in mind that the record of deaths of this nature is incomplete, and the number is believed to be nearly 1,000 more than recorded.

The number captured (31,128) bears to the number of individuals in New York Volunteers (310,000) the proportion of 1 to 9.96 or 10.04 per cent.

NUMBER OF MEN IN THE ORGANIZATIONS AMONG WHOM THE LOSSES OCCURRED.

This column added to the tables of losses shows the approximate number of men who actually served in each organization before the end of April, 1865. An effort has been made to omit those who joined after the fighting had ceased, which it is believed has generally been successful. The numbers were obtained by actual count, except of fourteen regiments, which had to be estimated; where the number was obtained by actual count, in the case of regiments the units were left off entirely, but with batteries the units above and below five were omitted; where it has been estimated the tens and units were omitted. Those transferred from one company to another in the same regiment, as also those who re-enlisted as veterans in the field, were counted but once. Those transferred fom one regiment or battery to another, probably about 2,000, are counted in each; the transfers made after April, 1865, were not counted. The total number thus obtained is 371,935.

In another place the number of enlistments in the state Volunteers has been estimated at 370,232.

The difference between the figures obtained is so small that the numbers in the tables prove the number of enlistments, 370,232, claimed for New York Volunteers, to be substantially correct.

In the list of organizations the "unassigned men and independent companies" are credited with 23,000 men; this includes men who deserted from recruiting depots and rendezvous, and about one-half of the men furnished under the last call estimated not to have joined regiments before the close of the fighting period, or who were not assigned to regiments at all.

Losses compared with the number of men who served.

In making comparisons of the loss of an organization with the number of men who served in it, proper consideration should be given to the number reported deserted, and to the fact that there were always men who were non-combatants, and a deduction of 12 per cent made from the number credited to the organization. The Provost-Marshal-General of the United States gives in his final report the number of deserters from New York Volunteers as 36,149; this includes men whose desertion was but technical, and whose records can be and to a large extent have been corrected under late laws; men erroneously reported deserted; men who deserted at recruiting depots and rendezvous before being assigned to, or who deserted en route to an organization; men captured, etc. not a small number, and estimated to reduce desertions from organizations to at least 25,000; a proportion of the enlistments credited to the state Volunteers (370,232) of 1 to 14.81, or 6.75 per cent. In regiments about to go into action there were always men who for the time at least were non-combatants: Cooks, musicians, sick, men on guard, hospital stewards, quartermaster and commissary sergeants, chaplains, quartermasters, commissaries and surgeons; there were also men on duty as teamsters, orderlies, clerks, etc., and it is but a fair estimate to allow on this score a deduction of 5 per cent. This shows the foundation for a reduction of 12 per cent from the total, a moderate claim.

To compare losses of all the regiments of the state in single engagements with the number of men taken into an action is impracticable. While in some instances and of some organizations the number of men taken into action is known, in a large majority of the cases reports do not give the strength or satisfactory numbers cannot be obtained.

Of the following organizations records are on hand showing the number of officers and enlisted men taken into the action named, and as their losses in killed, wounded and missing are conspicuous, the relation of one to the other is here recorded. The figures are taken from battle reports, regimental histories, Regimental Losses in the American Civil War and from New York at Gettysburg, the two latter by Col. William F. Fox.

There are more organizations, of which reports as to numbers taken into some action are obtainable; these reports are, however, not mentioned here for the reason that the losses suffered are comparatively light.

The Heavy Artillery Regiments, which went into active service in 1864, were large regiments, as a rule then over 1,800 men strong, resembling in fact each a brigade of the infantry; their losses are correspondingly large and percentages could be obtained by taking 1,800 as present in the first engagement, taking off the loss incurred in that engagement and 15% for non-combatants and sick, for the strength at the next engagement and so forth; this would probably come very near to actual figures.

Deaths Since the Close of the War.

There were in the service during the War as of this State 400,000 individuals; of these there died in the service 53,114.

Of these 400,000 there are claimed as New York Volunteers 310,000 individuals of whom there died in the service 48,055.

The Commissioner of Pensions estimates that of the soldiers discharged for disability 25,284 died during the period of the war up to July 1, 1865. The pro rata share of this number as from this state would be over 4,000, and added to those who died in service, would make the number of deaths, of those from this state 57,114 and of the state volunteers 51,055.

Based on the foregoing there were survivors at the close of the war of those from this state 342,886 and of the state volunteers 258,945.

Of these survivors it is supposed that there entered into the service:

Elsewhere the average age of those who entered the service was estimated to have been 25 years at the time of such entry.

This average age probably does not apply actually to those men who entered the service in 1861 and 1862, as a very large number of them were very young men; their average age may therefore be presumed to be lower, say 24 years of age; in 1863 and 1864, as still a large number were young men, their average age may be estimated to have been, say 24½ years; in 1865, for the number of older men predominated largely then and there were but few very young men, their average age was probably 27 years.

Adding to these average ages the average time from entry to close of war, would make the average age for all, those who served as of this state and those who served in the New York Volunteers, at the close of the war 27 years.

Service in the war left its effects on every one, especially those who served any length of time or who were disabled in the service by disease or wounds. The Commissioner of Pensions found the effect of the service in the case of men, pensioners, who were wounded or otherwise disabled in the service, equal to the shortening of the expectation of life by 12 years and based his statement on the examination of sixteen thousand cases; he also estimated the number subject to this shortening of life to be about one-third of the survivors.

There are estimated to have been survivors of those who served as of this state, 342,886; one-third of these is 114,295 whose life expectation is shortened by 12 years; the remainder 228,591 are to be taken as of 27 years of age at the close of the war; of those who served in the state volunteers 259,945; one-third of these is 86,648, whose life expectation is shortened 12 years; the remainder 173,297, represent men 27 years old at close of war.

Based on the American table of mortality there would probably have died by the end of 1908 of those who served as of this state, 242,145, leaving 100,741 or 29.38% as survivors, as of state volunteers 182,725, leaving 77,220 or 29.71% as survivors. Of these survivors the average age would then be about 68 years, as the dead no doubt contain a larger proportion of the older men. Taking this age as a basis there would be living in 1915, fifty years after the close of the war, 68,141 or 16.95% and 44,798 or 17.27% respectively.

There were 16,000 officers of the New York volunteers, whose average age at time of entry in service has been estimated to have been 27½ years, adding to this, as average length of service, 2½ years, would make their average age at close of war 30 years.

These 16,000 include 1,674 who died in service; suppose that twenty-six died out of service but during the period of the war, this would leave as survivors 14,300 of those who served as officers in the New York volunteers.*

By the end of 1908 there would have died of these, based on the American table of mortality, and allowing for the shortening of life expectation for one-third of them, 11,015, leaving 3,285 or 22.97% survivors whose age may be estimated as 70 years, the deaths so far having been largely of the older men, and of whom the year 1915 may see 1,722 or 12.04 per cent as survivors.

There is another way to consider, in which an estimate as to probable survivors may be made.

The Commissioner of Pensions states in his annual report for 1908 that there were on the pension roll June 30, 1908, 628,084 survivors of the War of the Rebellion, including the claims of 7,099 men not yet adjudicated. Under the present pension laws all who served in the war at least ninety days and were honorably discharged are eligible to be placed on the pension roll, and presumably about all are there, except deserters and men not honorably discharged, of whom it may be estimated there are living in 1908, 41,916; making the total number of survivors 670,000.

The Adjutant-General of the United States Army states (appendix) that the enlistments during the war, 2,778,304, converted into three years enlistment give of such the number of 2,320,369. This number may also be taken as the number of individuals in the service. From it must be taken, however, the men who paid commutation instead of serving, 86,724; the number stated by the same officer as having died in the service 359,528, and the number estimated by the Commissioner of Pensions as having died after leaving the service but before June 30, 1865, namely, 25,284; making the total to be deducted 471,536, and leaving as survivors at the close of the war 1,848,833 individuals.

Deduct from these survivors (1,848,833) the men on the pension rolls and those estimated not able to find a place there (670,000) and the result will be that 1,178,833 or 63.76% are supposed to have died by 1908 and that 670,000 or 36.24% were then still living.

It will be observed that there is quite a difference in the percentage of living in 1908 between the result based on the American table of mortality and the foregoing based on the report of the Commissioner of Pensions. It is conceded, however, that the American table is not any longer reliable and that the expectation of life has increased since it was made by at least eight years. The mean between 36 and 29, equal to about 33%, is probably the most reliable one to take for the base of an estimate as to the living in 1908.

So far the estimates given above are based on the numbers supposed to be living at the close of the war. Based on the number of individuals who entered the service of the country, the results would be:

Of the 2,320,369, less 86,724 who paid commutation, namely, 2,233,645 individuals who are supposed to have served in the war, there are found to be living at the end of 1908, only 670,000 men or 30%.

* NOTE.—These are included above in the number of state volunteers.

Of the 400,000 who served as of this state, there are found to be living at the end of 1908, only 100,741 men or 25.19%.

Of the 310,000 individuals who served as New York volunteers, there are found to be living at the end of 1908, only 77,220 men or 24.91%.

Of the 16,000 officers, there are supposed to be living at the end of the year 1908, only 3,285 or 20.53%.

When will all the members of that Great and Grand Army, which fought for the very existence of the Union, have assembled "Beyond" for a final review?

The last soldier of the War of the Revolution, Daniel F. Bakeman, died at Freedom, Cattaraugus county, New York, April 5, 1869, aged 109 years, 6 months and 8 days, eighty-seven years after the war.

The last soldier of the War of 1812, Hiram Cronk, died at Ava, New York, May 13, 1905, aged 105 years and 16 days, ninety years after that war.

The number of enlistments and in this case also individuals who served in the Mexican War is given as 116,321; from this must be deducted, killed 1,049, died of wounds 508, died of disease (estimated) 10,875, a total of 12,432, leaving in 1848 as survivors 103,889. On the pension rolls there were June 30, 1908, all Mexican War soldiers being entitled to be there, 2,932 survivors or 2.82%, after the lapse of sixty years.

THE BOMBARDMENT OF FORT SUMTER

April 12-13, 1861

Part 3

Brevets from the State Received by Officers and Enlisted Men of New York Volunteers

THE Legislature in concurrent resolutions of April 24th and 28th, 1865, authorized the Executive of the State, "it being a sacred and grateful duty, to acknowledge in any suitable manner the personal sacrifice and heroic deeds of the officers and soldiers of this State, who have or may aid the Government of the United States in suppressing the existing wicked rebellion," to confer commissions with brevet rank, in any of the several grades which he is now authorized to confer, upon such officers and soldiers of the Volunteer forces of this State, as have or may distinguish themselves by gallantry in battle or meritorious and honorable conduct, which mark of honor shall be stated in the commission conferred.

Under this resolution the first commission was issued September 13, 1865, and the last January 30, 1882; and the following received brevet commissions accordingly.

Registers and Sketches of Organizations

THESE registers give the names and a concise record of the officers and also something of a sketch of the organizations of the militia and volunteers of the State. In the preparation of these registers official data and regimental and corps histories, where available, information from survivors, and newspaper accounts of the period and home localities of the organizations, have been used and consulted; but an outline sketch only can be given here.

To follow organizations of this State in their marches and on the field of battle would require a volume, almost, for each one, and cannot be attempted here. Yet a careful reader can readily trace their steps from day to day.

The losses attached to the sketches of organizations will be found to differ in many cases from those given in the chronological list of engagements, which latter are all based on official reports. In the official reports of losses, made after an engagement, men were frequently reported missing, who eventually were found to have been killed or to have died of wounds, and of many skirmishes, etc., direct reports and lists of losses do not exist. When therefore the muster rolls, muster out rolls, and histories of organizations and statements of survivors, showed losses in killed, wounded or captured exceeding the officially reported losses or gave losses not at all stated in official reports, or of which official reports were not made, the necessary corrections were accordingly made in the tables of losses attached to the sketches.

The sketches, in every respect, have been made as complete as available records and patient examination and study would permit, but omissions will no doubt be found, for there is evidence on hand of minor affairs for which dates could not be obtained.

The armed and uniformed portion of the militia of the State was, at the breaking out of the war, known as the "Militia" An act of the Legislature, approved April 23, 1862, changed this designation to "National Guard," which is still the designation of the armed, uniformed and organized military force of the State.

The United States, as shown elsewhere, called for the services of this force or of part of it, for short periods in 1861, 1862, 1863 and 1864.

Besides the regular organizations furnished under these calls, the organized Militia of the State, at large, furnished also a large number of officers and enlisted men to the military forces of the United States, and several organizations intact as regiments of volunteers. The number of men furnished as officers alone exceeded 2,300, not including those who went with their regiments.

SEVENTH REGIMENT.

National Guard.

This regiment, located in New York city, is still in existence; its companies, A, B, C and D, were organized during the excitement created by the firing of British at American vessels off Sandy Hook in April, 1806, as the 1st, 2d, 3d and 4th Companies, and June 25th they were officially reorganized by the State as part of the uniformed militia of the State, and attached to the battalion of artillery commanded by Maj. Andrew Sitcher. April 5, 1807, the battalion, in the organization of the 3d Regiment of New York Artillery, became its 2d Battalion. When the war with England became imminent in 1807, these four companies, with other volunteers, were temporarily organized as a regiment, commanded by Col. Peter Curtenius, and remained thus detached until April 20, 1809. In 1812 the 3d became the 11th Regiment of Artillery, the four companies remaining the 2d Battalion. August 25, 1824, the battalion was named "Battalion of National Guards" (its distinctive name until, in 1862, the Legislature appropriated it for the uniformed militia), and in December, 1824, the fifth company was organized, and Captain Stevens' company, of the 11th New York Artillery, transferred to it as the sixth company. In January, 1825, the battalion was transferred to the 2d New York Artillery, October 1, 1825, the battalion was detached and organized as a separate and independent battalion, and during the month the seventh company was organized. May 4, 1826, the organization of the eighth company was completed, and May 6th, the battalion was organized into a regiment, the 27th Artillery. April 17, 1838, a troop of cavalry was admitted to the regiment, which, in 1861, became the ninth company. In 1843, the State furnished the regiment with arms, it having heretofore provided them itself. July 27th, the designation of the regiment was changed to 7th Regt. In April, 1849, an engineer corps was organized, which was revived and reorganized March 1, 1855. A tenth company, Co. K, was organized March 29, 1860. The regiment was frequently ordered to hold itself ready for service, and did active service for the United States, the State and New York city, as follows: United States service from September 15 to December 15, 1812; from September 2 to December 2, 1814; in support of State or municipal authority: execution of James Reynolds, November 19, 1825; at the Election Riots, April 10, 1834; Abolition Riot, July 11 to 12, 1834; Great Conflagration in New York city, December 17, 1835; Stevedore Riot, February 24, 1836; Flour Riots, February 6 and March 6, 1837; Anti-rent War, December 9 to 10, 1839; Croton Water Riot, April 22 to 23, 1840; fire in New York city, July 19 to 21, 1845; Astor Place Riot, May 10, 12 and 14, 1849; Police Riot, June 16, 1857; Dead Rabbit Riot, July 5, 1857; Quarantine War, January 3, 1859; preserving order at camp of Spinola Brigade, September 12 to 19, 1862; Draft Riots, July, 1863; Orange Riots, July, 1871; Labor Riots, July, 1877; Motormen's Strike, Brooklyn, January, 1895, and at strike, Croton Dam, April, 1900; service in the War of the Rebellion.

April 19, 1861, the regiment, commanded by Col. Marshall Lefferts, left the State, en route to Washington, D. C., where it was mustered in the service of the United States for thirty days, April 26, 1861; it served at Washington and was mustered out at New York city, June 3, 1861.

May 25, 1862, the regiment, still commanded by Colonel Lefferts, again left the State, and was mustered in the United States service at camp Hamilton, Va., May 29, 1862, for three months, from May 26, 1862. It served most of this time at Baltimore, Md., and was mustered out of the United States service, September 5, 1862, at New York city.

June 16, 1863, it again re-entered the United States service, and was mustered in at New York city, for thirty days. It left the State on the 17th, under the command of Colonel Lefferts, served at Baltimore, and Frederick, Md., in the 2d Separate Brigade, Middle Department, 8th Corps, and was mustered out of the United States service, July 20, 1863, at New York city.

In its service, in 1861, it lost one enlisted man, accidentally killed, and it took part in: The advance into Virginia, May 24, 1861, and the New York city riot July 16, 1863.

NINTH REGIMENT.

The 6th Regiment, Infantry, was organized June 24, 1799, of five companies, most of which dated back to 1785. March 27, 1805, the designation of this, the 6th Regiment of Infantry, was changed to 2d Regiment of Artillery in New York city. June 13, 1812, it was designated the 9th Regiment of Artillery. December 13, 1813, the regiment was reduced to a battalion. June 6, 1816, it was again organized as a regiment, retaining its number all this time, although as a battalion it was also known as the 1st Battalion, N. Y. State Artillery. By the change of regimental districts the officers and enlisted men were transferred to other regiments May 29, 1850, and the 9th Regiment newly reorganized and known as the "Irish Ninth." May 3, 1858, this organization was disbanded, the district of the 9th Regiment was however retained, and June 25, 1859, the regiment came again into existence. During the War of the Rebellion it served as the 83d N. Y. Volunteer Infantry from 1861 to 1864. In the Spanish-American war it served as the 9th N. Y. Volunteer Infantry until November 15, 1898, having been mustered in May 17, 19 and 20, 1898. For this war it was increased to a twelve company regiment; the additional companies, L and M, were disbanded December 22, 1898. The regiment is still in existence and located in New York city.

It served the State at the Abolition riot, January 11 and 12, 1835; at the great fire, December 17, 1835; at the Police riot, June 16–18, 1857; at the Dead Rabbit riot, July 5–7, 1857; at the Orange riot, July 12, 1871; at West Albany, July, 1877; at Buffalo in August, 1892; at Brooklyn, January 20–24, 1895, and at Albany, May 17–19, 1901.

It served in the War of 1812 in New York harbor from June 5 to July 28, 1812; at North Battery, September 15 to December 15, 1812; at West Battery (Castle Garden), May 23 to June 1, 1813; at Sag Harbor (detachment), May 1 to July 1, 1814; at Brooklyn Heights (detachment), August 15 to October 7, 1814; in the War of the Rebellion as the 83d N. Y. Volunteers, under which head its service will be found recorded, and in the Spanish-American was as the 9th N. Y. Volunteer Infantry.

TABLET TO OLD NINTH REGIMENT.

Unveiled at Site of the Old Thirteenth Street Headquarters.

That Was Where the Regiment Started for the War in '61 — Less Than a Score of Veterans Stand with the Present Artillerymen in the Rain at the Ceremonies.

A bronze tablet marking the location of the headquarters of the old 9th Regiment at Thirteenth street and University place, from which on May 27, 1861, the regiment, now 109 years old, marched to the front, 850 strong, was unveiled May 30, 1908, the ceremonies taking place at 11 o'clock after the regiment, which is now the 9th Coast Artillery Corps, N. G., N. Y., had participated in the Memorial Day parade.

Less than a score of veterans stood in the rain as Maj. Dabney W. Diggs, who got his rank for real service, and Col. William F. Morris, the present commander of the regiment, addressed them, but there were 800 then in olive drab standing at attention. The Colonel's wife and his daughter-in-law and his granddaughter, seven-year old Maude Morris, who unveiled the tablet, sat on the platform on the southwest corner all the time without umbrellas and braved the downpour like the true daughters of soldiers.

Of course in the regimental armory in West Fourteenth street there was something to warm other than dry clothing after it was all over and it isn't likely that many of the soldiers will suffer from colds.

There is an eleven story business building where the two story headquarters of the 9th Regiment stood when Lincoln called for volunteers, and the tablet has been placed on the north side of the building in Thirteenth street a few feet east of University place.

It bears this inscription:

"If any one attempts to haul down the American Flag shoot him on the spot."
1799; Ninth Regiment N. Y. S. M.; 1908.
83d N. Y. Volunteers.

THE HEADQUARTERS WERE LOCATED HERE AND THE ORGANIZATION MARCHED AWAY IN DEFENCE OF THE UNION 850 STRONG MAY 27, 1861. AFTER A SERVICE OF 3 YEARS IN THE ARMY OF THE POTOMAC THE RETURN HOME FROM THE WAR WAS WITH 17 OFFICERS AND 78 ENLISTED MEN ON JUNE 11, 1864. IT HAD TAKEN PART IN THE BATTLES OF BULL RUN (1862), SOUTH MOUNTAIN, ANTIETAM, FREDERICKSBURG, CHANCELLORSVILLE, GETTYSBURG, THE WILDERNESS, SPOTSYLVANIA, COLD HARBOR, ETC., ETC.

This memorial erected by the officers and veterans of the regiment, May 30, 1908.

In the upper left-hand corner is the emblem of the 2d Division of the 1st Corps, of which the regiment was a part from '62 to '63, and in the upper right-hand corner is the emblem of the 2d Division of the 5th Corps, to which it was transferred and in which it served from '63 to '64.

One must do a great deal of reading between the lines to gain even a faint idea of the glory won by the 9th or to realize even a part of the service it has done the country and the flag.

On the staff of the United States flag carried by the regiment there are just thirty-three silver bands — each one representing a time at which the regiment served the country, and on the State flag there are thirteen. Here is a list of the services for which the silver bands were awarded:

On the National Color.— War against Great Britain, 1812–15; New York harbor, June 22 to December 15, 1812 (North Battery); New York harbor, September 2 to December 3, 1814 (West Battery); War of the Rebellion, 1861–65; Harper's Ferry, Va., July 4, 1861; Warrenton Junction, April 6, 1862; Warrenton Junction, Va., April 16, 1862; North Fork River, Va., April 18, 1862; Rappahannock River, Va., May 5, 1862; Cedar Mountain, Va., August 9, 1862; Rappahannock River, Va., August 22, 1862; Rappahannock Station, Va., August 23, 1862; Thoroughfare Gap, Va., August 28, 1862; Bull Run, Va., August 30, 1862; Chantilly, Va., September 1, 1862; South Mountain, Md., September 14, 1862; Antietam, Md., September 17, 1862; Fredericksburg, Va., December 11 to 15, 1862; Pollock's Mill Creek, Va., April 29, 1863; Chancellorsville, Va., May 2 and 3, 1863; Gettysburg, Pa., July 1 to 4, 1863; Hagerstown, Md., July 12 and 13, 1863; Liberty, Va., November 21, 1863; Mine Run, Va., November 26 to December 2, 1863; Wilderness,

On the State Color.—New York harbor, June 5 to July 28, 1812; Sag Harbor, L. I., N. Y., May 1 to August 1, 1814; Brooklyn Heights, August 15, 1814; Brooklyn Heights, October 4, 1814; Abolition riot, January 11 and 12, 1835; great fire, December 17, 1835; Police riot, June 16 to 18, 1857; Dead Rabbit riot, July 5 and 6, 1857; Orange riot, July 12 and 13, 1871; West Albany Railroad Men's strike, July 24 to 28, 1877; Buffalo Railroad Men's strike, August 18 to 27, 1892; Brooklyn Trolley Men's strike, January 20 to 24, 1895; Albany Trolley Men's strike, May 17 to 19, 1901.

The preliminary organization of the 6th Regiment, N. Y. S. M., of which the 9th is the successor, took place in June, 1799, by virtue of an order from Gov. John Jay at Albany to Gen. James Miles Hughes in New York. The 6th was made up of four companies from the 1st Regiment, three from the 2d, five from the 3d and two from the 4th—all of them organized March 4, 1786; three companies from the 5th, organized May 11, 1789, and the independent Rifles, organized August 28, 1798.

There were sixteen companies in the old 6th Regiment as it was permanently organized on March 8, 1800, under the command of Lieut.-Col. Jacob Morton. In March, 1805, the regiment was changed to the 2d N. Y. S. Artillery and on June 13, 1812, it became the 9th Regiment, N. Y. S. Artillery. It was reduced to a battalion in 1813 and remained as such until June, 1816, when it again was made a regiment. In 1847 the State was divided into division, brigade, regiment and company districts and three of the 9th's companies were transferred to the 8th N. Y. S. M., in 1850, but Col. B. Clinton Ferris retained command of the 9th and it was reorganized on May 29, 1850. The regiment was disbanded partly in 1858, but the district of the 9th was left intact under Col. Lucius Pitkin and the regiment was reorganized anew on June 25, 1859.

Under the title of the 9th it entered the service of the Union on May 27, 1861, and was mustered in at Washington on June 8th. On December 7th, when attached to the 2d Division of the 1st Corps, it was designated as the 83d New York Volunteers and remained as such throughout its service in the Civil war until mustered out on June 23, 1864.

The district was retained in the State while the regiment was at the front, and on June 13, 1864, it again became the 9th Regiment, N. G. S. N. Y., which was continued until the Spanish war, when it became the 9th Regiment, Infantry, N. Y. Volunteers. It went back to its old name in 1899 and continued as such until 1908. To conform to the amended Military Code of 1908, under general orders dated Albany, January 23, 1908, the regiment was reorganized as Coast Artillery Corps, N. G. N. Y., Ninth District. As such it stood in the rain while the tablet was unveiled.

Colonel Van Buren, anticipating the Civil war, had been drilling the regiment in street firing at the arsenal, then at Elm and White streets. Lincoln's call for troops "to suppress unlawful combinations and enforce law" was promulgated on April 15, 1861, and on April 19th the 9th voted to tender its services. In the Rebellion the 9th lost 379 in killed, which is greater than the average of 300 regiments designated as fighting regiments by Lieutenant-Colonel Fox in his book "Three Hundred Fighting Regiments of the Union Army."

Colonel Morris in closing his address said to his men that he hoped that every one who should pass that spot, whether in uniform or citizens' clothes, would uncover in respect to the memory of the men in whose honor the tablet was placed.

TENTH REGIMENT.

This regiment, still in the service as a battalion, located at Albany, was organized in 1860. Company A was also known as the Albany Zouave Cadets, and B as the Washington Continentals. The regiment served the State in the so-called "Anti-Rent War" in the Helderberg Mountains, in summer of 1865, and at West Albany during the Labor and Railroad riots in July, 1877.

February 17, 1881, Companies A, B, D and K, of the 10th Regiment, were detached therefrom and organized as the 10th Battalion, the 10th Regiment, with its remaining companies, being then disbanded; the designation of Company K was changed to C, October 1, 1884. Company B was organized as an independent company, the "Washington Continentals," July 4, 1854; joined militia as a company of light artillery, attached to the 76th Regiment, August 28, 1856; assigned to the 29th Regiment December 26, 1860; became the nucleus and Company B of the 10th Regiment December 29, 1860; mustered in service of United States as Company B, 177th Volunteers, November 21, 1862, for nine months; mustered out September 10, 1863; it became Company B, 10th Battalion, February 17, 1881; during the War of the Rebellion the company furnished sixty officers to N. Y. Volunteers. Company A was organized as an independent company about June 7, 1860, and known as the "Albany Zouave Cadets" it joined the National Guard, 10th Regiment, December 29, 1860; it became Company A, 10th Battalion, February 17, 1881; during the War of the Rebellion the company furnished for the armies of the United States about seventy-five commissioned officers. Company D was organized July 2, 1861, as Company D, 10th Regiment. Company C was organized April 5, 1877. April 28, 1898, the battalion was made part of the 1st Regiment, National Guard, composed of organizations of the 3d Brigade, its companies becoming Companies A, B, C and D, of this regiment, with which they entered the service of the United States as part of the 1st Regiment, N. Y. Volunteer Infantry, May 20, 1898, and were mustered out of such service February 20, 1899.

The Battalion has received authority to place silver rings on the lances of its colors, engraved as follows:

On the National Color.— McGill's Ferry, La., January 6, 1863; Ponchatoula, La., March 24, 1863; McGill's Ferry, La., March 24, 1863; Civique's Ferry, La., March 25, 1863; Amité River, La., May 10 and 11, 1863; Port Hudson, La., May 23 to July 8, 1863; Spanish-American War, 1898; Hawaii, 1898.

On the State Color.— Helderbergs, 1865; West Albany, 1877; Buffalo, 1892; Albany, 1901.

Service in the War of the Rebellion.

The 10th Regiment left the State December 16, 1862, having volunteered and been accepted as a regiment of volunteers for service of nine months, and was known in such service as the 177th Volunteers, which see for officers.

ELEVENTH REGIMENT.

Washington Rifles.

Prior to April 27, 1835, there are no positive records of this regiment on file. At that time the organization was known as the 2d Regiment, Washington Guards, New York State Light Infantry; about 1856 this designation was changed to 11th Regiment, "Washington Rifles." It was disbanded January 14, 1899.

Service in the War of the Rebellion.

It left New York city, its home station, May 28, 1862, commanded by Col. Joachim Maidhof, and was mustered into the service of the United States for three months, at Harper's Ferry, W. Va. It served in the 2d Brigade, Sigel's Division, Department of Shenandoah, from June 8, 1862, and at Harper's Ferry, and was mustered out at New York city, to date September 16, 1862.

June 18, 1863, it, ten companies, left the State under orders for thirty days' service, commanded by Colonel Maidhof, and proceeded to Harrisburg, Pa.; it served in the 4th Brigade, 1st Division, Department Susquehanna, and was mustered out of the United States service, July 20, 1863, in New York city.

The regiment lost, died of disease, in its service in 1863, one enlisted man; and it took part in a skirmish near Oyster Point, Pa., June 29, 1863; in its service in 1863 it had four enlisted men captured by the enemy.

New Company D was organized July 16, 1884, and new Company C was organized June 3, 1885. The regiment performed duty during the Astor Place riots in 1849; it was on duty during the Orange riots in July, 1871; during the Railroad riots in July, 1877; during the Switchmen's strike at Buffalo, in August, 1892, and at Brooklyn during the Motormen's strike in January, 1895. April 28, 1898, the regiment was authorized to be organized as a twelve company regiment to enter the United States service, in which it was mustered in as the 12th Regiment Infantry, N. Y. Volunteers, May 13, 1898, and mustered out April 20, 1899; Companies L and M were disbanded April 24, 1899.

Service in the War of the Rebellion.

April 21, 1861, the regiment, ten companies, commanded by Colonel Butterfield, left the State en route to Washington, D. C., where it was mustered in the United States service, for three months, May 2, 1861. It served at and near Washington from May, 1861, and in the Army, Department of Pennsylvania (General Patterson); and was mustered out at New York city, August 5, 1861.

After the regiment's return from this service a large number of its members entered the volunteer service, for three years, in an organization known as the 12th Militia, which was, in January, 1862, consolidated with the 12th Volunteers.

May 27, 1862, the regiment, nine companies then commanded by Col. William G. Ward, was again ordered to Washington, D. C., and left the State, June 6, 1862; it was mustered in the United States service for three months, served at Harper's Ferry, W. Va., in the 4th Brigade; volunteered to stay over its term of service, and was surrendered with Harper's Ferry; it was mustered out at New York city, October 8, 1862, and declared exchanged January 11, 1863.

June 18, 1863, the regiment, ten companies, was ordered to Harrisburg, Pa., and it left the State, under Colonel Ward on the 20th; it was mustered in the service of the United States, for thirty days, served in General Yates' command at Fenwick, Pa., and in the 1st Brigade, Dana's Division, Department Susquehanna, and July 20, 1863, was mustered out of that service at New York city.

The regiment lost, died of disease, in its service of 1861, two enlisted men; and it, or portions of it, took part in the following engagements, etc.:

Occupation of Arlington Heights, Va., May 24, 1861; skirmish near Martinsburg, Va., July 12, 1861; skirmish near Bunker Hill, W. Va., July 15, 1861; skirmish on Maryland Heights, Md., September 12–13, 1862; siege and surrender of Harper's Ferry, W. Va., September 12–15, 1862 (30 officers and 530 enlisted men were surrendered).

THIRTEENTH REGIMENT, COAST ARTILLERY.

This regiment, still in existence and located in Brooklyn, was organized July 5, 1847; there were changes in the organization a few years later, again in April, 1859, and in 1860. It was disbanded May 7, 1898, except one battalion of four companies which had volunteered to enter the United States service; authority was given to reorganize the regiment, May 15, 1898. November 28, 1898, such portion of the regiment as had been organized was disbanded, and authority was given to re-establish the regiment, the battalion which was in the United States service forming the nucleus of the new organization. Companies L and M were organized March 11, 1899; February 8, 1900, the regiment was constituted a regiment of heavy artillery and designated 13th Regiment of Heavy Artillery. It was in the service of the State during the Draft riots in July and August, 1863; the Orange riots, July 12, 1871; the Railroad riots, July, 1877; the Switchmen's strike at Buffalo, August, 1892; the Quarantine disturbances at Fire Island, September, 1892, and the Motormen's strike at Brooklyn, January, 1895. The battalion which volunteered to enter the United States service as part of the 22d Regiment, N. Y. Volunteer Infantry, in the war with Spain, was mustered into such service May 24, 1898, and was mustered out November 23, 1898.

Service in the War of the Rebellion.

The regiment (eight companies) left the State April 23, 1861, Col. Abel Smith in command, en route to Washington, D. C. It was mustered in the service of the United States for three months; served as infantry at Annapolis and Baltimore, Md., and was mustered out August 6, 1861, at Brooklyn.

In December, 1861, quite a portion of the regiment entered the volunteer service for three years as members of an organization which received the State designation 87th Volunteers.

May 26, 1862, the regiment was again ordered to Washington, D. C.; it left the State May 30, 1862, commanded by Col. Robert B. Clark; was mustered in the United States service for three months, May 28th; served at Suffolk, Va., as part of the 7th Corps, and was mustered out at Brooklyn, September 12, 1862.

June 18, 1863, the regiment, then commanded by Col. John B. Woodward, was ordered to Harrisburg, Pa., and it left the State June 20, 1863, to serve thirty days. It served as infantry in the 2d Brigade, 1st Division, Department Susquehanna, and was mustered out of the United States service July 21, 1863, at Brooklyn.

The regiment lost in its service in 1861, died of disease, 5 enlisted men; in that of 1862, died of disease, 1, and of accident, 1 enlisted man; in that of 1863, died of disease, 1 enlisted man, total 8; and it took part in the following engagements, etc.:

Near the Light-house at Smith's Point, Chesapeake Bay, Md., May 18, 1861, and near Fort Washington, Pa., July 2, 1863.

Service in the War of the Rebellion.

This regiment, failing to be ordered to the front, volunteered and entered the service of the United States for three years in May, 1861. December 7, 1861, it was by the State designated the 84th Volunteers, under which title will be found its volunteer history.

FIFTEENTH REGIMENT.

Of this regiment, located in Queens county, two companies entered, in June and July, 1861, the United States service as members of the 74th N. Y. Volunteers; the artillery company of the regiment joined the 2d N. Y. Volunteer Artillery as Company L, in November, 1861, and later became the 34th Battery. The regiment is not in existence at this date.

In 1863, the regiment saw service in Queens county, during the Draft riots; June 6, 1864, the regiment was mustered in the United States service for thirty days; it served under the command of its Colonel, Charles H. Burtis, in New York harbor, and with it, and as parts of it, served portions of the 16th, 17th and 18th Regiments. It was mustered out July 7, 1864.

TWENTY-FIRST REGIMENT.

This regiment, located in 1863, in Dutchess county, is now not in existence except its Company A.

This Company A was organized immediately after the bombardment of Fort Sumter, S. C., as the Poughkeepsie Drill Guards; May 14, 1861, this name was changed to "Ellsworth Grays"; October 27, 1862, the company joined the National Guard and became Company A of this regiment. When the regiment was disbanded, December 17, 1881, this company was retained, but its designation was changed to 15th Separate Company. This company was on duty at Buffalo in August, 1892, during the switchmen's strike. In the Spanish-American war it served as Company K, 1st N. Y. Volunteer Infantry, from May 29, 1898, to February 26, 1899.

Company D of this regiment was organized November 28, 1828, as a company of infantry and known as the Poughkeepsie Guards; in 1832 the company was assigned to the 84th Militia as Company F; in 1848 it was transferred to the 21st Militia as its Company D, and when that regiment was disbanded this Company D became the 19th Separate Company. This company was frequently called into active service between 1847 and 1852, while the Hudson River railroad was being built, to quell labor riots. July 17, 1869, it was on duty quelling a riot at Pleasant Valley; in July, 1877, it was under arms during the railroad riots, and in August, 1892, it was on duty at Buffalo during the switchmens' strike. It was disbanded June 21, 1897. In September, 1862, about forty members of this Company D entered the United States service, forming Company B, 150th Volunteers, and June 18, 1863, this regiment was ordered to proceed to Harrisburg, Pa. It left the State, six companies, commanded by Col. Joseph Wright, June 26, 1863; was mustered in the United States service for thirty days from June 27, 1863, to Baltimore, Md., served in the 2d Separate Brigade, Middle Department, 8th Corps, and it was mustered out at Poughkeepsie, August 6, 1863.

TWENTY-SECOND REGIMENT.

This regiment, located in New York city and still in existence, was organized in April, 1861. In 1867 the regiment took up rifle practice as part of its drill, and in 1871 it established for itself a rifle range and system of practice which was in 1873 adopted by the National Rifle Association. Company G was disbanded March 22, 1878, and new Company G organized April 30, 1879. Company F was disbanded October 10, 1890, and new Company F organized January 8, 1891. Company I was disbanded October 10, 1890, and new Company I organized October 6, 1892. May 7, 1898, it was authorized to be temporarily consolidated into eight companies, and four companies of the 13th Regiment were attached to it, preparatory to entry into the United States service, in which it was mustered on May 24, 1898, as the 22d Regiment Infantry, N. Y. Volunteers, and it was mustered out November 23, 1898. February 19, 1902, the regiment was converted into a regiment of engineers retaining, however, its number.

The regiment has received authority to place silver rings on the lances of its colors, engraved as follows:

On the National Color.— Harper's Ferry, 1862; Gettysburg Campaign, 1863; Sporting Hill, Pa., June 30, 1863; Carlisle, Pa., July 1, 1863; Spanish-American war, 1898.

On the State Color.— Draft riots, 1863; Orange riots, 1871; Buffalo, 1892; Brooklyn, 1895.

This regiment, nine companies, served in the War of the Rebellion, left the State May 28, 1862, commanded by Col. James Monroe. It was mustered in the United States service for three months at Baltimore, Md., and mustered out under the command of Lieut.-Col. Lloyd Aspinwall, September 5, 1862, at New York city.

June 18, 1863, the regiment, commanded by Colonel Aspinwall, was ordered to proceed to Harrisburg, Pa. It left the State on the same day, was mustered in the United States service for thirty days; served in the 4th Brigade, 1st Division, Department Susquehanna, and from July 8th, in the 3d Brigade, 2d Division, 6th Corps, Army of Potomac. It was mustered out July 24, 1863, at New York city.

During its service in 1862, the regiment lost by death, of disease, one officer; and in its service in 1863, it took part in the following skirmishes: June 30th, at Sporting Hill, Pa.; July 1st, at Carlisle, Pa., where it had one officer and two enlisted men wounded.

TWENTY-EIGHTH REGIMENT.

Rifles.

This regiment, then located at Brooklyn, now not in existence, left the State (ten companies) April 30, 1861, under orders to proceed to Washington, D. C. It was there mustered in the service of the United States for three months, and, commanded by Col. Michael Bennett, served at that city and vicinity until it was mustered out at Brooklyn, August 5, 1861.

June 16, 1863, it was again mustered in the United States service, but for thirty days, and, commanded by Colonel Bennett (ten companies), proceeded to Harrisburg, Pa. It served at that city, Marysville, Carlisle and Gettysburg, Pa., in the 2d Brigade, 1st Division, Department Susquehanna, and was mustered out at Brooklyn, July 22, 1863.

In August, 1864, the regiment (seven companies), then commanded by Col. David A. Bokee, proceeded to Elmira, where it served, and was mustered in the United States service, for 100 days, from various dates in August, 1864. It was mustered out at New York city, November 13, 1864.

In its service in 1864, the regiment lost, died of disease, one enlisted man; it took part in the advance into Virginia and occupation of Arlington Heights, May 24, 1861; in a skirmish near Chain Bridge, Va., June 2, 1861, and near Fort Washington, Pa., July 2, 1863.

FIFTY-SIXTH REGIMENT.

Of this regiment, which was located in Brooklyn, but is not now in service, a number of men volunteered in October, 1862, for nine months.

June 18, 1863, it was ordered to Harrisburg, Pa., for a service of thirty days; commanded by Col. John Q. Adams, it left the State June 19, 1863, and served in the Third Brigade, 1st Division, Department Susquehanna, and July 24, 1863, it was mustered out of the service of the United States at Brooklyn.

August 2, 1864, it was mustered into the United States service for 100 days and it served, commanded by Col. John Q. Adams, at Elmira, until it was mustered out November 6, 1864.

March 15, 1865, Colonel Adams received authority to recruit his regiment for a service of one year as part of the volunteer forces; the necessity for more troops ceasing to exist shortly after, the organization was not carried out. The men enlisted, about 200, were discharged May 3, 1865, at Hart's Island, New York harbor.

The regiment in its service in 1863 took part in a skirmish near Oyster Point, Pa., June 29, 1863, and it lost in its service in 1864, by death, of disease, two enlisted men.

SIXTY-FOURTH REGIMENT.

Portions of this regiment, which is not now in existence, entered the United States service in 1861, forming the nucleus of the 64th Volunteers.

SIXTY-FIFTH REGIMENT.

This regiment, located at Buffalo and still in existence, was organized in 1848. Companies K and I were disbanded, the latter in 1875. A new Company I was organized in 1879, and Company E was consolidated with Company H the same year. In 1880 Company B was consolidated with Company A, and Troop L, Cavalry, 8th Division, was reorganized as a company of infantry and attached to the regiment as Company E. In 1881 Companies D and E were disbanded. A new Company B and a new Company D were organized in 1885. April 28, 1898, the regiment received authority to organize as a twelve-company regiment, preparatory to entry into the United States service, the 13th Separate Company becoming for the time one of the additional companies. It was mustered in the United States service May 17, 1898, as the 65th Regiment, N. Y. Volunteer Infantry, and mustered out of such service November 17, 1898. Companies K, L and M were ordered disbanded May 31, 1899.

The regiment has received authority to place silver rings on the lances of its colors, engraved as follows:

On the National Color.— Gettysburg Campaign, 1863; before Petersburg, Va., October 20, 1864, to April 2, 1865; Hatcher's Run, Va., October 27–28, 1864; Hicksford Raid, Va., December 6–11, 1864; Hatcher's Run, Va., February 5–7, 1865; Appomattox Campaign, Va., March 28 to April 9, 1864; White Oak Ridge, March 29–31, 1865; Five Forks, April 1, 1865; fall of Petersburg, April 2, 1865; Appomattox Court House, April 9, 1865; Spanish-American war, 1898.

On the State Color.— Canal riot, Buffalo, 1849; Draft riots, New York, 1863; Railroad strike, Buffalo, 1877; Railroad strike, Buffalo, 1892; Lumbermen's strike, Tonawanda, 1893.

Service in the War of the Rebellion.

In 1861 this regiment furnished men to the 21st and 49th Volunteer Infantry and Battery I, 1st Artillery.

June 18, 1863, the regiment was ordered to Harrisburg, Pa., and left the State June 19th, commanded by Lieut.-Col. William F. Berens; it was mustered in the United States service for thirty days at Mt. Union, Pa., where it served, and mustered out of that service July 30, 1863, at Buffalo.

In October, 1864, practically the whole of this regiment went into the United States service as the larger part of the 187th Volunteers.

SIXTY-NINTH REGIMENT.

The 69th Regiment, located in New York city and still in existence, was organized October 12, 1851. In 1858 it was reorganized as an artillery regiment, doing duty as infantry. The regiment has rendered the State service during the Quarantine riots in 1858, the Draft riots, 1863, and the Quarantine disturbances in 1892. It was reduced, December 6, 1893, to a battalion of five companies, A, C, D, I and K. The battalion was on duty at Brooklyn during the Motormen's strike in January, 1895. New companies were organized for the battalion as follows: Company B, June 5, 1894; Company G, June 10, 1895; Company E, June 11, 1895, and Company F, September 7, 1900. The battalion was reconstituted a regiment September 4, 1895. April 28, 1898, the regiment received authority to organize as a twelve-company regiment, preparatory to its entry in the United States service, in which service it was mustered May 19, 1898, as the 69th Regiment, N. Y. Volunteer Infantry, and mustered out January 31, 1899. Companies L and M were disbanded April 12, 1899; Company F, February 8, 1900, and Company B, March 5, 1900. Company F was reorganized and mustered in, May 31, 1900.

Service in the War of the Rebellion.

April 20, 1861, it was ordered to proceed to Washington, D. C.; it left the State April 23, 1861, and May 9, 1861, under the command of Col. Michael Corcoran, it was mustered in the service of the United States for three months; it served at and near Annapolis, Md., from April 27, 1861; at and near Washington and in the 3d Brigade, 1st Division, Army North-East Virginia from May, 1861; it was mustered out in New York city, August 3, 1861.

On its return from this service a large majority of the regiment volunteered for a period of three years, forming the nucleus of the 69th Volunteers.

May 26, 1862, the regiment, then commanded by Col. James Bagley, was again ordered to Washington and was mustered in the service of the United States for three months; it left the State May 29, 1862; served in the defenses of Washington, and was mustered out September 3, 1862, at New York city.

On the return of the regiment from this service again a large portion of it entered the volunteer service as part of an organization known as the 69th Regiment National Guard Artillery, but later as the 182d Volunteers.

June 18, 1863, the regiment was ordered to Harrisburg, Pa., for a service of thirty days. It left the State June 22, 1863, commanded by Colonel Bagley; served at Baltimore, Md., in the 2d Separate Brigade, Middle Department, 8th Corps, and was mustered out of the United States service July 25, 1863, at New York city.

July 6, 1864, the regiment, still commanded by Colonel Bagley, was again mustered in the United States service, but for a period of ninety days; it served in the harbor of New York, and was mustered out October 6, 1864.

In its service in 1861, the regiment lost, killed in action, 1 officer, 37 enlisted men; died of wounds received in action, 2 enlisted men; died of disease, etc., 5 enlisted men; in its service in 1864, died of disease, 2 officers, 1 enlisted man; total, 3 officers, 45 enlisted men; aggregate, 48.

It took part in the advance into Virginia and occupation of Arlington Heights, May 24, 1861; in a skirmish at Blackburn's Ford, July 18, 1861; and in the battle of Bull Run, Va., July 21, 1861, where it lost, killed, 1 officer, 36 enlisted men; wounded, 1 officer, 59 enlisted men; captured 3 officers, 92 enlisted men; aggregate, 192.

SEVENTIETH REGIMENT.

Quite a portion of this regiment, which is not now in existence, entered the United States service as volunteers and members of the 5th Artillery.

In 1863 the regiment saw service in Brooklyn during the Draft riots.

SEVENTY-FIRST REGIMENT.

American Guard.

The regiment, located in New York city and still in the service, was organized originally as a battalion of four companies, A, B, C and D in June, 1850; it was made a regiment August 2, 1852. The American Rifles, a battalion of four companies, formed the nucleus of the regiment. September 21, 1870, the 37th Regiment was consolidated with the 71st Regiment, Companies E, D, H, A, G, K and B of the 37th Regiment being consolidated with Companies A, C, D, E, F, G and K of the 71st Regiment, respectively. April 28, 1898, it received authority to organize as a twelve-company regiment, preparatory to its entry into the United States service, in which it was mustered May 10, 1898, as the 71st Regiment, N. Y. Volunteer Infantry, and mustered out November 15, 1898. December 8, 1898, it was reorganized as a National Guard regiment, composed of ten companies, Companies L and M being disbanded.

The regiment has received authority to place silver rings on the lances of its colors, engraved as follows:

SEVENTY-FOURTH REGIMENT.

This regiment is still in existence and located at Buffalo. Its organization commenced in June, 1854, Company D of the 65th Regiment forming the nucleus. Company B was organized in August and Companies C and E in September, 1854; Company A was formed in May, 1855, and these five companies constituted the regiment until February, 1858, when two companies, one of cavalry (R) and one of rifles (L), were organized and attached to it. In 1860 Companies F, G, H and I were organized, and the designation of Company L was, in 1865, changed to Company K. Company R was disbanded in 1865, Company H in 1868; Company I was consolidated with Company B in 1870, and in 1882 Companies E and K were disbanded. Company E was reorganized in 1886 and Company H in 1891. During the War of the Rebellion the regiment furnished to the country nearly 300 officers and over 1,000 men, who received their first military instruction while members of it.

The regiment has received authority to place silver rings on the lances of its colors, engraved as follows:

On the National Color.— Gettysburg Campaign, 1863; Buffalo, November and December, 1863.

On the State Color.— Draft riots, 1863; Negro riot, 1864; Fenian invasion of Canada, 1866; Hornellsville, 1877; Buffalo, 1892.

Service in the War of the Rebellion.

In May, 1861, four of its companies, B, C, D and F, volunteered in a body, forming the nucleus of the 21st Volunteers.

June 18, 1863, the regiment was ordered to Harrisburg, Pa., for a service of thirty days, and, commanded by Col. Watson A. Fox, it left the State (nine companies) June 19, 1863. It served at Mount Union, Pa., and was mustered out of the United States service August 3, 1863 at Buffalo, N. Y.

November 16, 1863, the regiment was again mustered in the United States service for thirty days for the protection of the frontiers of the State. It served (nine companies), at Buffalo and was there mustered out December 16, 1863.

The regiment lost by death in its first service in 1863, one enlisted man died of disease, and took part in a skirmish near Clear Spring, Md., July 10, 1863.

Volunteer Organizations of the State

THE Legislature by act approved April 16, 1861, authorized the organization of thirty-eight regiments of volunteer militia for a service of two years. These organizations were eventually all accepted by the United States government, although objections were raised, first that men were wanted for three months only and later that men were wanted for three years. Under the act mentioned above it was proposed to form these regiments into four divisions and nine brigades; this plan had to be abandoned as the War Department declined to recognize general officers not appointed by the President. The officers of these thirty-eight regiments were, under the Militia Laws of the State, elected by the officers and enlisted men and then appointed by the Governor, until an act of Congress conferred the absolute power of appointment of officers of volunteer organizations in the service of the United States upon the Governor of the State which furnished them.

The three years, one year and nine months' organizations were furnished later under the authority of the War Department.

Under General Orders of the War Department, issued in fall of 1863 and spring of 1864, men in the service, who had served two years, were permitted to re-enlist for three years or the war, and were denominated Veteran Volunteers. Organizations, of whose members 50 per cent. re-enlisted in this manner, were designated Veteran Volunteer regiments or batteries, and are here indicated by the designation "Veteran," in parentheses, after their State designation. The men received furloughs for thirty days, and the organization usually went in a body on this furlough, leaving those not re-enlisting or who were not entitled to do so in the field attached to other bodies of troops.

In May, 1865, orders were issued for the muster out of organizations, requiring, however, the men whose term of service would expire after October 1st to be transferred to other regiments not then to be mustered out but of whom the men whose service would expire before October 1st were ordered to be mustered out; this caused a great many transfers, and even reorganizations of regiments. The order was not always carried out, and later on ceased to be of effect.

Brigades

CORCORAN'S BRIGADE OR IRISH LEGION.

Col. Michael Corcoran, 69th Militia, on his return from captivity, was appointed a Brigadier-General of United States Volunteers, and received in July, 1862, authority to recruit a brigade; upon his recommendation the Governor of the State authorized the following to recruit regiments for this brigade:

Col. Mathew Murphy, in August, 1862, to recruit the 69th National Guard as the 1st Regiment.

Col. Peter McDermott, July 17, 1862, to recruit the 2d Regiment.

Col. John E. McMahon, August 8, 1862, to recruit the 3d Regiment.

Col. Michael K. Bryan, September 24, 1862, to recruit the 4th Regiment.

Col. William McEvily, October 10, 1862, to recruit the 5th Regiment.

Col. Thomas M. Reed, September 16, 1862, to recruit the 6th Regiment.

Col. James C. Burke, September 27, 1862, transferred from the Empire Brigade, to recruit the 7th Regiment.

And the formation of another, the 8th Regiment, was also commenced.

These organizations, except the 2d and 4th Regiments, left the State early in November, 1862, and being below the minimum strength, were, by order of Governor Morgan, consolidated at Newport News, Va., November 17, 1862, as follows:

The 1st Regiment was formed of the original 1st Regiment and part of the 6th, and Col. Mathew Murphy placed in command; later it was designated the 182d Regiment of Volunteers.

The 2d Regiment was formed of the original 5th Regiment, Companies A and D of the 3d, and D of the 6th Regiment, with Col. Wm. McEvily in command; it was designated the 155th Regiment of Volunteers.

The 3d Regiment was formed of part of the 3d, all of the 7th, and the men recruited for the 8th Regiment; Col. John E. McMahon was placed in command, and it was designated the 164th Regiment of Volunteers.

The 4th Regiment was formed of the original 2d Regiment; Col. Peter McDermott was assigned to its command, and the regiment designated the 170th Regiment of Volunteers.

The 5th Regiment, which, however, never served with the brigade, was formed of the former 4th Regiment, filled by transfer of incomplete organizations, designated the 175th Regiment of Volunteers, and Col. M. K. Bryan placed in command of it.

The 155th, 164th, 170th and 182d Regiments served in the field, principally in the 2d Corps, Army of Potomac, in the Corcoran Brigade.

MEAGHER'S IRISH BRIGADE.

September 9, 1861, Governor Morgan accepted the proposal of Capt. Thomas Francis Meagher, late 69th Militia, who was later appointed Brigadier-General of the United States Volunteers, to raise a brigade, and authority was granted to

Col. Robert Nugent to recruit the 1st Regiment, taking in the men already enlisted by him under the authority of the War Department; this regiment was known as the 69th Volunteers.

Capt. Thomas Francis Meagher, as temporary Colonel, to recruit the 2d Regiment; this was consolidated with the 4th Regiment, and was known as and formed part of the 88th Volunteers.

Col. R. C. Enright, to recruit the 3d Regiment; the organization was completed, and the regiment received the State designation and served as the 63d Volunteers.

Col. Henry M. Baker, to recruit the 4th Regiment, the organization of which was not completed; it was consolidated with the 2d Regiment, and formed part of the 88th Volunteers.

These three regiments served in the field to the close of the war, in the 2d Corps, Army of Potomac, as the Irish Brigade.

Besides these regiments of infantry there was also organized a battalion of artillery as the 5th Regiment, which received the State designation of 2d Battalion of Light Artillery, and later became the 14th and 15th Batteries of Artillery.

METROPOLITAN BRIGADE.

Police Commissioner James Bowen, of the Metropolitan Police of New York city, under authority from this State and with the consent of the general government, recruited this brigade, with the assistance of the police departments of New York city and Brooklyn, and was later appointed Brigadier-General of United States Volunteers by the President. Upon his recommendation, the following were appointed to organize and command the regiments:

Col. Charles S. Turnbull, July 12, 1862, the 1st Regiment, which became the 131st Volunteers.

Col. L. D. H. Currie, July 12, 1862, the 2d Regiment, which became the 133d Volunteers.

Col. Lewis Benedict, July 12, 1862, the 3d Regiment, which became the 162d Volunteers.

Col. Chas. B. Morton, September 22, 1862, the 4th Regiment, which became the 173d Volunteers.

Col. Theodore W. Parmelé, October 3, 1862; the 5th Regiment, which became the 174th Volunteers.

Major Morris De Camp received authority October 28, 1862, to recruit a battalion of cavalry for the brigade; he was succeeded November 19, 1862, by Maj. Wm. B. Hyde, and he, January 10, 1863, by Col. Thaddeus P. Mott, under whom the battalion was increased to a regiment which received the designation 14th Regiment of Cavalry.

The regiments of this brigade never served together in the field as a brigade organization.

SCROGG'S OR EAGLE BRIGADE.

General Gustavus A. Scroggs, of the State Militia and of Buffalo, received authority from the War Department, August 19, 1861, to recruit a brigade of four regiments. Authority to organize regiments for the brigade was granted to Cols. Daniel Ullman, James M. Brown, John P. Jenkins and George A. Buckingham.

Only one regiment was completed, the 2d, Colonel Brown, which was designated by the State authorities, the 100th Regiment of Volunteers; the 1st Regiment, Colonel Ullman, and the men recruited for the 4th Regiment, were consolidated with Col. S. McK. Elliott's regiment, and designated the 78th Regiment of Volunteers; the men enlisted for a so-called 3d Regiment, Colonel Jenkins, formed Companies I and K of the 95th Volunteers; and the 5th Regiment, Colonel Buckingham, known also as the 53d Volunteers second organization, was consolidated with the 132d and 162d Regiments of Volunteers.

SICKLES' OR EXCELSIOR BRIGADE.

Under authority of the President, dated May 18, 1861, Mr. Daniel E. Sickles recruited and completed this brigade in the summer of 1861 at considerable personal expense, notwithstanding many obstacles were in his way.

The 1st Regiment was organized with Mr. Sickles as temporary Colonel, and was later known as the 70th Volunteers.

The 2d Regiment was organized under Col. George B. Hall and Lieut.-Col. H. L. Potter, and known as the 71st Volunteers.

The 3d Regiment was organized under Col. Nelson Taylor, and known as the 72d Volunteers.

The 4th Regiment was organized under Col. James Fairman, and known as the 73d Volunteers.

The 5th Regiment was organized under Col. Chas. K. Graham, and known as the 74th Volunteers.

These regiments were turned over to the State as part of its volunteer force, and, in accordance with the orders of the Secretary of War of December 5, 1861, were numbered by the State authorities, December 11, 1861; they served together while in service as the Excelsior or Sickles' Brigade in the 3d and 2d Corps, and Col. Daniel E. Sickles was successively appointed Brigadier and Major-General, U. S. Volunteers, and disabled (loss of right leg) at the battle of Gettysburg, Pa.

There were, also, recruited for the brigade two batteries, the 1st and 2d Excelsior Batteries; a third battery, not completed, was consolidated with the 2d; these two batteries received the State designation, 5th and 10th Independent Batteries, respectively.

SPINOLA'S OR EMPIRE BRIGADE.

The Hon. F. B. Spinola received, with the sanction of the general government, June 2, 1862, authority from Governor Morgan to recruit a brigade of four or five regiments; the strength of the brigade was limited to four regiments July 23, 1862. Mr. Spinola, who was later appointed Brigadier-General, United States Volunteers, by the President, was assigned, temporarily, as Colonel of the 1st Regiment, and July 14, 1862, James Jourdan was appointed Colonel to succeed him. Colonels W. B. Olmsted, Peter J. Claassen, Hale Kingsley and James C. Burke were authorized to recruit regiments for the brigade. Colonel Hale Kingsley declined and was succeeded by Mariott N. Croft, and he by F. H. Braulick. In September, 1862, the brigade consisted of the 1st Regiment, Col. James Jourdan, known as the 158th Regiment of Volunteers; the 2d Regiment, Col. Peter J. Claassen, known as the 132d Regiment of Volunteers; the 3d Regiment, Col. F. H. Braulick, known as the 163d Regiment of Volunteers.

The 4th Regiment, Col. James C. Burke, Phœnix Regiment, incomplete, was transferred to the Corcoran Brigade September 22, 1862, and was finally known as the 164th Regiment of Volunteers. Colonel Olmsted's regiment, the Thurlow Weed Guards, was merged into Colonel Claassen's regiment, which had also received, September 10, 1862, about 250 men of the 53d Regiment of Volunteers, second organization.

The regiments did not serve together in the field as a brigade.

Regiments, Battalions, Batteries and Companies

Cavalry

FIRST REGIMENT OF CAVALRY (VETERAN).

Lincoln Cavalry; Carbine Rangers; Sabre Regiment; First United States Volunteer Cavalry.

This regiment was organized in New York city by Col. Carl Schurz, succeeded by Col. Andrew T. McReynolds (June 15, 1861), under special authority from the President, dated May 1, 1861, and was mustered into the United States service between July 16 and August 31, 1861, for a service of three years.

Companies A, B, D, E, G, H, I, L and M, were recruited principally in New York city, four of them being composed of Germans, Hungarians and Poles; Company C, Boyd's Company C, Cavalry, Pa. Vols., at Philadelphia; F, at Syracuse; and K, Michigan Company, at Grand Rapids, Mich.

The regiment left the State by detachments; Company C, the first in the field, leaving July 22, 1861; by September 10, 1861, the regiment was all in the field; it served at and near Washington, D. C., from July, 1861; in Franklin's and Heintzelman's Divisions, Army of Potomac, from October 4, 1861; in 1st Division, 1st Corps, Army of Potomac, from March 24, 1862; with the 6th Corps, Army of Potomac, from May, 1862; in 1st Cavalry Brigade, Army of Potomac, from July 8, 1862; in 4th Brigade, Cavalry Division, Army of Potomac, from September, 1862; in Averill's Cavalry Division, 8th Corps, Middle Department, from October, 1862; with the forces for the defense of the Upper Potomac, 8th Corps, Middle Department, from November, 1862; in the 3d Brigade, 2d Division, 8th Corps, from March, 1863; in the Department of the Susquehanna, from June, 1863; in the Department of W. Va., from August, 1863; in the 1st Brigade, 1st Division, Cavalry, Army of W. Va., from November, 1863; in the 2d Brigade, 2d Division, Army of W. Va., from August 27, 1864; in the Army of the Shenandoah, from October, 1864, and in the 3d Brigade, 3d Division, Cavalry, Army of the Shenandoah, from December, 1864, and with the Army of the Potomac, from March, 1865.

At the expiration of its term of service, those entitled thereto were discharged, and the regiment, composed of veterans and recruits, continued in the service until June 27, 1865, when, commanded by Col. Alonzo W. Adams, it was mustered out at Alexandria, Va.

During its service the regiment lost by death, killed in action, 3 officers, 22 enlisted men; died of wounds received in action, 2 officers, 21 enlisted men; died of disease and other causes, 2 officers, 118 enlisted men; total, 7 officers, and 161 enlisted men; aggregate, 168; of whom 44 enlisted men died in the hands of the enemy.

The regiment, or portions of it, took part in the following engagements, etc.:

SECOND REGIMENT OF CAVALRY (VETERAN).

Harris Light Cavalry; Seventh United States, or New York State Cavalry.

July 25, 1861, Col. J. Mansfield Davies received authority from the War Department to recruit a regiment of cavalry. He recruited this regiment and organized it at Scarsdale; it was mustered in the service of the United States for three years, between August 9 and October 8, 1861. It was originally known as the Harris Light Cavalry; the War Department designated it, October 26, 1861, the 7th Regiment of Cavalry in the service of the United States, but when the regiment was turned over to the State as one of the State organizations, it was numbered the 2d Regiment of N. Y. Volunteer Cavalry. At the expiration of its term of service those entitled thereto were discharged and August 29, 1864, the regiment was consolidated into a battalion of four companies, A, B, C and D, and, composed of veterans and recruits, retained in the service. In September and October, 1864, eight new companies joined, raising the battalion to a regimental organization again; these companies had been recruited for a service of one year.

The companies were recruited principally: A at New York city, Hartford, Conn., and Newton, N. J.; B at Newton and Deckertown, N. J., and at Newburgh, Troy, Watertown and Port Jervis; C and D — Connecticut Squadron — at Hartford, Conn.; E at New York city, Troy, Fort Edward and Cambridge; F at Covington, Ind., Fairhaven, Vt., Troy and Richfield Springs; G at New York city, Newburgh and Fort Edward; H at Chambersburg, Ind.; I at Lafayette, Ind.; K at Scranton, Pa., Hampton, Newark and Rockaway, N. J., New York city, Troy and Richfield Springs; L at New York city, Hudson, Troy, Fort Ann, Fort Edward and Litchfield; and M at New York city, Newburgh Plattsburgh and Port Henry. The companies raised in 1864 were recruited principally: E — Ticonderoga Cavalry Company — at Plattsburgh and Ticonderoga; F at Elmira and Syracuse; G and H at Manlius, Rochester, Elbridge, Onondaga, Syracuse, Cicero, Pompey, DeWitt, Chenango, Spafford, Lafayette, Albany, Salina, Skaneateles and Geddes; I at Hart's Island, Kingston, Poughkeepsie, Jamaica, Tarrytown and Albany; K at Mt. Morris, Goshen, Farmington, Poughkeepsie, Avon, Hopewell and Elmira; L and M at New York city and Brooklyn.

The regiment left the State in September and October, 1861, and served in McDowell's Division, Army of the Potomac, from October, 1861; with the 3d Division, 1st Corps, Army of the Potomac, from March, 1862; with King's Division, Department Rappahannock, from May, 1862; in Cavalry Brigade, 2d Division, 3d Corps, Army of Virginia, from June, 1862; in Bayard's Cavalry Brigade, Army of the Potomac, from September, 1862 (Companies A and B, I and K, in 3d Division, 1st Corps, Army of the Potomac, in September and October, 1862); in Gregg's Cavalry Brigade, Army of the Potomac, from December 15, 1862; in 1st Brigade, 3d Division, Cavalry Corps, Army of the Potomac, from February 11, 1863 (a battalion with 1st Brigade, 1st Division, 4th Corps, on the Peninsula, Va., from May to July, 1863); in 2d Brigade, 2d Division, Cavalry, Army of the Potomac, from June 14, 1863; in the 1st Brigade, 3d Division, Cavalry Corps, Army of the Potomac, from August 12, 1863; Cavalry, Army of the Shenandoah, from October, 1864, and with the Army of the Potomac from March, 1865. Commanded by Col. Alanson M. Randol, Companies E, F, G, H, I and K were mustered out June 5, 1865, and the remainder of the regiment, June 23, 1865, at Alexandria, Va.

During its service the regiment lost by death, killed in action, 7 officers, 67 enlisted men; died of wounds received in action, 2 officers, 47 enlisted men; died of disease and other causes, 3 officers, 246 enlisted men; total, 12 officers, 360 enlisted men; aggregate, 372; of whom 1 officer and 106 enlisted men died in the hands of the enemy.

THIRD REGIMENT OF CAVALRY (VETERAN).

Van Alen Cavalry. Mix Cavalry.

July 26, 1861, Col. James H. Van Alen received authority from the War Department to recruit this regiment. As soon as companies were organized they were forwarded to Meridian Hill, near Washington, D. C., where the regiment was organized, and where September 9, 1861, Colonel Van Alen took command. The Onondaga Cavalry was merged into the regiment; the 6th Independent Company, Ohio Cavalry, and Unattached Company A, New Jersey Cavalry, were assigned to the regiment as Companies L and M, respectively; the latter was, however, April 8, 1862, transferred to the 1st N. J. Cavalry as Company L, and a new Company M organized for the regiment in September, 1862. The companies were mustered in the service of the United States for three years; A, C, F and H at Rochester, July 17, August 4, 20, and 27, 1861, respectively; B and I at Syracuse, July 30 and August 27, 1861, respectively; D at Albany, August 12, 1861; E and K at Elmira, August 22 and May 14, 1861, respectively; G at Boonville, August 21, 1861; L at Cincinnati, Ohio, September 13, 1861; and M (2d organization) at Albany, September 10, 1862. Company K was originally Company G of the 13th N. Y. Volunteer Infantry (two years' regiment) and was ordered transferred to the 3d Cavalry August 23, 1861. At the expiration of its term of service, those entitled thereto were discharged, and the regiment, composed of veterans and recruits, continued in the service.

The companies were recruited principally: A, C and H at Rochester; B at Syracuse; D at Schoharie, Schenevus, Schaghticoke, Albany, Cobleskill, Gallupsville and Unadilla; E at Delhi, Deposit, Elmira, Margaretville, Middletown and Walton; F at Medina, Newstead and Newfane; G at Utica, Leyden, Boonville, Lowville and Watson; I at Syracuse and North Hamburgh; K at Elmira, Brockport and Rochester; L at Cincinnati and Xenia, Ohio, and M (2d organization) at Rochester and Brockport.

The regiment served: Four companies in Banks', and six in Stone's Division, Army of the Potomac, from October, 1861; at Washington, D. C., from March, 1862; in North Carolina, Department North Carolina, and 18th Corps, from April, 1862; in 1st Brigade, Kautz's Division, Cavalry, Army of the James, from April, 1864; at and about Norfolk, Va., from December 4, 1864; at Portsmouth, Va., from January, 1865; at Suffolk, Va., from March, 1865; and at Norfolk, Va., from June, 1865.

July 4, 1865, the enlisted men of Company G were transferred to Company A, those of H to Companies A, B, F and L; those of K to B; of M to L; and some of the men of Company F to E; reducing the regiment to eight companies, A, B, C, D, E, F, I and L; July 12, 1865, Company D was transferred to Company L; E to F; and I to C; July 21, 1865, the remaining five companies, A, B, C, F and L, commanded by Col. Geo. W. Lewis, were consolidated at Norfolk, Va., with the 1st Regiment Mounted Rifles, N. Y. Volunteers, forming Companies F, B, I, H and L, respectively, of a new organization, designated September 6, 1865, the 4th Provisional Regiment, N. Y. Volunteer Cavalry.

During its service the regiment lost by death, killed in action, 3 officers, 29 enlisted men; died of wounds received in action, 19 enlisted men; died of disease and other causes, 2 officers, 154 enlisted men; total, 5 officers and 202 enlisted men; aggregate, 207; of whom 38 enlisted men died in the hands of the enemy.

The regiment, or portions of it, took part in the following engagements, etc.:

FOURTH REGIMENT OF CAVALRY.

First Regiment, German Cavalry; Dickel's Mounted Rifles; Lincoln Greens.

In May, 1861, Major Byron commenced recruiting a body of cavalry known as the Lincoln Greens; in June, Col. Christian F. Dickel became connected with it, and July 26, 1861, received authority from the War Department to organize a regiment of cavalry; he took the Lincoln Greens for a nucleus of his regiment which was then known as Dickel's Mounted Rifles. The regiment was organized at New York city; mustered in the service of the United States for three years, between August 10 and November 15, 1861, and designated by the State authorities the 4th Regiment of Cavalry. In November, 1861, two companies recruited, respectively, by Captains Trautwein and de Rosecrantz, for the German Cavalry, a regiment to recruit which Col. G. A. Moltke received authority from the War Department August 20, 1861, but which failed of organization, joined this regiment; Captain Trautwein's company becoming Company H, and Captain de Rosecrantz's company being transferred to the other companies, principally to Company I. In fall of 1861, the company recruited by Capt. John McDonnell for the regiment was consolidated with the other companies. Company K was mustered in the United States service November 15, 1862; Company L, December, 1862; and Company M, February 13, 1863. In August, September, October and November, 1864, the men entitled thereto were discharged, and the recruits and veterans transferred to Companies F, K, L and M, and retained in the service.

The companies were recruited principally: A, D, E, F, G, I and K at New York city; B and C at Yonkers; H at Cleveland, Ohio, and New York city; L at New York city, Brooklyn, Stuyvesant, Kinderhook and Poughkeepsie; and M at New York city and Brooklyn. Captain McDonnell's company was recruited at Philadelphia, Pa.; Captain de Rosecrantz's company at New York city.

The regiment (eight companies) left the State August 29, 1861, and served in Blenker's Division, Army of the Potomac, from September, 1861; in 5th Corps, Army of the Potomac, from March, 1862; in Mountain Department from April, 1862; in the Cavalry Brigade of the 1st Corps, Army of Virginia, from June, 1862; in the Cavalry Brigade, 1st Division, 11th Corps, Army of the Potomac, from September, 1862; in the 1st Brigade, 2d Division, Cavalry Corps, Army of the Potomac, from February, 1863; in the 1st Brigade, 3d Division, Cavalry, Army of the Potomac, from May, 1863; in 2d Brigade, 2d Division, Cavalry, Army of the Potomac, from June 14, 1863; and in the 2d Brigade, 1st Division, Cavalry Corps, Army of the Potomac, from August 12, 1863; with the Army of the Potomac detached from the Cavalry Corps, in May, 1864; with the Cavalry Corps again toward end of May, 1864; in the Army of the Shenandoah from October, 1864.

February 27, 1865, the battalion commanded by Maj. Edward Schwartz was transferred to the 9th N. Y. Volunteer Cavalry, Company F becoming its Company E, the members of Company K being transferred to Companies B, E, H, M and L, Company L becoming L, and M Company B, of the same.

While in the service, the regiment lost by death, killed in action, 4 officers, 40 enlisted men; died of wounds received in action, 1 officer, 12 enlisted men; died of disease and other causes, 3 officers, 54 enlisted men; total, 8 officers, 106 enlisted men; aggregate, 114; of whom 1 officer and 14 enlisted men died in the hands of the enemy.

SIXTH REGIMENT OF CAVALRY (VETERAN).

Ira Harris Cavalry; Second Ira Harris Guard.

This regiment was organized originally by Col. O. De Forrest for the Ira Harris Cavalry Brigade, under special authority from the War Department, at New York city, and was, after having been turned over to the State, November 20, 1861, designated the Sixth Regiment of Cavalry, with Thomas C. Devin as Colonel. The companies were mustered in the service of the United States: At New York city, Company A September 12th, B September 27th, D September 28th, and I November 2d; at Staten Island, Company E October 3d, F October 24th, H October 28th, L November 6th, K and M December 19th; at Rochester, Company C September 29th, and at Binghamton, Company G October 24, 1861. At the expiration of its term of service those entitled thereto were discharged and the regiment retained in service.

The companies were recruited principally: A at New York city and Cohoes and Boston, Mass.; B and L at New York city; C at Rochester, Cohocton, Geneseo, Hornellsville and Dansville; D at Troy, Cherry Valley, Granville and New York city; E at New York city, Albany, Watertown, Cherry Valley, Salt Springs and Cape Vincent; F at New York city and Poughkeepsie; G at Binghamton, Rochester, Hornellsville and Albion; H at New York city, Dover Plains and Washington; I at New York city, Cuba, Franklinville, Gouverneur, Angelica and Binghamton; K at Ogdensburg, Geneseo, Lisbon and Canton; and M at Kinderhook and Hudson.

The regiment left the State December 23, 1861, commanded by Col. Thomas C. Devin, appointed in November, 1861, and served at York, Pa., from that time. In March, 1862, Companies D and K, and F and H, 3d Battalion, were mounted and assigned, two each, to the 2d and 4th Corps, Army of the Potomac, respectively; the 1st and 2d Battalions were attached to General Wadsworth's command, and mounted in May, 1862. Companies D and K served with the 2d Corps until July, 1863; in the Department of Washington until October, 1863; and F and H with the 4th Corps until August, 1863, when they rejoined the regiment. The 1st and 2d Battalions served with the 9th Corps from August, 1862 (Company A with the 6th Corps in September, 1862); in the 2d Brigade, Pleasanton's Cavalry Division, Right Grand Division, Army of the Potomac, from December, 1862; in the 2d Brigade, 1st Division, Cavalry Corps, Army of the Potomac, from February, 1863 (Companies B and C with 9th Corps in January and February, 1863; a detachment with 22d Corps in July and August, 1863); with the Army of the Shenandoah from October, 1864; and with the Army of the Potomac from March 26, 1865.

June 17, 1865, under command of Col. Charles L. Fitzhugh, the regiment was consolidated into eight companies, and these, with the 15th N. Y. Volunteer Cavalry, formed into a new organization known as the "2d Provisional Regiment, N. Y. Volunteer Cavalry," becoming Companies A, B, C, D, E, I, L and M of the latter.

During its service the regiment lost, by death, killed in action, 5 officers, 49 enlisted men; of wounds received in action, 4 officers, 24 enlisted men; of disease and other causes, 133 enlisted men; total, 9 officers, 206 enlisted men; aggregate, 215; of whom 36 enlisted men died in the hands of the enemy; and it, or portions of it, took part in the following engagements, etc.:

SEVENTH REGIMENT OF CAVALRY.

First Mounted Rifles. This regiment was also designated at times, and especially by the War Department, as the 7th N. Y. Volunteer Cavalry; the sketch of the regiment will, however, be found under its correct appellation, namely, 1st Regiment Mounted Rifles.

Northern Black Horse Cavalry. This regiment was organized at Troy to serve three years. November 18, 1861, it was designated by the State authorities as the 2d Regiment of Cavalry; by the War Department it was designated 7th N. Y. Volunteer Cavalry, under which designation it was mustered out of service, and is, therefore, here so recorded. The companies were mustered in the service of the United States, A at Salem, November 6; B at Sandy Creek, November 6; C, D, E, F and H at Troy, November 6; and G at Elmira, November 8, 1861.

There were only eight companies organized and these were recruited principally: A at Salem; B at Sandy Creek; C at Troy, Hoosick Falls, Schenectady, Berlin, Petersburgh and Grafton; D at Troy, Ogdensburgh, Newburgh, Saugerties and Goshen; E at Troy, Lowville, Albany and Carthage; F at Troy, Ballston, Broadalbin, Gloversville and Mayfield; G at Elmira, Lockport and Troy; H at Troy, Boonville, Ballston, Schuylerville, Nassau and Pittstown.

The regiment, commanded by Col. Andrew J. Morrison, left the State November 23, 1861, and served near Washington, D. C., until March 31, 1862, when, not having been mounted, it was honorably discharged and mustered out.

During its service it lost by death, of disease, seven enlisted men.

EIGHTH REGIMENT OF CAVALRY (VETERAN).

Rochester Regiment

Col. Samuel J. Crooks received authority to recruit this regiment; it was organized for a three years' service, November 14, 1861, at Rochester, where Companies A, B, C, D, E, F, I and K were mustered in the United States service November 23d, and Companies G and H November 28, 1861, only ten companies being organized; Company L having been consolidated into Company G and Company M merged into H, November 14, 1861. A number of the enlisted men of Company K were in December, 1861, transferred to other companies of the regiment, and March 8, 1862, the remaining men were transferred to the 1st Battalion of Artillery, Companies A, B and D, later 29th, 30th and 32d Batteries. A new Company K and Companies L and M were organized in August, September and October, 1862, and mustered in the United States service at Rochester for three years, September 29th, October 15th and 14th, respectively. At the expiration of the term of service of the regiment, those entitled thereto were, October 29, 1864, ordered to Rochester to be discharged and mustered out, and those remaining were, November 1, 1864, consolidated into a battalion of eight companies and retained in service. In this consolidation Companies A, B, C, D and E retained their letters and organization, Company K became Company F, L became G, and M was designated H; the enlisted men of the original Company F were transferred to Company A; those of original G to Companies B, C, D and M, old; those of original H to D and L, old; those of I to Company E, old. On the 30th of April, 1865, new Companies I, K, L and M were formed of recruits, mustered in for one and two years' service, and the regimental organization again completed.

The companies were recruited principally: A at Rochester, Penn Yan, Penfield, Webster and Canandaigua; B at Rochester, Avon, Brighton, Lima, Rush and Honeoye Falls; C at Rochester, Newark, Sodus, Palmyra, Marion and Williamson; D at Rochester, Clyde and Phelps; E at Rochester, Hartland, Middleport and Royalton; F at Rochester, Albion, Carlton, Kendall and Newark; G at Rochester, Rushville, Seneca Falls, Montezuma and Waterloo; H at Rochester, Brockport, Bergen, Clarkson, Fairport and Hamblin; I at Rochester, Clinton, Penfield, Paris, Deansville, Waterville, Ontario, Webster, North Bay and Walworth; second Company I at Buffalo and Auburn, and K at Rochester, Brockport, Batavia, Norwich, Pitcher, Pharsalia, Sherburne, Spencerport and Webster; second Company K at Rochester; third Company K at Lockport, Canandaigua, Rochester, Buffalo and New York city; Companies L and M at Rochester; second Companies L and M at Rochester, Auburn, Elmira, Canandaigua, Buffalo, Binghamton, Lockport, Oswego and Syracuse.

The regiment left the State November 29, 1861, and served in the defenses of Washington, D. C., from December, 1861; in the Department of the Shenandoah from March, 1862; in the Middle Department, 8th Corps, from June, 1862; in the 5th Brigade, Pleasanton's Division of Cavalry, Army of the Potomac, mounted, from August, 1862; in the 1st Brigade, same division, from December, 1862; in the 1st Brigade, 1st Division, Cavalry Corps, Army of the Potomac, from February, 1863; in the 2d Brigade, 3d Division, Cavalry, Army of the Potomac, from March, 1864; in the Army of the Shenandoah from October, 1864, and with the Army of the Potomac from March, 1865.

The regiment, commanded by Col. Edmund M. Pope, was mustered out and honorably discharged June 27, 1865, at Alexandria, Va., having lost by death during its service, killed in action, 8 officers, 60 enlisted men; died of wounds received in action, 5 officers, 32 enlisted men; died of disease and other causes, 6 officers, 213 enlisted men; total, 19 officers, 305 enlisted men; aggregate, 324, of whom 3 officers and 70 enlisted men died in the hands of the enemy.

NINTH REGIMENT OF CAVALRY (VETERAN).

Stoneman's Cavalry; Westfield Cavalry.

Colonel John Beardsley received authority from the State to recruit this regiment; its organization commenced at Westfield and was completed at Albany. It received its numerical designation November 23, 1861, and November 27, 1861, a number of the men enlisted for the United States Lancers, an incomplete organization, which Col. Joseph Smolinski, under authority from the War Department dated August 7, 1861, endeavored to recruit, were assigned to it as part of Company M. The companies were mustered in the service of the United States for three years, between September 9 and December 13, 1861. A small portion of the men, claiming to have been fraudulently enlisted, were discharged under the orders of the Secretary of War, dated April 7 and 9, 1862. At the expiration of its term of service, those entitled thereto were mustered out, and the regiment retained in service. March 29, 1865, it was consolidated into nine companies, and received by transfer the battalion of the 4th N. Y. Volunteer Cavalry, as Companies B, E and L.

The companies were recruited principally: A at LaGrange, Linden, Pavilion, Perry, Warsaw and Wyoming; B at Little Valley, Ashford, East Otto, Mansfield and Sugar Grove; C at Jamestown and Westfield; D at Brockton, Smith Mills, Stockton and Westfield; E at East Randolph, Sherman, Harmony, Clymer and Napoli; F at Albany, Ashville, Busti, Farmington, Panama, Sugar Grove and Westfield; G at Sheldon, Java and Westfield; H at Castile, Dunkirk, Irvin, Hermitage, LaGrange, Sheldon, Silver Creek, Warsaw and Wyoming; I at Westfield, Ripley, Mayville and Harbor Creek, and North East, Pa.; K at Fredonia, Forestville and Cherry Creek; L at Russell, and M at New York city, Rouse's Point, Troy and Geneva.

The regiment left the State November 26, 1861, and served at Washington, D. C., from December, 1861. March 9, 1862, Companies C, F, K and M were detached and distributed in detachments among the batteries of the Reserve Artillery, with which they served until May 22, 1862; the remaining eight companies performed during that time duty as train-guard in the Army of the Potomac. In June, 1862, it having returned from the Peninsula, the regiment was mounted at Washington, D. C., and assigned to the Cavalry Brigade, 1st Corps, Army Virginia; it served in the 1st Stahel's Division, 11th Corps, from September, 1862; in the 3d Brigade, Cavalry Division, Army of the Potomac, from October, 1862; in the Cavalry Brigade, 1st Division, 11th Corps, Army of the Potomac, from November, 1862; in the 1st Brigade, 1st Division, Cavalry Corps, Army of the Potomac, from February, 1863; in the 2d Brigade, 1st Division, Cavalry Corps, Army of the Potomac, from May, 1863; in the Army of the Shenandoah, from October, 1864; with the Army of the Potomac, from March, 1865, and July 17, 1865, commanded by Col. George S. Nichols, it was honorably discharged and mustered out at Cloud's Mills, Va.

The regiment lost during its service by death, killed in action, 3 officers, 60 enlisted men; died of wounds received in action, 5 officers, 29 enlisted men; died of disease and other causes, 5 officers, 122 enlisted men; total, 13 officers, 211 enlisted men; aggregate, 224; of whom 16 enlisted men died in the hands of the enemy.
